

Better Than a Auction Sale!

The Pumpkin Center Store

Consolidates stock with the Goose Hollow store (a suburb of Glide). Ezra Hopkins (alias Cliff Lily) has been persuaded by C. M. (the widow's friend) to become the friend of all the widows of Salem, Oregon, and he has practically given us his stock and we are in turn passing the saving on to the consumer. The "Dear Consumer" is being ardently courted these fast and keen days by purveyors of gen. mdes. He and his cash must be had or the sheriff. Now Ezra's stock makes ours too large by heck and we've got to reduce. Did you ever see a real country store in operation. Perhaps at a carnival, but here's the real thing. If prices could talk we'd get a cussing coz they are going to get all mutilated.

BUSY YEAR IS REPORTED BY LOCAL CHAMBER

survey of the retail distribution of farm products in the county. A committee reporting on the lumber industry, and on the commercial fishing and one on mining. The survey of the retail distribution of farm products locally brought to the attention of the public conditions which were of sufficient interest to secure one and one-half columns on the editorial page of the Oregonian. These committees then combined their reports which was read in the conference and filed for publication. The committee recommended the following: "In order that advantages of our local market may be fully utilized your committee recommends that a committee be appointed which will represent our lumber, fishing and mining industries, the farmers and distributors. Charge this committee with the task of farming a constructive plan to increase the consumption of home grown crops on the local markets and request an early report."

The North Umpqua Road Committee was charged with the task of seeing that this road was completed to Diamond Lake and in order that we might be sure to have it done Messrs. A. C. Marsters, T. H. Ness, and W. J. Weaver were named on the committee. This committee made a trip over the road from Roseburg to Diamond Lake and return, taking with them a representative of the county court, the Coos Bay districts, the local press, the Forest Service and other interested parties. The matter was presented to Representative Hawley and to Senator Stanfield and has been taken up before W. B. Greeley, Forester and District Forester C. M. Granger. The committee also secured the endorsement of the Reedsport, Gardiner and all of the Coos County Chambers of Commerce in presenting the matter to the State Highway Commission meeting in December.

A number of conferences have been attended. The Secretary's Short Course at Eugene in July was attended by the Secretary and on Directors Day by Messrs. T. H. Ness and G. K. Quine, Jr. The Regional Agricultural Conference of the United States Chamber of Commerce was held in Portland on July 25, and was attended by Mr. Foster Butler and the Secretary. The reports of these Regional Conferences should be of interest to every business man in Douglas County whether he lives in the city or on the farm. There are copies on file in the office of the conference already held that are available to any member of the organization. The Southwestern Oregon Chamber of Commerce Association met in September at Ashland and formed a permanent organization. The second meeting was held at Grants Pass and attended by President Crocker and the Secretary where a matter of cooperative advertising was thoroughly discussed and the plan deferred for the present because the advertising budget in nearly all of the organizations has been exhausted. This will no doubt come up again, believing that the proper way for us to advertise our attractions is to do so cooperatively rather than each community for itself.

The District Meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce was held at Seattle December 7 and 8, and was attended by your Secretary who also remained over for the Washington Association of Commercial Organizations. Secretaries meeting was featured day. The Mid-Year Meeting was featured by a splendid address by the President, John W. O'Leary, who stated among other things that men in business were, he believed, now more readily accepting the responsibility of leadership in promoting community welfare; by a most interesting and educational address by Capt. Robert Dollar of San Francisco, the Cappy Ricks of fiction fame; and by an especially snappy personal debate on the question of municipally owned power plants. The Secretaries meeting was featured by the address of President Combs of the Seattle Chamber; a paper by W. L. Miller, President of the California Association of Commercial Secretaries on "Selling the Chamber of Commerce to the Community and Keeping It Sold," and the well organized "Steam Roller" tactics used by the California Secretaries Organization in having the Western School for Commercial Organizations Secretaries located at Stanford University.

Realizing that the frequent drives for funds and the numerous personal solicitations for money were both annoying and uneconomical, President Crocker brought the matter of a Community Chest before the Directors and the officers of the Community Chest at Marshfield explained how it was handled in their city and the success they had realized. The report of the Marshfield officials was so satisfactory that the Community Chest plan was adopted, a campaign committee appointed, the funds raised, and placed in the hands of responsible officials. This will save several thousand dollars annually to this community and assures a more orderly official method of financing worthy tourist and charity cases.

One of the most important committees named for this year's work is only now in the process of organization. It is the City Parks Committee. It must consider suitable playgrounds for the children, suitable parks for recreation, suitable appearance of home yards at the highway entrances to the city and other matters which can and should be undertaken by it. This committee has a heavy task assigned and one which will take long to complete.

Regarding the land settlement which is one of the problems in Douglas County, we try to reach the prospect in the registration of tourist cards, in answering direct inquiries received by mail, in selection from the list of inquiries sent to the Land Settlement Committee of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, and last and of most importance the prospect who has arrived in Douglas County and who visits the Chamber of Commerce. We have had a number of the latter since the first of October and now we have a growing list of those who have bought land in the county. The members of this organization are urged to cooperate in forming a visiting committee to call upon these families at their homes and bid them a welcome here and offer the good fellowship of the organization.

More important than land settlement is that of finding a better and a more orderly method of marketing farm products. Our work on that question has been referred to in the recommendation contained in our report to the Economic Conference, and show in our cooperation with the Marketing Department of the Portland Chamber of Commerce. Inquiries for information are so numerous, so varied and many times so unexpected that it is difficult to make an intelligent report on the work done in this matter. A great many people want jobs and these inquiries come by letter and in person. We have been able to furnish farmer inquirers with help and in that way we perform a real service to the community. We have inquiries for business opportunities and if any of you lawyers think there is an opportunity for another attorney; and if any of the doctors think there is a need for a new physician; or if you dentists have more work than you can do and think we need another dentist in Roseburg; if any of you men in the mercantile business think that there are not enough to properly serve the community in an efficient and an economic manner, please advise some of our inquiries to come. We have frequent inquiries for building locations, inquiries from people who, no doubt, would make good citizens, but whom it does not appear to be advisable to invite here if they come at the expense of the prosperity of those we now have engaged in the same line of endeavor.

Inquiries about roads and auto routes, fishing, hunting, camping and other recreational matters are frequent and answered most promptly. Our files enable us to answer most questionnaires. City and county officials and business men are always ready to assist with facts, when possible, or guesses based on facts and experience, which is sometimes all that can be had. In a general way we answer over five hundred inquiries for special information each month and sent out four hundred and fifty letters in the same time. This is not giving you in full all matters undertaken. That is impossible at one time. Very much like statistics, important but tiresome. The above are some of the most striking of the activities.

SUPREME COURT GIVES FREEDOM TO DENTIST OF ELGIN

Presence of Embryo Child Not Proved in Case of Woman Upon Whom He Operated.

(Associated Press Special Wire.) SALEM, Ore., Dec. 15.—E. O. Willson, a dentist of Elgin, Ore., who was convicted in the lower court for Union county on a charge of manslaughter, in connection with an illegal operation on a young woman who was in a delicate condition due to her alleged relations with him, is given his liberty by an opinion of the supreme court today, reversing the verdict in Judge J. W. Knoles' court. The opinion was written by Justice Burnett.

Willson was sentenced by the lower court to serve two years in the penitentiary and pay a fine of $500. The opinion of the supreme court hinges on failure of proof that an embryo child was actually killed by the operation performed upon the woman by the dentist. The supreme court, in an opinion by Justice Rand, affirmed Judge T. E. Duffy of the lower court for Douglas county in the case of the state against Ace Dobson, who was convicted in the justice and circuit courts of selling intoxicating liquor. The main contention of the defendant was that the complaint charged that the defendant "did then and there sell intoxicating liquor," etc., without there having been inserted before the word "sell" the word "unlawfully." Judge Rand points out that in Oregon any sale of intoxicating liquor is unlawful, unless it is ethyl alcohol under certain conditions, and the sale charged against Dobson did not come under this provision.

ELKS XMAS PARTY EVENT THURSDAY

One of the most enjoyable dances of the year will take place on Thursday night when the Elks and their ladies will gather for their annual Christmas party. The Christmas party this year will combine with ladies night, when the ladies will pay the expenses of the dance, ask the gentlemen for dances, and otherwise usurp the privileges of the stronger sex. Ladies night has always been the occasion for an informal good time, and combined with the annual Christmas party is expected to be one of the best dances of the year. The hall will be lavishly decorated with the Christmas motif, and the dance will be semi-formal. In charge of arrangements for the dance are Mrs. M. E. Dwyer, Mrs. Clyde Catching, Mrs. W. G. Cordon, Mrs. O. D. McAllister, and Mrs. George Wharton. The Swanes Screeners will play, and there will be the usual card games in the ladies parlors. Many out of town Elks are planning on attending this dance, and all visiting members are invited.

KLAMATH CLOSES SCHOOLS ALONE TO AVOID AN EPIDEMIC

(Associated Press Special Wire.) KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 15.—With two deaths from spinal meningitis here within the past few days and with four known cases of the disease, the city council last night decided that closing of the schools was a sufficient check to the menace. Stores, theatres, churches and other places of public amusement will be allowed to remain open. There were no new cases of the disease reported today. Barbecue sandwiches and coffee—Oh, Boy!
