BATTLE IN DESERT RECALLS THE WEST OF EARLY PERIOD

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Nov. 10.—Water, whiskey or a woman probably figured prominently in the "bad lands" shooting in which Bill Robinson and Max Burtis were killed last Sunday at Government Holes.

Such was the belief of sheriff's deputies, who today continued their investigation of the gun fight on the theory that it was another one of those duels such as occasionally remind authorities that the old wild days of the west have not vanished in that section northwest of Needles known as the Ivanpah range.

Robinson was foreman of the Rock Springs Cattle company which controls most of the water holes on the range. Burtis was a former employe of the company, a "two-gun" man imported from Arizona six years ago to help wage war on cattle rustlers who were terrorizing the country.

It was two years ago that Burtis lost his job with the Rock Springs outfit, and since then, investigators allege, he had been suspected of a connection with various liquor troubles in the district and with a series of shootings which are said to have frightened several of Robinson's predecessors off the range.

Robinson came to the district several months ago, heralded as a man who "wouldn't use his boots for running." Bad blood between him and Burtis soon was evident, according to deputies, and the theory tentatively accepted is that the two men met to settle some quarrel over water rights on the range, or over liquor transactions, or over a woman. A woman is re-

THEATRES

Antlers Theatre. Irvin Willat is one motion picture director who has never yet asked an actor to do anything, involving danger that he was not ready to do himself.

A specific incident happened during the filming of "The Abolition Highway," at a time Willat and a company of one hundred Paramount players were on location on the Coquille river in Oregon.

After days of preparation for the big log jam scene, the technical arrangements for which were under the guidance of a famous logging man of Oregon, Willat stationed himself on a log boom in the middle of the river, a most hazardous spot, for it was in direct line of the on-rushing logs.

At Antlers Wednesday and Thursday.

Liberty Theatre.

It tops even "The Third Alarm." That is the judgment of astute motion picture critics who have seen "The Last Edition," a compelling F. B. O. melodrama revolving around a newspaper office. The picture, which brings together again the brilliant acting of Ralph Lewis and the dictatorial genius of Emory Johnson, is shown tonight at the Liberty Theatre for the last time.

The popular character actor who did so much to make history in the parts written for him by Mrs. M. Helen's last role of his career and executes it with that sincerity which is characteristic of his work. The scene in which he hurled a heavy wrench into the whirling machinery of his beloved brass rather than see it grind out the sensational story of his son's arrest is a terrific piece of drama, beautifully done. The meeting of the father and son in jail is another high spot in the picture, and the romantic element as portrayed by Frances Teague and Rex Lease, is pretty and thoroughly charming.

FORMER DOUGLAS COUNTY WOMAN DIES IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Ethel Marie McConnell, 30, died Sunday morning at Good Samaritan hospital. She was a graduate of St. Helen's hall with the class of 1914 and of the University of Oregon with the class of 1919. At Eugene she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Survivors include the widower, Graham McConnell; her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Walte, 251 1/2 East Twenty-First street; a sister Mildred Walte, and a brother, Fen Walte, of Klamath Falls. The funeral will be held today at 2:30 p. m. from the Holman funeral parlors, 528 Hawthorne avenue.

NEWS TIDBITS

SAN FRANCISCO—R. W. H. Douglas, who declares he is a baron with estates in Germany, agreed to plead guilty to petty larceny if a charge of grand larceny was dropped and was sentenced to six months in the county jail.

LOS ANGELES—Miss Lee Hutty playwright, is suing Thomas Wilkes, producer, for $42,500 because he bought a play of hers under stipulation that it was to be produced in a "first class city," and he produced it in Los Angeles. Wilkes said that in his opinion Los Angeles is a first class city, but Miss Hutty and Rupert Hughes, novelist and motion picture director, testified that Los Angeles decidedly is not a first class city, at least so far as plays are concerned.

LOS ANGELES—An offer of clerical employment on her offer to cease mailing and writing revolutionary pamphlets dealing with the institution of marriage was rejected in federal court by Edith Mabel Tessier, charged with misuse of the mails, and she was sentenced to two years and two days imprisonment. "I cannot change my entire life to escape going to prison," the woman sobbed. "My writings are my life itself."

LOS ANGELES—Art Acord, motion picture actor, was brought to the receiving hospital with two broken ribs and other minor injuries received in an automobile accident.

SEATTLE—Alaskan placer miners have "simply scratched the surface—modern methods and machinery will take out the fortune left behind," Norman C. Stines, manager of the Fairbanks Exploration company, subsidiary of the United States Smelting, Refining and Mining company of Boston, said as he announced a $3,000,000 development project for the Fairbanks district.

GREELEY, Colo.—The reading of a King James version of the Bible in the public schools of Platteville, Colo., was held to be an act which forced children of the Catholic faith "to subscribe to a religion which they do not believe." In the argument of William F. Schofield, counsel for Charles Volmer, a farmer, who is seeking to restrain the school board from enforcing its ruling that scripture be read as a part of the morning exercises.

of Pacific northwest conference leader, Coach Schlaser was content to start the week out last night with a short fast signal drill on plays not yet used. Gates to Dell field were guarded, but those who saw the practice expect some real action Saturday. The Aggies are preparing to game with Oregon at Eugene.

Schulmerich was in his place in the backfield, and appears to be in fine shape for the coming struggle. The entire squad worked with a snap and vim that dispelled any idea that the men might be over-trained.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times the terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided after years of countless study, that no cure can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allertonia, to others who took it, with the result he called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed Nathan Folletton to dispense Allertonia with the understanding that if his prescription does not banish every sign and symptom of the disease, he will gladly return your money without comment.

SALES BOOSTED BY CLIMBING RECORD

The hundreds of hill climbing records set up by the Star car during the last year have had a wonderful influence on the sales everywhere, according to Leo Rapp, of Rapp Bros, local Star dealers.

"Star's hill climbing high and low gear tests have demonstrated conclusively that the million dollar motor which is the power plant of this car is far superior to any other motor in the Star class," continued Rapp.

"The power in the sensational motor of the Star car has never been equalled in tests of real importance. The steepest hills and mountain grades along the Pacific Coast have been negotiated with little difficulty, which, after all, is the only convincing proof of a motor's pulling ability."
