MAYTAGS are BOUGHT -not sold

The MAYTAG dealer comes to you with no long sales talk. He merely puts a MAYTAG in your home where you may do a washing with it. He will assist you if you wish.
Wash anything and everything, fine chiffons, dainty georgettes, or heavy blankets and grease-impregnated overalls. The frail fabrics will be handled as gently as by hand, the bulky heavy pieces will be handled easily—and all will be washed hygienically, sparklingly clean.
Whole tubfuls of ordinary family washing will be done in 3 to 7 minutes—50 pounds of dry clothes

Everything about the MAYTAG will appeal to you. It is adjustable to your height and that of the tub. Its metal swinging wringer adjusts itself automatically for handkerchiefs or blouses. Its elevating, satin-smooth, cast-aluminum tub cleans itself in 30 seconds.
You will not be asked nor urged to buy. That is a matter that rests entirely with you. The MAYTAG must appeal to you so strongly that you will feel that you cannot afford any longer to be without it, or you will not be expected to keep it.

WOMAN'S PLAN FOR WORLD GOOD WILL FAVORED IN JAPAN

BOSTON, Oct. 17. — A program for international good will devised by a Boston woman in New York has been so favorably received in Japan that reports indicate concrete action on her plan is in prospect.

A little more than a year ago when the Exclusion act was still ranking in many Japanese, Miss Jessie M. Sherwood, former secretary for the Japan Society of Boston, who for years has held a weekly soiree for Japanese students in Boston colleges, was asked to write an article for the Japanese-American, a newspaper published in New York.

She chose to advance and develop the idea of a religious conference, based on the common objects of Christians, Buddhists and Jews to attain a warless world. She dwelt on the part which religious difference has played in racial prejudice and saw in such a conference an opportunity to dispel misinformation on the religions of other lands and bring a greater public support to world peace.

The article, or the idea it embodied, was copied widely and found prominent place in the newspapers of Japan. Among the correspondents that Miss Sherwood acquired was Gendo Nakai of Osaka, a Buddhist priest. He wrote her first that the Buddhists at the Tokio Peace Exposition had already espoused similar idea, that a group of priests had visited America to call to the attention of President Coolidge the community of ideals, but that he feared that unless the United States took the lead, as with the disarmament conference, nothing would be done.

Recently, however, he wrote again, saying that the first steps toward such a conference had been taken in Tokio by two quasi-religious organizations. An extract from his letter follows: "Concerning the Religious Conference you so ardently propose, I am glad to let you know that recently two resolutions for holding a World Religious Conference passed in two meetings in Tokyo, almost independent of each other. The one in the mass meeting of Religious Talking Society, composed of well known professors, missionaries and priests. The other is in the meeting of professors and students of Religious Course of Nippon University (a private institution)."

"It is reported that both parties concerned will confer with each other to promote their common plan in cooperation. I hope your proposal will be realized in the not far future."

HAWAIIAN FRUITS PROVE IDEAL SYRUP PRODUCTION

HONOLULU, Oct. 15.—(A. P.)—The high sugar content of Hawaiian fruits makes it possible to produce syrups at a less cost than synthetic syrups are produced on the mainland. It has been revealed by experiments conducted by Dr. S. E. Oliver, chemist, who is experimenting at the Hawaiian homes settlement on the island of Molokai. He announced the successful extraction of syrups of varying degrees of concentration through a freezing process on which he has been working several years. The experiments here were confined principally to pineapples which contain an average of 14 per cent of sugar, but he said he was able to extract a syrup of triple that strength.
