DR. OLSON WILL SPEAK AT ARMORY AT 7:30 TONIGHT

Dr. David Eugene Olson, of Eugene, is to speak at the armory tonight at 7:30 o'clock, on the subject of oil explorations in Oregon. Dr. Olson is at the head of the large company now drilling at Eugene and at other places in Lane county. He is considered one of the foremost geologists of the country, having visited practically all of the oil and gas fields in America, Mexico and Canada, and is now one of the leaders in the exploration work in Oregon. His lecture tonight will deal with geological formation showing the reasons why he believes there is oil to be found in this state. His lecture will be of great interest to all who are concerned with the development of the oil prospects of Oregon.

MORRIS BROTHERS' CREDITORS GIVEN FINAL PAYMENTS

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 15.—Final dividend to creditors of the defunct bond house of Morris Brothers, Inc., was authorized today by the federal court to be paid to the approximately 1500 creditors whose losses commenced to accrue five years ago.

The dividend is at the rate of 1.534 per cent to both non-assenting creditors, whose interests were guarded by Earl C. Bronaugh as trustee in bankruptcy, and to the group of creditors who elected to pursue an independent course by attempting to reorganize the wrecked institution. This final payment brings the total recovery to the creditors who did not join the reorganization pool up to 46.534 per cent. Those creditors who joined the reorganization pool, promoted by J. C. Cunningham and associates, recovered their losses up to approximately 53.5 per cent.

Antlers Theatre.
Presenting a fresh and sparkling story, a cast of celebrated names, a modern version of life, a plot with a unique twist, and Marion Davies as he stars, "Zander the Great," the newest Cosmopolitan production released through Metro-Goldwyn, will be shown at the Antlers Theatre beginning Friday.

"Zander the Great," was adapted by Frances Marion from the Salisbury Field stage play, in which Alice Brady starred for almost two years on Broadway. Marion Davies is given unusual opportunity for her versatility in the role of Mamie, a little orphan girl, who is left with a motherless child to care for. Combining deft comedy touches with strong drama and with a western twang to the later episodes of the picture, "Zander" is a genuine novelty and one which promises a new achievement for Miss Davies.

Liberty Theatre.
Planned along fairly familiar western lines, but lightened with the bright comedy which differentiates all Fred Thomson pictures from the average westerns, illumined by some splendid acting, and fairly blazing with the combination of real cowboy round-ups and smashing thrills, "All Around Frynk Pan," proves one of the most delightful and interesting pictures seen in a long time. The famous Alturas Round-up has been built into the story of Frank Richardson Pierce, with Fred and Silver King as actual contestants. Fred's great mount is an acting role that tests his skill; for he starts out as a wild-eyed bucker which nobody can ride, and finishes as himself—a heroic horse. Little Miss Clara Horton has the feminine lead opposite Mr. Thomson, and she is both clever and lovely. Director David Kirkland handled his situations with fine skill, and there are hearty laughs bristling thru the production. "All Around Frynk Pan" will be shown for the last time today at the Liberty Theatre.

Antlers Theatre.
"Feet of Clay," the latest production for Paramount by the man who made "The Ten Commandments," will be shown for the first time in Roseburg at the Antlers Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. The story is one of New York and California and features Rod La Rocque, Vera Reynolds, Victor Varconi, Ricardo Cortez, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff and Robert Edison in the principal roles. It is an adaptation by Benish Marie Dix and Bessie Millhauser of the sensational successful magazine story of that name by Margareta Tuttle.

The California episode consists of exotic beach carnival scenes at Catalina Island. You've never seen anything like it in all your born days. The New York scenes fill according to the best DeWille standards of dramatic contrast, between the Harlem flat of Vera Reynolds and Rod La Rocque and the luxurious home of Julia Faye. Amy's half-sister, and her husband, played by Robert Edison.

If you're looking for real screen entertainment and that "something new" in motion pictures, we say don't miss "Feet of Clay."

LISSNER TO QUIT; AIDS COOLIDGE IN BERT HANEY'S CASE

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Meyer Lissner, member of the shipping board from the Pacific coast, has resigned, effective December 31. Mr. Lissner's intention to resign because of ill health had been known, but no date had been fixed for his retirement. His successor has not been selected.

It is considered certain that Lissner will be succeeded by a California democrat, leaving President Coolidge free to appoint an Oregon republican to replace Bert E. Haney, democrat, of that state, whose resignation he has requested.

There Is Variety in the New Shoes

New Fabrics, Colors and Trimmings With a Simplicity of Line Mark the Mode of Chic Footwear

Putting the best foot forward in the world of fashion reveals a shoe that is smartly simple, but very new in material. From the early hours of the day, when the mule of rich silk or brocade is discarded with the negligee, the foot takes on an air of importance with its correct covering. A simple walking shoe, in Oxford design, but with new lines about the instep and a cut-out effect at the lacing, establish an air of chic in the very first shoes of the day. There is also a smart Oxford type of shoe for walking and shopping in the morning which boasts alligator skin for its chief charm, and is very new and chic. There are also combinations such as alligator and snakeskin, or lizards and brown leather, all of which may be smartly combined in but one shoe. An Oxford, which has dressier tendencies, is made of antelope and combines its comfort giving lines with a high heel for fashion trends. Cut-out modernistic designs in bronze kids or patent leather lend a new note and are very good to the eye. A different type of shoe for the tailored mode, and which may also be worn well into the afternoon, is the patent leather bolero pump with inserts of lizard trimmings. This same type of shoe when used in harmony with brown or beige tones may be found in brown oxe with lizard trimmings. Pumps of plain patent leather, with simple lines unadorned, or accompany the fur coat with the correct note of chic. The cut steel buckle always appears to advantage on this particular model and is smartly worn. Bronze kid in the simple pump with bronze buckle is also correctly worn with the afternoon costume. A simple dress shoe is of black antelope with patent leather heel and a silk bow smartly tied in front and tipped with brass. Another good model is the patent leather sandal with one broad or two narrow straps stitched in a light tone. The patent leather pump with heel and band of snakeskin serves a fashionable purpose for the afternoon appearance, while snakeskin with bandings of a plain kid is also a smart shoe for the more formal moments of the day. In general the mode for daytime smartness stresses the use of interesting new materials and colors applied to the simplest shapes. For the evening the art of the shoe comes to its peak of perfection. There are few shoes smarter for evening than the metallic kid. Diamond buckles applied at the fronts or sides of the shoes are inspired ornaments, while the addition of gold and silver braidings of the kid make for smartness. The checkerboard design is smartly used in various colored kidskins. The blond satin is smarter than ever for the evening, and is particularly lovely in the simple pump design with rhinestone trimmings. The satin pump and slipper achieves the highest degree of chic when used in yellow greens, mauve and other delicate tints. Copper cloth and silver and gold cloth, when used in combination with each other, are very elegant in the sandal types. The checkerboard trimming is used most on the newest models in the evening slipper. Norma Talmadge, who was so charming a Princess Yvette in the First National film "Graustark," brought home from Paris a lovely assortment of slippers and pumps and Oxfords for every moment of a perfectly dressed day.
