WOMEN DEMAND ATTENTION FOR LIFE ON FARMS

Better Home Conditions Studied by Committee at Conference.

HEALTH IS STRESSED

Efficient Use of Farm Foods to Give Bodily Health Urged by Committee's Report.

Improvement of farm conditions will be of little real benefit unless home life on the farm is made attractive, according to the report of the home economics committee of the Agricultural Economics Conference. The home economics department was added to the conference by the demand of Douglas County women. In past conferences the woman's side of farm life was overlooked and the women had nothing to say in the final reports. The women of Douglas County, however, are striving hard to bring about improved home conditions, and have accomplished wonderful results in the past years. They are making a careful study of this problem. and demanded that in the Douglas County conference the same attention be given this problem as was given other farm activities. The Coos County women, seeing the benefit to be derived from such a study, followed the demands of the Douglas County ladies, and in the Coos County conference the first home economics department was added, to be followed by a second report in the Douglas County conference.

The women of this county stress the need for better homes by conservation of energy, better social life, improved health and suitable dress.

They urge a more efficient use of the foods available upon the farm to bring about better health through proper nutrition, and urge the parents of children to encourage personal food habits through example.

A recommendation is also made that the women residing upon farms be given more aid in the Extension service of the college in studying such subjects as clothing, nutrition and home improvement.

The committee's report is as follows: "The great rural interests are human interests, and good crops are of little value to the farmer unless they open the door to a good kind of life on the farm."

Enriched soils, better livestock, increased production, better markets, and other agricultural improvements are for one purpose only: to make prosperous and happy rural homes and communities.

To solve the rural problem permanently, there must be adopted not only a program of improved practices in agricultural production and marketing, but also a goal of improved practices in better living to accompany it.

The standard of living is largely determined by economic conditions, but even while working toward the reforms necessary to give adequate profits to farmers, every effort should be made to maintain good standards of home life. To that end we urge serious study of the problem involved, and a whole-hearted effort to eliminate the objectionable features, placing emphasis on the advantages of life in the country.

Therefore we recommend: as our ultimate goal these essentials which are necessary to stimulate pride in and give dignity to rural life, and to establish a balance between housekeeping and home-making.

Swindler Makes $4,800 Cleanup on Punch Board Lottery for Turkeys That "Worthy Poor" Failed to Get

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Two hundred and sixty persons failed to obtain Thanksgiving turkeys after they had won the birds on a punch board lottery, the promoter of which could not be found today to pay off the winners with the promised festive birds. Harry Norton, the promoter, was sought by the police, although the request of Z. Milani, a wholesale poultry dealer, who honored orders for several turkeys, won on punch boards, before he discovered the system under which orders for the dressed gobblers were obtained. Milani told the police that Norton called on him several days ago and left a $5 deposit, saying he would issue orders to "worthy

The supposed dead man was believed thrown from the bombers' automobile before it was overtaken by pursuing detective squads.

MAID OF SOCIETY TELLS WHY GIRLS PREFER CABARETS

Unalluring Specimens at Exclusive Dances Too Slow for Live-Wire Entertainment.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Ellin Mackay, daughter of Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph and cousin of Alice Duer Miller, novelist, broke into print today, defending visits to cabarets by the young smart set.

In the New Yorker, a magazine, she writes that paradoxically the younger generation of the smart set prefers the privacy of public cabarets to rubbing elbows with the hot polloi at exclusive dances given by their parents.

Miss Mackay's first article, to be paid for at space rate, declares that "our elders attribute to us sins too gaudy to be true. The trouble is our elders are a trifle glibly: swallow too much of Mr. Scott Fitzgerald and Mrs. Gertrude Atherton."

"We like to go to cabarets," continues the article. "It is not, as our elders would have it, because we enjoy rubbing elbows with all sorts of people. We don't particularly like dancing shoulder to shoulder with gaudy and fat drummers. We do not like unattractive people."

"If our elders want to know why we like to go to cabarets, let them go to the best of these, our present day exclusive parties, and look at the stag lines. They will see extremely unalluring specimens. A third or so of the stags are unattractive, agreeable young men. The rest are just stage and terrible."

"We go to a party and take no luck, and the luck is four to one against us. At last, tired of fruitless struggles to remember half familiar faces, tired of trying to avoid unweelcome dances, we go to cabarets."

"We go to cabarets because of the very fastidiously that our elders find so admirable a quality. We have privacy in a cabaret. What does it matter if the flapper and her fatish boy or friend are wriggling beside us as we dance? We go because we prefer rubbing elbows in a cabaret to dancing at an exclusive party with all sorts and kinds of people."

The annual Thanksgiving ball will be given tonight at the Armory under the auspices of Company D, 162nd Infantry, U. S. A. The ball is to be an informal program dance, with several feature numbers provided. Music is to be furnished by the Swanee Serenaders.

HOWARD RECEIVES COOS-CURRY BOOST FOR STATE SUPT.

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Nov. 26.—(Special to the News-Review)—At an institute in Marshfield this week, the teachers of Coos County unanimously endorsed Charles A. Howard, Superintendent of the Marshfield schools, for the republican nomination for state superintendent of public instruction. Similar endorsement had previously been given by several local teachers' organizations and Chambers of Commerce in this section of the state. Mr. Howard is in Hood River, where he is one of the principal speakers at the Hood River County Teachers' Institute.

HOOD RIVER, ORO, NOV. 26.—(Special to the News-Review)—The Hood River County Teachers' Institute closed two days session here yesterday. County Superintendent J. W. PRODUCT GIFT BOXES WILL BE PLACED ON SALE

Chamber of Commerce Sponsors New and Unique Christmas Package.

TOTAL COST TO BE $2

Prunes, Walnuts, Canned Pears to Be Included—Express Company Makes Low Rate.

A Christmas gift box, made up entirely of Douglas county products, to be sent friends and relatives in distant sections of the county, is a holiday feature sponsored by the Douglas county Chamber of Commerce. Following a lengthy investigation a box weighing 10 pounds has been devised that can be sent anywhere in the United States at a total cost of $2.00. The boxes are being packed on a non-profit basis and are being handled at actual cost.

This plan was devised by the Portland Chamber of Commerce which is similarly engaged in the metropolis. Arrangements were made with the American Express company whereby they have made a flat rate on these gift packages and will take them any place in the United States for a uniform fee.

The boxes will contain all Oregon products and in this county will include only products grown in Douglas county.

They will include 4 pounds of dried prunes, one pound of walnuts and two cans of pears. There will be two pounds each of Italian and Petite prunes.

The Chamber of Commerce is furnishing the fibre cartons into which the products will be packed. The price charged will only cover the box and contents and shipping charge, the prunes, walnuts and pears being furnished at actual cost, while the packing of the boxes is gratis.

The Chamber of Commerce is asking merchants throughout the county to cooperate by selling these boxes without profit. It is requested that any merchant willing to handle them as a means of helping to advertise the county, notify the Chamber of Commerce at once.

A committee composed of V. T. Jackson, A. G. Sutherland, A. J. Goddes and J. E. Dent has been working on this plan for several weeks and they have now completed their arrangements. They have packed several sample boxes, and find that the plan is entirely practical.

The total cost, including the express charge, is $2 per box, this low price making it possible to offer the boxes as a cheap, unique, but acceptable gift for friends and relatives in distant sections of the county.

It is believed that this All-Oregon product gift campaign will grow in future years, and will have a material benefit in attracting interest to the sections from which the products are sent.

King of Siam Dies One Day After Birth of Daughter to Woman, Queen for Month

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) BANGKOK, Siam, Nov. 25.—Rama VI, king of Siam, 15 years, died today about a month after he had divorced his queen and taken another in the hope of having an heir to the throne.

His hopes were not realized and his younger brother, Prince Praja Dhipok, succeeds to the throne. A daughter was born yesterday to the new queen. Rama VI, who was 45 years old, recently underwent an operation for an abdominal abscess from which he did not recover. Prior to the operation he had suffered from acute gastritis.

Educated at Oxford, Rama on his marriage in 1922 to Princess Lakshmi Laven, abjured polygamy and abolished the harem which his father had maintained.

In 1910 it was decided that until King Rama had made issue the succession should be through the

MISS FARRAR TOO ILL TO APPEAR AT OPERA PREMIERE

Rehearsals Take Too Much Toll of Strength and She Is Compelled to Seek Rest.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 26.—Geraldine Farrar, noted opera and concert singer, and now star of Franz Lehár's new opera "Romany Love Spell," is ill here. All her engagements for the next month have been cancelled.

The operetta was given its American premiere here Tuesday night, but Miss Farrar, exhausted by five weeks of rehearsals, was unable to appear last night. Patrons were turned away at the box office.

Miss Farrar has shown great enthusiasm over the new production. Her manager, Charles J. Foley, says that overwork in rehearsals made it necessary for her to seek the advice of her physicians in New York ten days ago. She recovered and "Romany Love Spell," a story of modern Spain, opened on schedule.

The star showed signs of illness during the first performance and she was unable to leave her room all day yesterday. She tried to go to the theater last night, but because of her exhausted condition, she was unable to do so.

With a physician and her father, Sidney Farrar, she is to be taken to her Ridgefield home. It is expected that a few weeks rest will enable her to return to the stage.

Visitor Today—Miss Leona Rust, of Elmira, Oregon, was a visitor here this morning, spending a short time before leaving for Glendale, where she will remain until Sunday, visiting with relatives.

French Ministerial Crisis Gets Worse With Herriot's Decision That He Cannot Form New Cabinet

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) PARIS, Nov. 26.—Farmer Premier Herriot today informed President Doumergue that he definitely declined to form a cabinet.

It is understood that the president probably will call next on Senator Maurice Sarraut of the radical-socialist group to attempt the formation of a ministry.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—France's ministerial crisis today entered its fifth day and the solution, rendered more difficult by the decision of the socialist party caucus this morning to refrain from entering a ministry headed by former Premier Herriot, appears to be no nearer than when M. Painleve resigned Sunday.

The protracted cabinet crisis has intensified the rumors of an impending coup d'etat which have been in circulation since the fall of M. Painleve's previous ministry in the latter part of October. The organs of the parties of the right are accusing the socialists of plotting to take power by force, while the left parties contend that such a danger comes from the Fascist organization.

Although everyone is discussing the possibility of a coup d'etat there is no tangible development among either the right or left groups which would lead an observer to believe that a stroke of force is imminent. However, experts on the internal political affairs of France agree that the country is evolving toward a situation which would make a coup d'etat possible.

The consensus however, is that the resolution of parliament must come first and then if the election should leave the parties stalemated as at present, the situation would be ripe for a coup d'etat. Speeches delivered by various members of the socialist group in their party caucuses showing a desire to impose extreme financial measures such as the capital levy by extra constitutional means if necessary, have been the only overt acts recorded. One of the socialist leaders when reminded that he was advocating measures outside the constitution, replied: "To hell with the constitution." The senate has appeared to be the obstacle to all calculations of the radical-socialist combination in their plan to impose their will in financial matters. One idea put forward has been for the majority of the Chamber of Deputies to disregard the senate altogether as a factor in the passage of financial bills.

The conservative parties forming the president opposition have been much more active since M. Painleve formed last month his second ministry of the year.

STUDENT HURT FATALLY WHEN AUTOS COLLIDE

Frank Humphrey of Oregon University, Homeward Bound, Is Victim.

FIVE OTHERS INJURED

Car Occupied by Idaho Pair Strikes Other Sideways as it Skids on Highway Near Eugene.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 26.—Homeward bound for Thanksgiving, Frank Humphrey, a student at the University of Oregon, was perhaps fatally injured, and five other people were more or less seriously injured late yesterday afternoon in an automobile collision six miles north of Eugene.

Humphrey suffered a fractured skull, and little hopes are expressed at the hospital where he was taken here that he might live.

Mrs. Hazel Cantor and Mrs. Rae Elliott, of Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. John Toeves of Aberdeen, Idaho, are also in the hospital, victims of the same crash. Jerry Jarnard, also a student at the University and a brother of Mrs. Cantor, was badly bruised, and suffered a wrenched back, but returned to the temporary house where he has been living.

Mr. and Mrs. Toeves were in one of the machines while the others were in the second car.

According to story told here the party had left Portland for Eugene. Mrs. Cantor was driving and had been following another machine. The machine ahead slowed down suddenly at a road crossing, and in attempting to slow down, a her light coupe, Mrs. Cantor applied the brakes. The car skidded, and was struck broadside by the Toeves car. Both machines were practically demolished.

Humphrey was thrown against the windshield and bracing of the closed car. Mrs. Cantor suffered a badly scalded ankle and the others in the mishap suffered head cuts, about their faces and hands. All were suffering from severe shock.

MICKY WALKER BEATS FRIENDMAN

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 26.—Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., retains his title as world's welterweight champion after a successful defense last night against Salo Friedmann in a 12-round bout.

Although New Jersey prohibits decisions, Walker won the verdict of newspaper men, out-fighting the challenger in nearly every round. The only way Friedmann could have won would have been on a knock-out or a foul.

1ST THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION TO AMERICA IN 1877

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) YORK, Pa., Nov. 26.—Although the first observance of Thanksgiving Day in America is credited to the Pilgrims in 1621, York today claims the honor of being the birthplace of the first national Thanksgiving proclamation.

The proclamation, issued in 1777, was a product of the meeting of the Continental Congress in New York from September 26, 1777, to June 27, 1778.

Shortly after the congress assembled here, news of the surrender of General Burgoyne reached the members. On October 31, President Laurens appointed Richard Henry Lee of Virginia, Samuel Adams of Massachusetts and General Robert Lee of Pennsylvania a committee to draft a national proclamation of Thanksgiving. The document was written by Lee and on November 1, the committee brought in a report which was adopted.

President Laurens then wrote the governors of the 13 states telling them of the action of the congress and forwarding copies of the proclamation.

New Football Coach Selected for University of Oregon to Succeed Smith, but Identity Still Secret

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) SEATTLE, Nov. 26.—A new football coach for the University of Oregon has been signed, but his identity is not to be made known until December 10, Virgil Earl, athletic director at Oregon, announced here today.

Prior to Earl's announcement Richard Shore Smith, present coach for Oregon, told the Associated Press that he was just coaching the Oregon eleven for this year and had no intention of staying after this season. Smith, who is a lawyer and an alumnus of the University of Oregon, said he volunteered his services this year because of his profound interest in the Webfooters.

"We don't consider that Smith is resigning anything," stated Earl. "He merely filled in for us when we were caught by the resignation of Joe Maddock last fall at a time when a satisfactory man could not be obtained."

"Smith has done a good job this year. As hard as the hardest kind of breaks he had brought about a feeling of friendship between the men and coaching staff that hasn't existed at Oregon in many years. I consider that he has done the university a service."

"Oregon is the unluckiest team I have ever seen," Smith remarked concerning a contest in which the Oregon squad faced the University of Washington here today. "I believe they are a better team today than they have been at any other time this season."

Earl recently returned from the east where it is understood he signed up a coach.

DIVORCE WILL END ROMANCE OF ELEVEN YEARS

Frank Lloyd Wright, Noted Architect, Defendant in Action Filed.

WIFE IS SCULPTRESS

Pair Elopel to Japan After Two Prior Escapades on Wright's Part With Other Affinities.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—The romance of Frank Lloyd Wright, internationally known architect, and Maud Myriam Noel Wright, noted sculptress, that started with their flight to Japan 12 years ago, has ended. She has filed suit for divorce, alleging desertion and cruelty, in Baraboo, Wis., and it is reported an alimony agreement has been reached.

Filing of the bill brought first notice that they were married in November, 1912, the day after Wright obtained a divorce from Mrs. Catherine L. Wright, Oak Park, Ill., social worker, whom Wright twice deserted, with her six children.

The first desertion came in 1910 when Wright eloped with Mrs. Maud Borhiwick Cheney of Oak Park. They took up their residence at Spring Green, Wis., in a bungalow which he had fitted up at a cost of $80,000. Five years later Mrs. Cheney and her two children were murdered by a negro butler and the home was burned. During the seven years stay of Miss Noel and Wright in Japan, he designed the $3,000,000 Imperial Hotel in Tokyo, one of the few buildings to resist the recent earthquake. He also has designed noted buildings in the United States.

Under the reported alimony stipulation it was said Mrs. Wright is to receive a lump sum of $10,000, $750 monthly alimony and a part of the Spring Green property.

Mrs. Wright, who before the flight to Japan expressed contempt for "what the world might think," last night said:

"I made a mistake, but I have paid for it. If I would do it all over again, I would make a great tragedy than Maud Borhiwick's. She is dead, but I live on."

Wright, in a Chicago hotel, refused to discuss the suit.

SALVATION ARMY RECEIVES GIFT OF FRUIT, VEGETABLES

The Salvation Army post here is very grateful for the receipt of a donation of fruit and vegetables from the students of the South Deer Creek school, District No. 6, Mrs. W. L. Scott, teacher. The children have made up a large box of all kinds of fruits and vegetables, which they cranked the Salvation Army to distribute to poor and needy families for Thanksgiving.

Workers of the Post distributed the contents of the box among the various needy ones they have been aiding, and were able to carry much joy into homes that otherwise would have found the Thanksgiving holiday less pleasurable.

The Salvation Army reports a need for canned fruits, fresh and canned vegetables, and other food-stuffs, as well as clothing and other articles.
