ROSEBURG, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 18, 1925.

SINKING FUND WILL MEET GENERAL APPROVAL.

The decision of the city council to establish a sinking fund next year with which to retire $27,000 worth of city bonds is an act of good business policy that cannot fail to meet with the approval of the taxpayers generally.

Two years before the retirement of the $27,000 worth of bonds referred to above, the city will be able to pay off also in full the $25,000 batch of city hall bonds, thanks to a sinking fund started for that particular purpose during the administration of Mayor N. Rice.

With $52,000 worth of bonds paid off by 1934, there will remain for later liquidation two paving bond issues, totalling $75,000, representing direct obligations on the city.

The women of the future, so far as physically able, will be helping their husbands support their families, according to the prediction of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, made in a recent address at Milwaukee.

The county farm conference to be held in this city, starting tomorrow, is of vast importance to the agricultural interests of this county. It is also of great importance to the business men of Roseburg.

Large complaint has been made because of the installment system, now applied to automobiles, pianos and furniture.

Hundreds go, a weary mob, to the poorhouse in the dell. Men who've never found the job they could do and do it well. They have failed at selling prunes, they have failed at laying brick; others nailed the picayunes, but they never learned the trick.

GOOD EVENING FOLKS—

Be not deceived. The car that comes out with new designs has the same ones on the pedestrians.

Even the guy with a fast car may be slow pay.

Parking space is where you leave the car to have the tail-light knocked off.

Many a car is wrecked by a loose nut—at the wheel.

Many a man drives into matrimony by driving with one hand.

FROM THE JUNK PILE

A bouncing, jouncing, A leak and a lack, A bumping, a jumping, A knock in the back, A creaking, a cracking, A bolt and a jar, A dashing, a smashing, A helluva car!

As a warning to jaywalkers a traffic sign in a Michigan city reads: "He who hesitates is tossed."

Mrs. Benrich—I gave my husband an imported moerschaum for his birthday.

Mrs. Newrich—Oh, how charming! Touring or sedan?

The design of the car may change but the same old-fashioned mortgage covers it!

Americans are born at the rate of five per minute, but drunken auto-drivers prevent any congestion of population.

TEACHING HER TO DRIVE

Instructor: In case of emergency put on the brake.

Her: I thought that come with the car.

Instructor: In case starter won't work look for a short circuit.

Her: Then if you find it—do you lengthen it?

Instructor: Always see that the radiator is filled with water.

Her: Oh that thing on the front that looks like a bees' boarding house.

Instructor: You've bothered me so that I've lost my bearings.

Her: Lucky there's a garage right over there.

If a motorist ruins a pneumatic in an accident he can use his spare tire. If he breaks some bones he can go to a butcher shop and get some spare ribs!

State Press Comment

Installation Hysteria.

Large complaint has been made because of the installment system, now applied to automobiles, pianos and furniture.

It now covers many types of small mechanism, more or less costly items of hardware and kitchen equipment, a large variety of clothing, furs and, of course, numerous other better known elements in the entire field of consumer buying.

So in this city there is in force, as well as in other places, the plan whereby houses may be painted on the installment plan, with, of course, the necessary mechanics, liens and other types of security.

to the general practice of many of those who are behind them. The situation is very similar to that which exists in connection with branch banking, where we have well-intentioned gentlemen operating large chains of branch banks and at the same time voting resolutions against branch banking or advocating the adoption of bills opposed to branch banking, but with loopholes which allow their particular kind of branch banking to continue—California for example.

Why can we not get rid of the righteous indignation on these types of discussion and get down to basic facts?

Many of our banks are full of dangerous if not bad installment credit paper and conditions are leading up to a breakdown. Why not propose some practical method for correcting the situation before it grows worse?—Portland Journal of Commerce.

Hobbled Justice

On the fifteenth day of February next the federal court of this district will hear the case against the rum runner crew of the gasoline schooner Pezawa—a gang arrested so long ago that the fact had fairly well faded from the memory of most news readers.

This delay is not the fault of the judge before whom the case will come, nor yet of the prohibition of Roseburg who made the arrest, nor perhaps any other public official. It is just another illustration of how tape-bound court procedure in America can hobble justice.

Delays like this always work to the advantage of the guilty party. The longer the delay between the act and its punishment the less the probability of learning the truth concerning it.

Until such time as we make justice swift and sure in this country we shall have a steady increase in crimes of all sorts and kinds; to this will shortly be added the formation of vigilance committees to protect the public from the crime the hobbled courts fail to suppress.—Portland Telegram.

The Methodist Merger

Falcons of the Southern Methodist conference to give a three-fourth vote for merger with the Northern Methodist organization is a matter for disappointment to forward looking religionists, but not for despair.

For sixty years the southern church—separated from the northern denomination by the Civil War—has carried on as a distinct religious jurisdiction among a people who are naturally more conservative than those that make up the Northern Methodist body.

Prejudices always die hard and change from a comfortable existing order always comes slowly. But it is sure to come even though it comes slow footed. "Nothing is so deliberate as true progress."—Portland Telegram.

MORONI OLSEN PLAYERS COMING ON DECEMBER 10

A change has been made in the date of the appearance of the Moroni Olsen Players in Roseburg this season, they having announced their intention of appearing here at the Antlers Theatre on Thursday, December 10th, instead of Friday, December 11th.

Their vehicle on that date will be "The Ship" by St. John Ervine, a serious drama of such interest and intensity, that the audience is held breathless until the sensational climax.

There is much cause for rejoicing in the selection of "The Ship". There is entertainment, much to laugh about and much to get one thinking. Some who see it will dream and some will remember. The dramatist has created in miniature our modern world, in the Thurlow family, with their shipyard, you will find yourself and your work. St. John Ervine suggests it all.

Each man will answer for himself. Moroni Olsen will again be seen in a sympathetic role allowing him full scope for his wonderful histrionic talent, and the other favorites, especially Janet Young and Byron Foulger, will have the strong part.

Single admission tickets will be on sale soon by members of the Roseburg Business and Professional Women's Club, which organization is sponsoring the three appearances of this company here this season.

THEATRES

Majestic Theatre

A narrow street, only twenty feet wide, furnishes the basis for Warner Bros. motion picture of the same name, that promises to delight the patrons of the Majestic theatre beginning tonight.

Being the screen version of the novel by Edwin Hateman Morris, "The Narrow Street" presents a story as interesting and surprising as those crooked little alleys that twist and turn their way across crowded cities.

To outward appearances, Simon Haldane, played by Matt Moore, is an unobtrusive and retiring as the narrow street he lives on, until one stormy night, he finds his bachelor quarters invaded by a nameless girl, who asks for refuge from the inclement weather and the police.

Another Dvorak, a vivacious comedy star, characterizes the intruding Doris with all the charm of a beautiful and cultured girl in a situation of circumstances, with the result that Simon Haldane, in his desire to protect her from those who fear, announces to the world that she is his wife.

Many embarrassing situations are cleverly evaded by the quick-thinking Doris, whose mysterious presence introduces the staid bachelor to a new vista of things as they might be, if—

LIBERTY THEATRE

Dorothy Reyer, considered by beauty experts to be the most beautiful girl in California, is featured with Cullen Landis, in the first of the Waldorf releases for this season, "Enemy of Men," which comes to the Liberty theatre today.

"Enemy of Men" concerns the devotion of a sister for her almost helpless younger sister, who is misguided and marries a brutal politician. As a result of the younger sister's series of misfortunes the older sister becomes intensely bitter and capitalizing her beauty she sets out to make all money pay for the vicious acts of one. Because of her powerful appeal innumerable men of wealth pursue her and give her a tribute of jewels.

There are a number of large sets shown, reproductions of the finest modiste shops. Also an entire section of New York slums were reproduced to obtain the essential elements for this drama.

That much vaunted thriller de luxe "The Phantom of the Opera," which Carl Laemmle, the producer, has so vociferously pronounced "the greatest mystery thriller of the age," will play tomorrow at the Antlers theatre, and the people of Roseburg will at last have an opportunity to see Lon Chaney play what is said to be his latest and greatest role.

UNIQUE POST HEARS REPORTS OF ARMISTICE DAY

The Armistice Day activities of the American Legion were successfully carried out, and apparently the celebration was appreciated by the general public, according to reports presented last night by the chairman of the various committees at the regular meeting of Umpqua Post.

Financially the receipts from the dance, football game, and country store just about met all the bills. The post will perhaps be required to pay out a small amount to cover all the expenses of the day. This, however, was to be expected considering the stormy weather which prevailed.

The minstrel show, held on Monday and Tuesday before Armistice Day, netted a fair profit, which will go to the Legion treasury to be used to provide equipment and uniforms for the drum corps.

It is the intention of the legion post to outfit their drum corps in such a way that the musicians will have no handicap in their effort to win the state championship cup at the next state convention. This cup was won two years ago, but lost last year. However, the post is determined to take the cup again and the drummers are already working up new numbers for the contests.

Umpqua Post has a policy of not seeking donations for its activities. Commander Oscar Berrie stated today, "When funds are needed we try to give the people something worth the money. We believe that our minstrel show was well worth the admission price and that everyone was satisfied. That will be our aim in the future, also. We will perhaps need considerable money to outfit our drum corps to compete with others in the state, but we are not asking for donations. We do ask, however, that everyone who goes to entertainments, shows, dances, etc., that we give the support of the people of the city. We appreciate the support already shown us and are grateful for the encouragement received. We believe that the activities sponsored by the post will be of a worthwhile nature and we hope that we can continue to count on the support of Roseburg folks in our efforts."

The post, after hearing the reports of the various committees, adopted a resolution directed to the county court urging the continuance of the county health unit, even in the event of additional post.

The membership drive is to start at once, the captains being Jack Crafton, John Gerrety and H. L. Epstein. The two losing teams will provide an entertainment for the winners.

An effort will be made to make the membership for the coming year the largest the post has known. The work the legion is undertaking is worthy of the support of all ex-service men, so that their encouragement should be given by joining the organization.

The local post is also endeavoring to give the heartiest cooperation to the work of Dr. E. B. Stewart, state commander, who was formerly post commander, and because of that fact a big enough membership is desired to be able to carry out any project undertaken.

It is claimed that twenty acres were covered with seventy massive sets for the gigantic production, which is adapted from the French mystery romance by Gaston Leroux, sometimes alluded to as France's successor to De Maupassant. The sets are said to include a complete reproduction of the great Paris Opera House, interior, exterior and underground.

The five vast cellars which at one time served as the stronghold of the Second Commune of France, and equipped with many secret escapes, dungeons and torture chambers for the red purposes of the commune, is the scene of mystery, thrill and terror when the strange denizens of vaults and shadows, known as the Opera Phantom rules the gay and noble throng of the fashionable opera with unseen, but ruthless power.

Lon Chaney, who plays the "Phantom" is supported by a cast numbering thousands, all in the colorful splendor affected by the wealthy and noble of that period with notable extravagance.

NOTED DANCERS COMING

The announcement that the Portia Mansfield Dancers are to give one of their beautiful and unusual Dance Concerts in this city is most welcome. They comprise twelve solo and ensemble dancers, all girls, with the exception of Harold Ames, one of the featured members of the company. Their program will appeal to all lovers of music and dancing for one lovely scene follows another in rapid succession. Among the classic compositions to which they will give rhythmic visualization is Tchaikovsky's "Symphony Pathétique."

The Dancers will appear at the Antlers on Sunday matinee and evening and Monday evening in conjunction with Gloria Swanson's "Wages of Virtue."

BEAUTY CHATS

NIGHT TREATMENTS FOR WRINKLES

If you are threatened with wrinkles, you can do a great deal about keeping them away indefinitely—yes, I mean indefinitely—by going to bed half an hour earlier, and using the half hour for the following treatment.

Make up my cold cream formula both ways—with mineral oil as a cleansing cream, and with vegetable as a flesh builder. (If you haven't it, it is in my pamphlet, "Beauty.") Beat up the white of an egg, adding a teaspoonful of vinegar, and as much powdered borax and powdered camphor as will go, each, on top of a 10c piece. Stir this well, put the whole amount into a small, wide mouthed bottle and keep for use. Keep a small, soft paint brush near as you get this up with a brush.

Now for the treatment. Rub the skin with cleansing cream and wipe off with a cloth wrung from hot water. Wring out the cloth again, and hold over the face, so that the blood comes to the skin and the pores open—it takes but a minute. Paint this gummy egg lotion on thickly and let down. If possible keep your eyes shut, and relax as much as you can. The astringent tightens like a mask over the face and draws out the wrinkles. After 15 minutes wash off with hot water and rub in the flesh building cream. Massage well into the skin for five minutes, longer if possible. Wipe off with a dry cloth and go to bed. Much of the cream left on the skin, which will take it up during the night. Next morning wash the face with ice cold water and nothing else.

This treatment is so stimulating that minor blemishes, tiny scars, freckles and such things will disappear. Large pores will contract, the skin will be clear and take delicious life. Try it for a month or two and see how you like it.

Distressed Mary Ann—Any bleach is drying to the skin, so you should always follow it with a massage using a cream or a fine oil.

Miss F. G. H.—Small moles are not disfiguring so there should be no need to bleach them, and a large mole if it really disfigures should be removed by a doctor as unskilled handling is very dangerous and might result in a scar. Never tamper with a mole yourself!

Young Mother—Sleeping with the mouth open and snoring may indicate that the child has adenoids. It would be well to have a doctor examine him.

Mrs. Emily G.—You can tint the stray grey hair by using a henna shampoo; this will not be a dye and it will not injure your hair nor your health. To do this, mix the small package of Egyptian henna that comes for a shampoo with your lather and rub it well into the hair and scalp. Let this stay on the hair for about 15 minutes, as a trial, and then proceed as with any other shampooing method. The natural shade of your hair will not be affected, and the stray white hair will be tinted enough not to show.

Tomorrow—Letions and Accessories.
