SERENE GENEVA IN STIRRED AT ARRIVAL OF RICH MAHARAJAH.

GENEVA, Oct. 13.—So accustomed is Geneva to greatness within its borders that it rarely gets excited over an important new-comer, but it awoke with sudden interest with the advent of the Maharajah of Patiala, who came as one of the Indian delegates to the League of Nations assembly. The Maharajah is credited with being the world's richest resident.

In the ballrooms of the hotels where various delegations gave receptions with dancing a feature, the Maharajah was the center of attraction. Despite his rather ponderous body he waltzed gracefully with some of the fairest of the ladies present. His bosom glittered with precious pendants and in the lobes of his ears shone huge pearls encircled with diamonds.

The Maharajah came with a suite of fourteen persons. He proved a source of material delight to Geneva shop-keepers. He is reported to have spent $10,000 alone in the purchase of watches and binoculars, with an accent on binoculars, for which he seems to have a passion as a collector. He developed into such a fantastic and interesting personality that eventually to escape the crowds he was forced to leave his hotel by the kitchen door to attain his automobile unmolested.

But if the Maharajah was ever in the public eye his spouse, the Maharani, and her two ladies-in-waiting, remained in obscurity. They went not to receptions, dinners or balls, at their meals in the seclusion of their apartments and only emerged for drives in closed motors cars.

VOLT FEATURES SOUTHERN OREGON INDUSTRY

In line with the usual Copco custom of advertising the outstanding industries of Southern Oregon whenever and wherever possible, this month's issue of The Volt contains a splendid publicity item on the Knight Packing company. This company, as is generally known, manufactures the famous Rogue River catsup which has a wide distribution throughout the west.

The somewhat commonplace subject of the manufacture of tomato catsup is handled in a highly interesting manner and is illustrated by a number of good photos of the packing plant, tomato fields and other attractive scenes. Some interesting facts concerning the tomato are brought out including the statement that this valuable fruit was first known as the "love-apple" and that it came into use in the United States about 1830.

Another item of interest in this issue concerns the Dunsmuir water supply which comes from Mosabraz falls and is widely heralded as the "best water on earth." Those who have passed through Dunsmuir on the train will no doubt recall the drinking fountain at the S. P. station which at train time is besieged by crowds of thirsty passengers, eager to get a taste of this famous beverage which leaves no unfavorable after-effects. A good picture of Dunsmuir's "Fountain of Youth" serves to illustrate the story.

WARNER'S FIRST BIG TEST WITH SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
PALO ALTO, Oct. 13.—(A. P.)—Glenn "Pop" Warner, football coach at Stanford University, has eight veterans missing from the team that last season tied California for the Pacific coast conference championship. Yet the 1925 eleven promises to be superior.

Last fall Stanford won every game of the regular season except the big game with California which resulted in a 20-to-20 tie. Stanford lost a post-season game to Notre Dame at Pasadena. The three regulars from 1924 are Captain Ernie Nevers, 205-pound fullback, twice mentioned on All-American selections; Ted Shipley, end, and Fred Swan, guard. Several others back on the squad made varsity letters last season, but did not play regularly.

Ill luck camped on Nevers' trail last season. He was hurt in a scrimmage before the first game and spent most of the season on the sidelines. He recovered in time to play against Notre Dame, and in that game he advanced the ball sensationally.

Warner will have plenty of weight, both in the line and the backfield. The line will be selected tentatively, averaged 193, the backfield 190 pounds. Warner also has plenty of reserve material to back up the reconstructed varsity. Stanford's first big test will be the game against Southern California at Los Angeles, Oct. 17.

PUPILS TIME AND TAXPAYERS' MONEY SAVED IN SCHOOLS

DENVER, Oct. 13.—(A. P.)—Reorganized rural education in seven schools in Logan county permitted 90 pupils to accomplish two years' work in one year at a saving of $5,312.78 to those paying school taxes. Similar results are being obtained elsewhere in the state, said Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford, state superintendent and former president of the national education association.

The plan is based on tests and measurements similar to that tried out in the cities, but more in the experimental stage in sparsely populated rural schools. The tests classify students according to their mental ages. Mrs. Bradford hopes to reduce the cost and time in rural education.

ABANDON IMPERIAL GAME AGRES

TOKYO, Oct. 13.—(A. P.)—Three of the large royal game reserves are being abolished because the imperial family wishes them to revert to public use, and also to eliminate the rather heavy expense of keeping them up.

Their abolition is expected to effect a saving of about 200,000 yen yearly in the household department

"Truth in Meats"

ABERDEEN-ANGUS STEER "QUEENMERE 24TH"

Grand Champion Pacific International Livestock Exposition, 1924. Bred, fed and exhibited by Congdon and Battles, Yakima, Wash.

At the Pacific International Livestock Exposition to be held in Portland this year, October 31st to November 7th, it is proposed to give a demonstration which will carry out the idea of "Truth in Meats."

Assisting in this work will be the Department of Agriculture, colleges of Oregon and the Pacific slope, packinghouse people, stockyard officials and commission men, and retailers as well. Six to eight live animals, nicely bodied down and properly cared for will be graded from prime to common and over the head of each will be posted the price on foot at which its kind is selling in the stockyards that week. Directly back of them, in a refrigerator, will be shown carcasses from animals of a similar lot. These carcasses will also show the selling price from the packer to the retailer. Farther down in the refrigerator, will be shown the regular wholesale cuts of meat usually sold in the trade. These, too will carry their proper pricing as regards the various grades.

URGES CONSERVATION OF COAL PROGRAM; TOO LATE FOR OIL

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 13.—That it is already too late to start on a plan of oil conservation was the statement made today by Horace H. Clark, a fuel engineer of Chicago, before the convention of the American Coal Association.

"It is useless to start a national oil conservation program now, because the oil will be gone before the program is completed," he said. "Let us, therefore, start a conservation program on coal, which is the most important national resource we have, and like natural gas and oil, when gone cannot be replenished."

Gas companies, themselves among the largest users of petroleum products, are seeking ways to shake off their dependence on oil, said Horace C. Porter of Philadelphia.

IF HE REACHES NORTH POLE, WILL GO ON BY AIR TO NOME
OSLO, Oct. 13.—(A. P.)—Amundsen's airship in which he expects to fly to the North Pole next year, will undergo its trials in January, after being overhauled and equipped with Maybach motors. Three mooring masts will be erected at Rome, Trondheim and Svalbard. If the North Pole is successfully reached the ship will proceed as far as possible toward Nome. A suitable landing place will be chosen if it is unable to reach Nome in the air, and the airship deflated and packed up ready for shipment to Nome. Notification of the landing place will be sent by the airship's radio.
