ORDER RESTORED IN DAMASCUS, IS REPORT TO PARIS

Several Thousand Moslems Killed to Quell Riot, But Others Save Christians.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Ambassador Herrick in Paris has made representations to the French government for protection of American life and property in Damascus.

The instructions to American ambassador Herrick directed him to request the French government to take necessary steps for the protection of American lives and property and of American consulates, not only in Damascus, but elsewhere in Syria.

Official reports from Damascus show that while French residents were removed to barricaded positions, the bombardment by the French proceeded without notice to other foreigners. Demands for indemnification undoubtedly will be made in Paris, when the details of damage to American property are received.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—Order has been restored in Damascus, says a report received today from General Sarrail, French high commissioner in Syria.

Denying reports that the women and children were evicted from the city, the general says a few persons left at the time of the bombardment against the insurrectionists on October 18, but that they are returning.

The only trouble, he declares, was caused by bands of brigands outside Damascus and measures are being taken against these. Instructions for the ambassador to make the move, were forwarded when word of the disorders in Syria was received. The Washington government also has sent two American destroyers from Gibraltar to Alexandria, Egypt, where they are ready to proceed to Beirut should the situation require further steps to safeguard Americans and their property. It was estimated by officials here that about 150 Americans probably were in Damascus or its immediate vicinity when the revolt against French authority occurred in that city last week.

Reports as to damage done by the bombardment of certain quarters of Damascus by French artillery and airplanes have not disclosed the extent of any injury to American property. So far as known no Americans were hurt and the representations made in Paris were of a general and precautionary nature, as was the action of the American consul in Damascus in advising Americans to take refuge at Beirut until order had been restored.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—A dispatch from the Daily Mail from Jerusalem quotes the statements of a reliable British refugee from Damascus regarding his experiences during the recent bombardment there.

On Monday morning, October 19, said the refugee, "the French vacated the entire Christian quarter, which then was at the mercy of the Druzes and Moslem robbers. I realized that it was unsafe for the missionaries to remain unprotected from the fire of the French guns at the Citadel and the Salehys quarter, so with a Moslem police escort, I took eleven British and American missionaries to the British hospital.

"On their arrival, the police donned plain clothes and hid their rifles. About 5,000 Christians availed themselves of the protection of the British hospital.

"I saw a Moslem mob loot the French barracks and then try to enter the Christian quarter, but they were prevented by about 50 other Moslems with sticks, swords and spears. The Christian quarter was entirely saved by Moslems.

"The casualties were estimated at several thousand Syrians killed and about three hundred French. There were many instances of cold blooded shooting by French soldiers. Three of them were seen making a Moslem dig his own grave. He then was shot and buried in it.

"When I left Damascus by train, heavy fighting was taking place."

LONDON, Oct. 29.—A Jerusalem dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says that homes of American residents and buildings of American companies in Damascus were destroyed during the insurrection of October 18 to 20 and that the American consul had presented a demand for redress to the French authorities.

The dispatch says a large part of the Jewish quarter of Damascus was destroyed by the French artillery and that hundreds of Jewish residents are reported to have been killed.

All Syria is reported to be aflame with discontent, the dispatch continues, "and this may be the beginning of a new war of Islam against the Christian powers. No one knows where the next attack may occur."

SOMEONE PULLED A BONER.

LA GRANDE, Oct. 29.—What was thought to be the bones of a human foot, found in the Grande Ronde river yesterday, proved to be a plaster of paris foot when officials brought the object to the surface.

Excitement caused by the first announcement of the discovery turned to mirth when officials exploded the story by bringing the "human" bones to the surface.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—American Antiquarian was just another 16-year-old high school student until he brought a bunch of old yellow papers, family heirlooms, to school yesterday.

Today he is the descendant of a leading family of mediaeval Florence, holders of highest offices in the gifts of emperors, kings and popes.

The manuscripts, belonging to Nick Antenore, a carpenter, America's father, dated back to 1351 and contained signatures of Charles IV, emperor of the holy Roman empire, and his grandson, Philip, king of Castile, attesting to honors or deeds of prowess of America's ancestors.

The documents were deciphered by Miss Margaret Older, his Latin teacher, and Professor Charles Beeson of the University of Chicago.

PANGUITCH, Utah.—Remains of a human skeleton found by school children in an extinct volcano near the old Hatch, Utah, town reservoir site, were brought here by Sheriff Mel Hatch. The bones appear to be those of a white person.

Along with the skeleton were found an old time cap and ball rifle, weighing 29 pounds, a horn filled with powder, about 80 balls, bullet moulds, and a check folder on the "First State Bank of Cedar Bluffs, Kansas," the letters being in gilt.

EXPLOSION OF GAS- OLINE STOVE SETS FIRE TO HOME

The fire department was called out last night for a fire at the Percy Croft home at 801 S. Pine street. The fire started from the explosion of a gasoline stove, but was extinguished before any great amount of damage was done. Two burners on the stove had been turned on but only one was ignited. The vapor escaping from the other burner filled the room and then exploded. The room was smoke-blackened and was somewhat burned. A small hand extinguisher was used to put out the blaze before the arrival of the department.

Another milestone!

Future Issues of Copco Preferred Stock Will be Offered on a Six Dollar Dividend Basis.

The California Oregon Power Company announces with gratification that as a result of increased earnings and assets and improved business conditions it is no longer necessary to offer a return of seven per cent in order to obtain capital through the sale of its preferred stock.

A new issue of preferred stock now offered by the Company in the near future will carry a dividend rate of six dollars per share per year at a price to yield approximately 6 1/4 %. It is available on monthly payments.

Three groups of people are interested in this announcement:

The Holders of the 7% Preferred Stock already issued.

Prospective Investors in Copco 6% Preferred Stock.

The Company's Customers and the General Public.

To this group our announcement means that the Company's Preferred Stock has materially advanced in value and favor, and that it will now be possible to reduce the expense of capital employed in additions and improvements. Dividends on the 7% Preferred Stock already issued are of course not affected by the reduction of the dividend rate of future issues.

Although the net yield of approximately 6 1/4 % is lower than that obtained by earlier investors in the 7% Preferred Stock, both classes of stock have equal priority as to assets and earnings, and the reduction of dividend is a true indication of increased value and security.

The Company's obligation to its customers and the public requires that service shall be rendered at rates which are just sufficiently clear of the cost to leave a fair return for the money invested in the Company. They are entitled equally with the stockholders to information about the Company's progress, and to the opportunities for investment which it affords.
