ever, since an X-ray disclosed no broken bones or other injury. It is simply that he needs additional rest, the manager declared, adding that Bluzge may be able to return to the team tomorrow.

Chilling weather with more to come was the trapped forecast handed out today by the weather man to the thousands of baseball fans as they trooped their way out for the game.

There was no indication of any change in the temperature, which hovered around the forty degree mark near game time. Heaviest winter overcoats and sweaters were in fashion at the ball park.

Wind Compels Strategy.
GRIFFITH STADIUM, Oct. 10.—The Pirates were coming out on the field, but they lost a good portion of batting practice.

The stiff wind that blew across the field resulted in a hasty session of strategy boards to point out to the players how to handle balls, and play the high ones, which promised to be carried well out of their usual course.

On this theory anything hit toward third base likely will go to the shortstop and so on, around the diamond. Fred Clark, assistant manager, told the players.

The navy band marched about the field playing a few blood tingling tunes, then stopped in front of the grandstand where Al Schacht took the baton and led a snappy march while his comedy teammate Nick Altroek provided a novel entertainment for the fans.

WORLD SERIES SNAPSHOTS

Ball 3, low. Goslin took Barnhart's fly after a long run. Traynor up. Ball 1, high. Traynor set up a little fly to Stan Harris. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Senators—The crowd stood up for the usual seventh inning rally. The President and Mrs. Coolidge also stood up. Leibold batted for Ferruson. Kremer and Smith went over to Manager McKechnie to discuss Leibold's batting weakness. Ball 1, high. Ball 2, low. Ball 3, inside. Leibold's a little man and hard to pitch to. Leibold walked on four-pitched balls.

Rice up. McNeely ran for Leibold. Foul, strike 1. It was the hit and run play and McNeely was nearly to second when Rice fouled the ball. Barnhart made a beautiful catch of Rice's seeming hit and McNeely had to race back to first. Stan Harris up. Stan Harris scratched an infield hit toward third. It was his first hit of the series. McNeely stopped at second on the hit. With Goslin up the crowd was cheering like mad. Foul, strike, Goose hit a long foul to right. Goose Goslin bunted safely catching the Pirate infield fast asleep. Traynor was flat on his feet. Judge up. Strike 1, swung. Ball 1, high. Ball 2, high. Foul, strike 2. McNeely scored on Judge's sacrifice fly. Stan Harris held second as Carey threw to third. Joe Harris up. Ball 1, inside. Strike 1, swung. Harris went after a ball on the outside of the plate. Ball 2, outside. Stan Harris scored on Joe Harris' single to left. Goslin stopping at second. Everybody was cheering for the old rally. Myer up. Strike 1, called. Smith went out and took Myer's splash and touched him on the line. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning.
Pirates—Umpire McCormick ruled that Myer was out, being hit by a batted ball. Smith picked up the ball and touched him. McNeely went into center for Washington and Rice into right. Wright up. Marberry now pitching for Washington Senators. Ball 1, Strike 1. Strike 2. Wright struck out, his third strike being on a fast curve. Grantham up. Strike 1, swung. Marberry was using a fast hook. Ball 1, Ball 2, inside. Foul, strike 2. Grantham also struck out, missing a drop curve for a third strike. Smith up. Strike 1, Foul, strike 2. Ball 1, outside. Ball 2, outside. Rice robbed Smith of a home run with a wonderful glove hand also just as the ball was about to go into the bleachers for a home run. It was one of the most remarkable catches ever seen in a World Series game. It duplicated in brilliance the catch of Harris in one of the Boston Red Sox games in 1912. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Senators—The Pirates claimed Rice did not catch the ball but Umpire Richter would not allow it. Peckinpah up. Ball 1, Traynor made easy work of Peckinpah's hopper getting him at first. Ruel up. Strike 1, called. Ball 1, high. Ball 2, low. Ruel sharply singled over Wright's head. Marberry up. Marberry sacrificed. Smith up. Grantham. Rice up. He got an ovation. Mrs. Coolidge joining in the applause. Foul, strike 1. Foul, strike 2. Ball 1, high. Wright threw out Rice at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning.
Pirates—Bigbee batted for Kremer. Bigbee up. Strike 1, called. Bigbee fled out to McNeely, making a nice catch. Moore up. Strike 1, Ball 1, outside. Ball 2, inside. Strike 2, called. Ball 3, outside. Moore got a single over Peckinpah's head. Carey up. Some spectators got into the field from the right field bleachers and were sent back again. Strike 1, called. Carey singled into right, Moore going to third. Cuyler up. Ball 1, inside. Strike 1, swung. Strike 2, swung. Cuyler was hit by a pitched ball and the bases were filled. Barnhart up. The ball hit Cuyler on the left arm. A doctor went out to look at Cuyler's arm and found him all right. Foul, strike 1. Ball 1, inside. Barnhart popped to Ruel. Traynor up. Ball 1, inside. Ball 2, inside. Ball 3, low and inside. Strike 1, called. Strike 2, called. Traynor fled to McNeely with three and two. No runs, two hits, no errors.

MOTHER OF ZACHARY LANDSDOWNE PASSES

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Announcement of the death of Mrs. Kenneth Knox Lansdowne, mother of Colonel Zachary Lansdowne, was contained in a telegram received here today from Greenville, Ohio. The message came to Mrs. Zachary Lansdowne, who yesterday testified before the naval court inquiring into the wreck of the Shenandoah, and the killing of Commander Lansdowne and members of his crew.

SNOW HANDICAPS EASTERN SPORTS

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Snow has made its debut in the east and middle west showing of the current farce entitled "Weather-settled."

It took the leading role in the north central states, Pennsylvania and northern New York, accompanied by a fanfare of killing frosts, sleet and cold. But its premiere brought gloom to sportsmen yesterday, resulting in postponement of the World Series and Chicago city series and soggy fields for today's football games.

Rising temperatures were promised the middle west today or tomorrow as the troupe of inclement extended its run into the east.

KELSO OFFICIAL EXONERATED OF MURDER CHARGE

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
KELSO, Wash., Oct. 10.—George R. Norris, city engineer of Kelso, was completely exonerated today of charges preferred against him by former Mayor A. Runic Todd, of conspiracy in connection with the death of Thomas Doversy, Kelso editor, who was shot June 19. R. G. Sharpe, assistant attorney general, this morning issued a statement declaring that evidence produced was insufficient to justify filing an information against Norris. Later Judge Homer Kirby of the superior court, issued an order releasing Norris from $40,000 bail. A joint information charging John W. Smith and P. T. Hart with first degree murder in the Doversy case was filed in superior court, and warrants were issued for the arrest of the two, who have so far evaded capture.

Special Exhibit

You are Invited to take a picture trip through an automobile plant

Learn how quality is attained with modern production methods! This week we are making a special photographic exhibit illustrating the precision methods by which quality is achieved in the manufacture of the modern motor car.

Showing the Reason for Quality at Low Cost

The exhibit consists of 40 remarkable photographs of the most interesting processes in modern automobile manufacture. It will provide the same interesting knowledge that you would get by taking a trip through the plants where Chevrolet cars are built. Each picture is accompanied by a full description of the operation it illustrates. It is an exhibit of unusual interest and value. Bring the children.

YOUR FEET.

Are your feet always so comfortable that you are not conscious of them at all? If not, do everything you can to make them so for life isn't worth living if your feet ache.

If you can go to a chiropodist, even if you can only visit and watch how he treats the feet. Don't be afraid to ask questions for you want to take care of your feet in as professional a manner as possible. If you cannot see a chiropodist, follow these directions:

Soak the feet in warm soapy water for 15 minutes. With a rough towel, rub off all callous spots, and rub them with cold cream to soften the skin. As soon as you remove the feet from the water, place little wads of wet cotton over the corns to keep them soft until you are ready to shave them off.

Buy a corn knife and very carefully shave off the horny, top layers of the corns, being very careful not to cut the live flesh. The corns will soak and swell, so this shaving is not hard. Should you cut the skin and draw blood, touch the place with an antiseptic and bind up with clean cotton; on no account must dirt get into such a cut. One chiropodist told me that drawing a little blood from a sore corn is a good thing, the blood being bad. But I can't advise you to cut yourself on a "pose."

Keep a pad of cotton over a shaved corn and keep the skin moist with oil or cold cream for some days. The corn will come back if the shoes go on rubbing in the same place, otherwise, occasional shaving should cure them. Massage the feet now and then, this rests them.

Rose and Charles—it is possible that your husband's skin is infected from the pimples, as this happens often with other people. Try dusting a little flour of sulphur over each pimple once a day, when there is an opportunity for allowing the sulphur to remain for a half hour or more.

Are they always comfortable

An ointment in which there is sulphur makes a more convenient treatment, but not so effective as the plain sulphur. You can retain the sulphur much better if you cover the places with a bit of dampened absorbent cotton.
