The Origin and Operation of Skaggs Stores

Community pride and community interest are highly commendable traits—the fountain-heads from which spring better homes, better schools, better churches, roads, civic improvements and better citizens. Rapidly changing conditions—due, in large part to modern methods of communication, transportation and distribution—are responsible for the comparatively recent development of formerly isolated points into thriving, contented and beautiful centers where people have and enjoy all of the conveniences and luxuries of the larger cities. Good roads, the automobile, radio and modern methods of merchandising have practically eliminated the crossroads "country store"—and all of the lack of progress which it symbolized—and substituted therefor the up-to-date small city wherein are available practically all of the worthwhile things that the larger cities have to offer.

sound that one community should be "bled" to enrich a few men in some distant and, possibly, larger center.

Because of the essentially cooperative plan of their operation, Skaggs stores are "local" stores in every sense of the word and the profits from them go back to the source from which they came—the same or like communities in which they were carried—by as simple and natural a process as the return of the products of the soil to the land agent, for its further enrichment.

The manager of each individual Skaggs store is, indeed and in truth, a "local" merchant, vitally interested in community development and community growth. In nearly every case he owns stock in the company and in every instance he depends, for a part of his earnings, upon the net profits which his store produces. He and his men live in the community—have their families and their homes there—and expend money for their support and education exactly as any other merchant would do. In many cases he has more of his own actual money ventured upon the success of his company than is represented by the total investment of the average so-called "independent" retailer.

Therefore, for the same reasons, including the purely selfish which govern the actions of others, Skaggs store managers are deeply concerned in the welfare and prosperity of their community and anything which might adversely affect them will arouse their instant opposition, just as any movement which will react to its benefit and make it a more desirable place in which to live will enlist their hearty support.

For the surplus profits, accruing after the manager has received the dividends on his stock, his share of the net profits and his salary and after the salaries of other helpers in the store, the rent and all other expenses have been met, an even broader and more beneficial use is reserved. Such surpluses go back into new stores, in new communities, offering a new service and a merchant of high integrity who is also interested in community growth and community development. And, best of all, they provide opportunity for those honest, ambitious, hardworking young men within the organization who have developed to managerial capacity and who are eager for their hard-won golden spurs.

In this manner new stores are being constantly opened, the service of Skaggs stores constantly broadened and extended, and loyal-hearted, forward-looking men within the organization are assured that they will have their "day in the sun." It is this absolute assurance of the certain reward of merit that accounts for the spirit and willingness of Skaggs men wherever you find them, and welds into one harmonious whole the more than 300 widely scattered units.

STATE SWAPS DEER, PHEASANT EGGS FOR 15 WILD TURKEYS

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 4.—Fifteen wild turkeys, five from Maryland and 10 from Arizona, were received in November by the Oregon game commission, says the monthly report of state game warden E. P. Averill. With these birds as a nucleus, the commission plans to rear turkeys for release in eastern Oregon.

The commission traded two deer for the Maryland shipment and six pheasant eggs for those from Arizona and fifty Gambel quail yet to come.

The commission has issued permits for the taking of a limited number of game fish for nature study work in schools. Averill has recommended that the commission prepare exhibits of study specimens of game and of insectivorous birds for use in the schools.

Fall rains have lessened the loss of ducks in the Lake section near the California line, according to the report. Mild weather has made duck and goose shooting below normal except in Klamath county.

PIERCE REFUSES PAROLE TO SON OF WELFARE WORKER

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 4.—Allan McLaren, Portland youth, is expected at the state penitentiary today to begin serving his four-year term for a statutory crime committed in Clackamas county. Both his father, W. G. McLaren, welfare and rescue worker of Federal and former member of the state parole board, and the lad's mother have made personal appeals to Governor Pierce to extend leniency to the youth, but the governor has been unyielding. Gladwyn Lawbaugh, another youth implicated in the crime, is serving five years, and a third one, Archie Livingstone, was paroled from the bench by Judge Campbell of Clackamas county.

Came Home to Die

"Three years ago I came home thinking 2 or 3 weeks would be my limit to live. I had suffered for 15 years from colic attacks and severe liver and stomach trouble. I happened to see an advertisement of May's Wonderful Remedy and purchased a bottle at the drug store and after taking the first dose I felt better than I had for 15 years. I am now in the best of health—thanks to May's Wonderful Remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the extraneous mucus from the intestinal tract, and relieves the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at all times."

STATE ENGINEER OFF TO ATTEND IMPORTANT MEET

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 1.—Rhea L. Taylor, state engineer, will leave Sunday for Seattle and Washington, D. C., to attend conference in which the state of Oregon is vitally interested. At Seattle a conference has been called by the western division of the United States Chamber of Commerce on water reclamation, and primarily relative to the allocation of water from the Columbia river.

In Washington, D. C. the reclamation service has called a conference on reclamation, settlement and farm development. The question whether the states should cooperate with the government in settlement of reclaimed lands will be emphasized.

AUTO THIEF TAKES $1,000 WORTH OF BUTTER
 SANDY, Ore., Dec. 4.—Robbers last night took 2,000 pounds of butter, valued at more than $1,000, from the local grocery, according to Sheriff E. T. Mass. A truck broken on the rear door, a truck loaded to the door and the butter loaded aboard.

TAX REDUCTION TO BE FIRST LABOR OF THE NEW CONGRESS

(Associated Press Special Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—A program for the opening day of the house calling for organization and the receipt of the report on the tax reduction bill was agreed to today at a conference of republican leaders.

The tax bill will be taken up for consideration on the second day after the reading of the President's message. Organization of most committees will not be attempted until after election of a speaker and adoption of rules and Representative Longworth, speaker-designate, reiterated today that the floor was open to republican insurgents to show their intentions of party regularity by their votes on these propositions. These votes will guide party leaders in assisting insurgents to committee posts.

The policy announced last session of removing from "key" committee places republican members who supported the presidential candidacy of Robert M. La Follette will be carried out but how far this program will be affected in organization of other committees apparently hinges on the attitude of the insurgent group in the senate.

LITTLE ROCK, Dec. 3.—A unified service was advocated here today by United States Senator Joseph T. Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, minority leader in the senate, in a statement given out shortly before his departure for Washington for the opening of congress. He expressed the belief that this would be one of the five major issues before congress.

PORTLAND BACKS UMATILLA RAPIDS CANAL PROJECT

(Associated Press Special Wire.)

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 3.—Portland's interest in the development of the Umatilla Rapids project on the upper Columbia was demonstrated today at a conference of local business men held with Angelo Wells, economic expert of the United States Bureau of Reclamation, under auspices of the reclamation committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Portland business men pledged their hearty support to the project, saying that this city is vitally interested, not only from the standpoint of reclamation of many thousands of acres of land, but in the hydro-electric and the open river transportation features of the project.

W. L. Boise, chairman of the reclamation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, stressed the point while primarily the proposed development was to reclaim many thousand acres of arid land and make them productive, the canalization of the Columbia which will permit of water transportation from the interior hinterland and the development of a great amount of hydro-electric energy were developments which should be given careful consideration in the final report on the project.

"What we need most is people on our lands," said Boise. "This project offers great possibilities in agricultural development. Power can be developed for less than it can be produced by public utility companies and the sale of this power will reduce the cost of reclamation. I am reliably informed that public utility companies will take all the surplus power if it is offered to them at a reasonable figure."

He further said that local business men through the Oregon development fund stand ready to aid in pacing settlers on the project.

J. N. Teal spoke of the futures of the project; Wilfred Allen, president of the Oregon Irrigation Congress, pledged support of his organization and made a plea for the opportunity to develop more farms and thereby increase the productivity of the northwest; William Warner of Alderdale told of the great possibilities of the project.

NEW INVENTION SAVES MILLIONS

A LAMP THAT BURNS 94% AIR
 A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 25 leading universities and found to be superior to 30 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—its pumping up is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, O. M. Johnson, 161 North Union avenue, Portland, Ore., is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality, who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $200 to $500 per month.

FRENCH NOVEL LOSING HOLD ON PEOPLE AS TIMES CHANGE

PARIS, Dec. 2.—Changed times in Europe are lessening the popularity of the French novel. People in France are studying more closely economic and social questions. Works on history, costing three times the price of the novel have found a remarkable sale, and there also has been a revival of editions of Greek and Roman classics in the original text and in translation.

Of the 8987 books published in France last year, only 1,148 were novels, while 2,698 were on social and economic questions. A comparison of books on sale with those offered before the World war showed a greatly marked improvement in taste.

ULSTER NOT DISTURBED IN BOUNDARY TREATY

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The settlement of the Irish boundary question, the terms of which were made public tonight, revokes article 12 of the Anglo-Irish treaty, providing for the boundary commission, leaves the territory of Ulster as settled by the treaty and releases the free state from its obligation under article five of the treaty to assume a portion of the United Kingdom's public debt.

Give As Tho They Were Yours

The orphans of the Near East need your help! Will you give it?

President Coolidge endorses this organized Near East relief. He says, "Observing the Golden Rule we should from our abundance help and serve those less fortunately placed."

Are You Serving Your Grocer

Or is he serving you? The difference between a service grocer and a non-service grocer is this: The service grocer takes your order over the telephone and delivers your goods to your kitchen. The non-service grocer makes you drive your car to his store and then you carry your groceries home yourself. Who gives the delivery service, you or your grocer? It costs no more to let him serve you. You don't have to pay him for the privilege of serving him. Send your order. We are here to serve you and at the same time offer the highest quality goods at the lowest possible price. Telephone us your order. We will deliver the goods, rain or shine, and it costs you no more.
