KU KLUX KLAN TO HOLD BIG MEET IN ROSEBURG SOON

Umpqua Klan No. 5, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, is preparing for a huge homecoming program to be presented on the night of Monday, November 9th. All Klansmen of Roseburg and Douglas county are expected to be present, and invitations have been extended to all other Klans of the state, many of whom are expected to be well represented. The Imperial representative of the state organization will be present from Portland and will be the chief speaker. Considerable outside talent will be present for the program, which will be of much interest to all Klansmen. The only public feature of the homecoming will be the monster parade to be held at 7 o'clock. Several hundred robed Klansmen and Klanswomen will march in the parade, which will be led by the Douglas County Concert Band. A float is being built for this event, the entry being of a symbolical nature. The parade will march over the usual route along Cass and Jackson street. Mayor Houck was requested to give permission for this parade, the Klan rules requiring such authority from city executives, but following his usual policy the Mayor advised Klan officials that as long as the parade is conducted in an orderly manner, no permission will be necessary in Roseburg. Accounts owing "The Bellows Store Co." are due and payable to Harold Bellows at Culver Hardware Store.

P. T. A. DELEGATES ARE HOME FROM STATE CONVENTION

The Roseburg delegates to the state Parent-Teacher Association numbered the largest of any delegation outside of that of Portland, according to the reports of returning delegates. This city is the first to have teacher delegates to the state convention also. A number of changes were made by the convening delegates, among them the change made in the districts, dividing the districts so that there are now more than formerly. Mrs. F. H. Churchill, who attended from the county council, was elected president of the eighth district, which includes Lane and Douglas counties. The keynote of the convention program was to promote the good relationship between the schools and the home. Miss Julia Spooner gave a notable report on child labor amendment. A great deal of discussion was held on the matter of clean literature. Miss Mildred Starrett, teacher of Cottage Grove, and former Roseburg girl, gave an excellent paper during one session. The president of the National Congress of the Parents and Teachers, Mrs. A. H. Reeve, of Philadelphia, addressed the convention, talking on the direct relationship of organization and leadership. Another interesting discourse was given by Miss Mary McKimmen, national president of the N. E. A., of Brookline, Massachusetts, discussing the needs and usefulness of the P. T. A. Mrs. Mable Church, on behalf of Roseburg, presented a bouquet of chrysanthemums, the most beautiful that were seen at the convention. The Roseburg delegates were accorded fine treatment and were guests of the Portland teachers on a number of sightseeing trips. While in Portland the delegates from this city were guests at the home of the Misses Beckman. They visited the Buckman school on the east side where the platoon system is in effect and has been thoroughly worked out by Professor Gary. Parents and teachers from this city attending the convention were Mrs. F. H. Churchill, Mrs. Edith Ackert, Miss Marjorie Shay, Mrs. S. L. Kiddier, Mrs. Fred Knight, Mrs. Minturn, Mrs. Mable Church, Mrs. W. P. Brown, Miss Ferne Scott, Mrs. A. Dawe and others in the party were Mrs. J. E. Sawyers and Miss Gertrude Raat. Mrs. John Harvard and Mrs. Earl Agee attended from District number five.

MONTH OF OCTOBER VERY SHORT IN RAIN

The month of October just past, although unusual in its lack of rain, is not a record breaker, according to the monthly report filed this morning by William Bell, meteorologist. The total rainfall for the past month was .95 of an inch, the lowest since 1917, when the precipitation was .62 of an inch. The record, however, was in 1895, when no rainfall at all was the mark recorded at the observatory. Several Octobers in the past 49 years have been quite low in rainfall, although a figure under one inch is rare. The average is 2.61 inches. Last year the month of October broke all previous records, and set the absolute maximum for rainfall in any one month, when the total precipitation reached 10.45 inches. Aside from the shortage of rain the month of October of this
