Service, Quality and Courteous Treatment

We believe in all three of these and try to practice them in our business relation with you at all times.

Thanksgiving is coming and you will want the best groceries you can get for that dinner. Why buy something cheap and ruin a good dinner by eating nothing about your disposition.

It is hard enough to get a good dinner when you have good materials to get it with than when you use inferior foods.

If you will step to the telephone and order from us you can depend on it that your dinner will be the best.

You will need cranberries, celery, lettuce, sweet potatoes and other vegetables. For your salad you will want pineapple, bananas and apples or maybe shrimp and tuna fish.

We have a complete line of canned goods.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE AT HIGH SCHOOL STARTS
Basketball practice has started in the high school and the boys are practicing several nights each week. The inter-class games are now in progress, these games being a part of the class rivalry. From all appearances there will be a large squad from which to pick the first team this year, and it is very probable that the school will have a good team, although it will be light.

VOLSTEAD ACT FAILING TO GET GOOD RESULTS

less constant from year to year, showing only slight fluctuations with a tendency toward a gradual rise commensurate with the increase in the number of automobiles. Coincident, however, with the enactment of the Volstead Act, which became effective at the end of 1919, drunken drivers began to increase amazingly, and the increase has continued year by year since then.

"If this sort of thing happened only in a few instances, it might be attributed to purely local causes; but the fact that it has occurred everywhere, almost without exception, leads to the confident belief that it is due to one general cause—the Volstead Act—with which it was co-incident.

"To be exact, motor vehicles in the United States have increased from 1919 to 1924, one 132 percent, whereas drunken drivers increased in the same period about 354 percent on the average. The difference of 222 percent is clearly attributable to the Volstead Act.

"The reason for this enormous increase in drunken drivers seems fairly clear. After prohibition, one could not purchase intoxicants, or at least 'safe' intoxicants, almost everywhere, as previously. This necessitated procuring an ample supply—a case or bottle—in advance, and it was then toted around on the hip or in the car and consumed in transit. Drinking before prohibition was largely done indoors; and after prohibition, from a flask on the road.

"The most pathetic feature of it all is that prohibition was intended to stop this very thing. One of the strongest arguments for prohibition ran as follows: This is motorized age, and the automobile must be kept out of the hands of intoxicated people; therefore, ban intoxicants.

"The result, unfortunately, has been precisely the contrary to what the prohibitionists intended and prophesied.

Authoritative statistics with respect to the increase of drunkenness among drivers are scarce; but figures for other classes, the report adds, but it cites examples of the increase from records of the Washington, D. C., police department to prove its case.

"Arrests of persons under 22 years old average 44 a year for the four pre-prohibition years 1914-1917. A home-dry law was enacted for Washington before national prohibition became effective, and immediately youthful
