Bluege Back at Third. GRIFFITH STADIUM, Wash., Oct. 12.—President and Mrs. Coolidge came back to join Washington's famous today in cheering the Senators as they took the field in the fifth game with the Pittsburgh Pirates. It was another battle of right hands under overcast skies, with Stanley Coveleskie, veteran spitball star of the Senators, opposing Vic Aldridge, pitching hero of the only Pirate triumph in the series. The stands again were full, with close to 35,000 on hand for the final game here, regardless of the outcome this afternoon. A victory for Pittsburgh would send the warring forces back to the smoky city, where the Pirates also would have to win the sixth and seventh games to gain the premier honors. There were shifts in both line-ups. Washington had its full strength back, with Oesle Bluege, "bearded" third baseman, again at his regular post, while the Pirates substituted the veteran Stuffie McInnis at first base for George Grantham. After the army band had played the Star Spangled Banner while President Coolidge with his wife and presidential party and the vast throng stood with their hats raised, the players were called to the field. ### Two-Time Winner Over Senators

While his team mates were battling the Washington pitchers all over the field today, Vic Aldridge, the Pittsburgh twirler, with a baffling mixture of curves and speed, held the Senators in check and played the principal role in the fifth game of the world series that ended in a victory for the Pirates. The series now stands 3 games to 2, in Washington's favor. Aldridge went the entire route on the mound for Pittsburgh in the first victory of that team.

1, low. Ball 2, outside. Ball 3. On an attempted double steal Barnhart went to second and Cuyler dashed for home and then went back to third. Cuyler scored on Traynor's sacrifice fly to right. Strike 1, called. Peck took McInnis' puzzling grounder and got hi mat first. Smith up. Foul, strike 1. Ball 1, inside. Foul, strike 2. Foul. The foul ball fell from the grandstand to a woman's hat. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Senators—Joe Harris up. Harris got a home run in the left field stands. It was a terrific smash. The crowd was wild. It was his second home run in two days. ### SEA CLAIMS 14 LIVES AS CRAFT IS OVERTURNED

Launch With 23 Persons on Board Capsizes Off Florida Coast.

YOUNG LAD IS HERO

Swims Ashore and Returns in Raging Water With Small Boat, Saving Four Lives.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) MELBOURNE, Fla., Oct. 12.—Fishermen and other volunteers early today were searching the rocks and jetties for three additional bodies expected to bring to 14, the death list of the 40-foot launch Clara B. which capsized in the Atlantic at the mouth of Sebastian Inlet yesterday with a party of 23, principally Kansans.

All of the rescued suffered cuts and bruises, when dashed against the rocks, but the conditions of only one was regarded as serious. Passage of the inlet was made safely but because of the rough seas outside, Captain Arnold decided to turn back. The boat failed to respond to the helm quickly enough, some of the rescued said, and was a quarter around when a wave swept over the deck, washing several members of the party overboard. The next wave which hit the craft fanned it over.

The heroic efforts of James Arnold, 12-year old son of Captain Arnold, saved the lives of four passengers, who had been thrown into the raging breakers when his father's launch turned turtle. Survivors said the lad swam ashore and obtained a small boat, returned to the yacht, jumped against the high waves, succeeded in placing four persons in the boat, and landing them safely. Two children were among those drowned. Dan Roach, seven, went down with his father, C. E. Roach, and Loretta Dreilinn, 15, who had accompanied D. U. Ruckles on the excursion, was another youthful victim.

DECISIONS GIVEN BY SUPREME COURT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Federal agents operating under the Harrison narcotic act have so far secured 100,000 opium pills without a search warrant, except where arrests are actually made, the supreme court declared today in the appeal of Thomas Angello and others, arrested in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The government lost in the supreme court, Siganii 1991010 to reopen the trade association cases. These cases were decided at the last session in favor of the Maple Flooring and the Cement Manufacturer's Association, whose method of collecting and exchanging trade information was attacked unsuccessfully by the government as constituting unfair business methods. The six Indian nations were held today by the supreme court to be subject to trial and under the police jurisdiction of the states in which their reservations are located.

ROAD LAWS PRINTED AND DISTRIBUTED

The revised edition of the road, highway, bridge and ferry laws of the state of Oregon for the year 1925, as compiled and edited by the secretary of state, has been printed and distributed in accordance with the provisions of the law. The compilation embraces the constitution and statutes of the state relating to roads, highways, bridges and ferries, including the new enactments and amendments of the 1925 session of the legislature. There were 2,500 copies of this compilation printed and a sufficient number have been forwarded to the county clerks of the respective counties for distribution among the county courts, roadmasters and road supervisors.

SECRETARY OF WAR WEEKS WILL RESIGN.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—John W. Weeks has drawn up his resignation as secretary of war, and it is expected to be announced formally from the White House tomorrow. The Secretary called on President Coolidge today and afterwards it was learned he had prepared also a letter of farewell to associates who have worked with him since he entered the cabinet.

COUNTY HEALTH UNIT TO ASK BUDGET RAISE

State to Cut Down on Extent of Cooperation in Future Years.

$900 MORE IS WANTED

State Requests County to Assume One-Half of the Salary of One of the Nurses.

An increase of $900 in the budget of the county health unit is to be asked when the budget of Douglas county is made up for the coming year. Work on the estimate of expenditures for the year 1926 is already underway and each office is submitting its own budget from which the main county budget will be formed.

The increase on the part of the county is made necessary by the policy which the state board of health has announced, that of gradually withdrawing support from the unit until the county is bearing the full expense. At the time the full time county health unit was formed the county was asked to appropriate $4400 while the state and Rockefeller foundation, through the International Health Board and the U. S. department of labor paid $5,600. In 1925 on a budget of $10,200 for the unit the county paid $4,860.

The state board of health now announces, however, that cooperation is to be gradually withdrawn. It is the policy it is stated, to continue help only as a means of demonstrating the value of the unit and after its worth has been proven the county is to assume the full burden, while the money formerly used for cooperation is to go to some other county for the purpose of starting a new unit.

The first estimation received regarding the request for an increase in the budget for the coming year, came in a letter to Dr. W. C. Belt, county health officer, from Frederick G. Stricker, state health officer. This letter, filed with the county clerk, is as follows: "The budget for your county will come on for discussion some time in October. As you know, the state board of health, with its own money and money received for the purpose from the U. S. department of labor and the international health board, has for the last year been paying a little over one-half the expenses of the unit. It is the policy of the contributing agencies to withdraw gradually from the support of county units so that finally the county will be bearing most of the cost after the preliminary demonstration is concluded. Probably the state will continue indefinitely, but it naturally cannot be as large as heretofore.

If it is possible for the county court to take over a larger share of the expenses for the coming year, we should like to have them do so, as it will mean the release of more money for the starting of county health units in new counties. It is suggested that the county take over half the salaries of the unit nurses for the coming year. This would increase the expenses of the county from $4,860 to $6,660. I would advise you to submit this budget to your local health organization and secure their approval of same. It would also be well to take this matter up with other organizations interested in health work. In order to secure sufficient (Continued on page 3.)

EXPERIMENT IN AIRCRAFT HUGE WASTE OF COIN

Congressman Madden Flays Spending Orgy of Army and Navy Bureaus.

NO BENEFIT GAINED

Outlines Own Plan Before Air Board of Putting All Manufacture in Private Hands.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The army and navy were charged today by Chairman Madden of the house appropriations committee with squandering millions of dollars in a "purposeless, meaningless, endless experimental orgy" in technical aircraft development.

Testifying before the president's air board which resumed hearings after a recess of several days, Mr. Madden declared technical development of aviation could no longer be "safely left" to the two military services if the United States was to take its place, "among the countries of the world in the air." "If credit is to be given witness who have preceded me, he asserted, "the experimental and development work conducted by the army and navy since the war has been productive of very little, if any advance," toward a plan which might be accepted by congress.

"You have been told by men who should know that, with few exceptions, no real steps have been made," he said. Citing testimony by Major-General Patrick, chief of the army air service, that 262 pursuit planes, purchased by the army, had been found deficient in vision requirements, Mr. Madden said he had "heard something of a charge of criminal negligence but that borders on criminal waste."

"Think of buying 262 pursuit planes that a pilot has difficulty in seeing out of — — —" he exclaimed. Failure of the army and navy to spend their money "intelligently" in the air service, he declared, "is not unique, as similar extravagant get-nowhere programs are being carried on in tank development, artillery development and the chemical warfare department."

Mr. Madden submitted a plan for developing the army and navy aviation at a cost of $27,500,000 which, among other things, would provide for discontinuance of all aeronautical engineering and design work by the two military services, with the abolition of the naval aircraft at Philadelphia and the army engineering aircraft development. He would plant all designing and construction of the planes in the hands of private manufacturers, with the responsibility of performance and design and with the military services furnishing only the specifications desired.

Mr. Madden suggested the following program: "Fifteen hundred new airplanes of various designs at $20,000 each, could be purchased annually, amounting in the aggregate to $30,000,000. "Ten ground service men for each airplane, which is more than ample to properly care for the airplanes, at $1,500, each per enlisted man, which I think would be a fair average to cover his army pay, his clothing subsistence, etc., would cost $22,500,000. "Fifteen hundred officers or one officer for each 10 enlisted men, or one officer for each of the 1500 airplanes would cost approximately $7,500,000. "If these airplanes are each flown 200 hours a year that would be an approximate total mileage flown of 300,000,000, many times the mileage of these past years; a liberal estimate to the cost of maintenance and their power plants would not exceed 50 cents per mile. The labor having been provided for in the enlisted men estimate, or at a total of $22,500,000. "$5,000,000 would be a liberal estimate for the maintenance of all the flying fields necessary for bases of operation for these 1500 planes. "A total of $27,500,000 as against $26,000,000 now being expended for which we have received nothing."
