OREGON'S LUMBER OUTPUT REDUCED; WARNING SOUNDED

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Census bureau figures today showing last years cutting of lumber from American forests amounted to 35,930,986,000 board feet, 3.3 per cent decrease of the previous year, were viewed in a statement by W. L. Greeley, chief of the forestry service as "far from reassuring to those interested in forest conservation."

The bureau's report showed that the state of Washington produced more than six billion feet, which, although nearly twice as much as any other state, was a 6.1 per cent reduction of the previous year. Oregon's cut of three and a half billion feet, the second largest, was 7.6 per cent reduction, Louisiana's slightly more than three billion feet was a decrease of 4.4 per cent, while Mississippi's total of slightly less than three billion feet was an increase of 4.3 per cent.

California and Nevada jointly produced approximately two billion feet, a decrease of 5.7 per cent. Mr. Greeley's statement emphasized the seriousness that nearly all important industrial agricultural regions are consuming billions of feet of virgin timber from the south and far west and growing, but little on the forest lands within their own boundaries.

"The drain upon the nations lumber supply," he said, "is a predominant domestic issue and the American people must regard it as such until the rate of timber growth catches up with the rate of consumption."

TEACHERS ADOPT SET RESOLUTIONS

The Douglas county teachers' institute closed last night after a very interesting and successful session. The committee on resolutions presented a report thanking all those contributing to the success of the institute, and commending the spirit and organization and particularly the recognition given the rural schools. Continuation of the institute was favored.

It was advocated that a committee be formed to assist the county superintendent in making the arrangements for the future institutes, as the task is an arduous one.

The retirement fund for teachers, as advocated by Mr. Churchill, was advocated. The teachers also voted in favor of the continuation of the work of the rural school supervisor.

The teachers also voted favoring additional qualifications for elementary teachers, provided, however, that salary schedules are graded accordingly.

Legislation creating larger units of taxation for educational purposes was also favored.

Changes in the course of study except by people of wide experience was disapproved.

KELSO OFFICIAL, ONCE CONVICTED, WINS A HUNG JURY

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

KELSO, Wash., Oct. 24.—After vainly trying for six hours to reach a verdict, the jury in the second trial of A. H. Gordon, former water superintendent, on charges of embezzlement, was dismissed at midnight last night. The first ballot stood seven to five for acuittal and the final vote was eight to four for acquittal.

Gordon was granted a new trial following his first trial two weeks ago, which resulted in the conviction.

SECURITY LEAGUE PROTEST KEEPS OUT SOCIALIST ALIEN

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—An invitation extended to Arthur Henderson, home secretary in the British labor cabinet, headed by Ramsay MacDonald, to address a Hartford, Conn., Y. M. C. A. luncheon of businessmen today, was withdrawn because of a protest by the National Security league.

The league complained that permission for Mr. Henderson to speak constituted recognition on the part of Hartford businessmen of the principles of socialism and internationalism.

COMMUNITY CHEST COMMITTEE IS TO BE INCREASED

The committee appointed to handle the Community Chest campaign has been enlarged by the apointment of A. G. Sutherland, Dr. G. C. Finlay and O. L. Johnson, members of the local Rotary club. E. A. Britton, a member of the original committee, has resigned, although he will continue to aid in the campaign. Mr. Britton tendered his resignation as he felt that he should have no vote in the committee's activities, as he is a member of a recipient organization. Mr. Britton, having had experience in this line of work, will probably continue to work with the committee in an advisory capacity.

THEATRES

Majestic Theatre

The monument marking the spot where the first claim was staked under the mining laws following the California gold rush of '49 is still in existence.

Albert E. Smith, president of Vitagraph, came across it in Walker Pass, California, while traveling with his brother, David Smith, the director, to the location used in filming Vitagraph's production, "Baree, Son of Kazan."

The papers, now colored by age, were still in the rusty metal case, protected by an irregular column of cobblestones as originally placed by the filer of the claim. The early date, even yet legible on the papers, caused Mr. Smith to have the records searched. To his surprise this was found to be the first claim recorded after the adoption of the new code. At Majestic Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Antlers Theatre

Usually in movies, Indians chase and capture the white girl.

But in "The Golden Princess," which will be at the Antlers Sunday, the situation is reversed. Betty Bronson, who stars in the title role, pursues and captures the Indians.

Not only that, she washes their faces for them!

Betty plays the part of a girl whose father, a California gold miner, has been killed. She is brought up by a kindly padre, who runs a chapel settlement in the Sierra foothills for the Indians, who have been crowded out of their valleys by the white men in their pursuit of gold.

Among Betty's duties at the chapel is that of looking after a number of Indian children. Inasmuch as "kids is kids" the world over, sometimes they get into mischief and almost always they have aversion for soap and water.

So that is why Betty chases and captures the Indians, and sees to it that they behave properly and are washed around their necks and in back of their ears.

"The Golden Princess" revolves around the reckless, feverish days of 1849 when California teemed with gold-crazed men and women. Clarence Badger directed the picture, which is based on Frances Agnew's screen version of a Bret Harte story. Antlers Sunday only.

Liberty

The next Columbia, "The Danger Signal," featuring Jane Novak with Dorothy Revier, Robert Edeson, Gaston Glass, Robert Gordon, Lee Shumway, Mayme Kelso, and a number of other favorites under Erle C. Kenton's direction comes to the Liberty theatre next Sunday.

This picture is an adaptation of William Z. Doty's popular magazine story of the same title, revolving about the daring phases of railroad life. There are a series of gripping situations which lead up to a terrific wreck, said to be one of the most sensational catastrophes ever captured for the screen.

Throughout the action there moves the story of a mother's sacrificing heart. Left a widow shortly after her child is born, she gives it up to her stubborn, wealthy father in law and leaves the big city to reside in her isolated, native town. But the situations that follow lead up to a big surprise for the old fellow.
