APPEAL ON OREGON FOREST RESERVE CASE IS LOST— (Associated Press Licensed Wire.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The District of Columbia court of appeals today affirmed the decision of the lower court which denied a mandatory injunction against Secretary Work to compel the setting aside of a decision of the department of interior concerning lands withdrawn for forest reserve purposes in Oregon. The injunction had been asked for by Alexander G. Shaw, an attorney. Justice Van Orsdel held that the president had not withdrawn land for the forest service without the consent of congress, but had withdrawn it in order that congress might create a

SHIP BUILDING FIRM DENIED APPEAL RIGHT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The District of Columbia court of appeals today upheld Comptroller General McCall in his refusal to take jurisdiction of a claim against the Fleet Corporation of the building of ships during the war by the Skinner and Eddy company of Washington state.

Justice Robb held that as long as a court of competent jurisdiction in the state of Washington had taken jurisdiction of the claim, McCall was correct in refusing to consider it before a decision by this state court. The Skinner and Eddy company called the comptroller general into court in the case.

PROHI LAW CHIEF ASKS TAX TO HALT HIGH POWER BEER

(Associated Press Licensed Wire.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Prohibition enforcement officials today sought the aid of the taxing power of the government as a means of checking what they described as the "tremendous flood of high powered beer sweeping the country."

A tax of one cent a gallon on cereal beverages was asked of the House Ways and Means Committee by Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury, in charge of prohibition enforcement. This would afford the government power of inspection of near beer distilleries.

Mr. Andrews said "high powered beer" must be manufactured first by breweries in the process of making near beer and the temptation was "very great not to cut down the alcohol content."

The assistant secretary also said prohibition enforcement would be aided if the tax of $2.20 a proof gallon on pure alcohol were cut in half and a tax of one cent a gallon on denatured alcohol were imposed.

Mr. Andrews said he did not intend to ask for larger appropriations for enforcement, "except for the coast guard perhaps."

"If the customs service has asked for 150 more border patrols," he added. "Rum smuggling has increased smuggling in other products."

In asking a tax on denatured alcohol he said this constituted one of the main sources of supplies to bootleggers. He urged that further establishment of independent denaturing plants be prohibited and denaturing be limited as much as possible to plants where the entire denatured product is consumed.

Reduction of the pure alcohol tax to the pre-war level would cut down the spread, he pointed out, between the legitimate user and the illegitimate and would decrease the profit of the bootlegger.

WHY DOES A PUBLIC UTILITY NEED MONEY?

A public utility such as The California Oregon Power Company furnishes an almost continuous opportunity for the investment of capital. That is a healthy sign of growth.

When you build a new house and call upon the power company to "turn on the lights," the company immediately begins to draw on new capital to buy and install new poles, new wires, a transformer, a meter and other equipment.

Right at the start, each new connection costs as much as all it will earn for the next five or six years. For every dollar of new revenue each year, the company must invest at least five or six dollars in new and improved facilities to reach that dollar. And every so often, when the growing market for power reaches a certain point, it must build additional power houses, generating machinery and transmission lines.

A big investment — a slow but steady income

All these new facilities have a proven ability to earn a reasonable amount of money.

But they earn money slowly—steadily and surely, but only a little each year. The money to pay for them in the first place must therefore be obtained by offering the company's securities for public investment.

The power company that is always growing must frequently need new capital. And it always pays just as much for the use of this capital as it is obliged to pay—no more.

New Copco Preferred will yield 6.52%

As a Preferred Stockholder (one of nearly 3,000 in this territory) you are personally interested in seeing your company pay less and less for capital as its securities grow in value. Or, as a new investor, you are equally interested in the higher appraisal of Copco Preferred Stock as shown by the dividend rate of the new issue—6.52% net on the investment.
