WOMAN SUSPECTED OF DROWNING HER CHILD IN BATHTUB

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
BRAWLEY, Cal., Dec. 17.—Mrs. Louisa Zamora, was arrested here today on telegraphic information from Tracy, Cal., where she is desired for questioning concerning the death of her four-year old daughter Leonora, last year. Her husband, believed to have been with Mrs. Zamora here, is now being sought by the police. The child was believed to have been drowned in a bathtub after its arms were tied and the body hidden in a sanitary vault in the yard of the Zamora home at Tracy. The body was found by workmen several months later. A three-year old child was with Mrs. Zamora at the time of her arrest.

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
STOCKTON, Calif., Dec. 17.—Discovery September 16 of the body of Leonora Aguilar, aged 4, in a cesspool at the rear of the Zamora home in Tracy, from which she had been missing since Christmas Eve, 1924, caused the authorities to start a search for her mother and her step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Zamora, who disappeared a week before the ghastly find. They were believed to be in Los Angeles, but could not be found. It is rumored that other adopted children of the couple had been mysteriously slain and buried, but no trace of these was found upon investigation.

THEATRES

Antlers Theatre
One of the most brilliant casts ever assembled to support a motion picture star is that which is seen with Marion Davies in her newest photoplay, "Zander the Great," a picturization of Salisbury Field's stage success of the same name, opening at the Antlers theatre today.

As Mamie, heroine of "Zander the Great," Miss Davies is surrounded by a cast of noted players that sounds like the blue book of filmdom. Among them are Holbrook Blinn of "The Bad Man" fame and who also was featured with the Cosmopolitan star in "Yolanda" and "Janice Meredith," and Harrison Ford, who played opposite Miss Davies in "Little Old New York" and "Janice Meredith."

Majestic Theatre

Buck Jones' latest starring picture, "Durand of the Band Lands," which opens tonight at the Majestic theatre, is undoubtedly the best western thriller that this hard-riding cowboy has made. Directed by Lynn Reynolds, maker of "The Lone Star Ranger" and "The Deadwood Coach," this production fairly breathes the spirit of the West and is full of action, pathos and humor, from the first title to the fadeout.

The story, by Malbelle Helkes Justice, involves an alleged outlaw and the daughter of a desert recluse. Into this pretty romance is injected the menace of an unscrupulous sheriff, a gold robbery and other intrigue. While some of the incidents savor of other western productions, the treatment has a freshness and originality that holds the spectators' attention throughout.

Liberty Theatre

In "Camille of the Barbary Coast," which is now at the Liberty theatre, a picture thrown against the background of the old red-light district in San Francisco, there is a scene which recalls the days when the bouncer was a personage of some standing. The honky tonk dance halls show him in all his glory, with his burly frame always ready to toss the unwelcome merry-makers into the discard or shift the scene of action of the men—and women—who have partaken of too much firewater, for those were the days when every town was wet without voting.

The colorful scenes in the dance hall are enlivened by the bouncer tending to his official duties. Just a nod from the barkeeper and the ceremony starts—and is quickly ended as human forms are picked up bodily and hurled into the open space or are carried to the doorway.

"Camille of the Barbary Coast" is replete with dramatic action. The theme concerns a love affair between the notorious Camille, queen of the Midway, and Bob Norton, ne'er-do-well son of a wealthy banker. It answers in a convincing way the age-old question of whether or not a woman of the underworld can again take her place in society.
