DEADLOCK ON WORD COURT VOTE STANDS

Agree to Permit Action on Tax Reduction Bill First, But No Date Set.

HAVE A PAID LOBBY

Peace Prize Organization Sends Telegrams Asking Supporters to Write Senators at Once.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Failing to obtain an agreement for definite dates to vote on either the tax reduction bill or the world court, proponents of the court served notice today that they would hold it continuously before the senate until a roll call was called.

Senator Reed got into an argument with Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, as to whether the Carnegie fortune is behind the movement for American adhesion to the court.

Senator Walsh said the official organ of the Carnegie foundation had been silent on the court question and those in charge are against the court, but Senator Reed replied:

"Carnegie money is behind the propaganda and I will prove it if you will let us have the fun you have asked for."

Senator Reed said it was time for the American people to awake to the horrible fact, that there is an offensive and defensive coalition of fifty-five nations, forming the League of Nations, to make war upon the United States, should this country attempt to resort to arms to enforce its rights without the consent of the league.

"If the people understood this there is not a county in the United States," he declared, "in which soldiers would not be drilling within 48 hours."

Senator Reed continued his speech throughout most of today's session. At one point he charged that "a trade had been made with the man in the White House," and branded as "disloyal," the efforts of the court supporters to take the United States across the seas to the affairs of Europe.

Turning to leaders in the fight for the court, he shouted: "If that does not please you, gentlemen, make the most of it."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Supporters of the world court today agreed to a proposal of the opposition to permit action on the tax reduction bill before a vote on the court. If the court opponents would agree to a definite date for a final action on the tax bill.

Senator Curtis, the republic leader, said he believed an agreement would be reached before the end of the day.

Negotiations for an agreement to set February 10 for a vote on the revenue bill and 10 days later for final action on the court collapsed, at least temporarily, when opponents of the tax bill notified leaders they would not accept a definite date. Opponents of the world court countered that they would agree to no time for voting on the court.

Chairman Snoot of the finance committee, in charge of the tax bill, said the senate must act if the proposed tax reduction is to affect the March 15 tax payments. After passage it must go to conference.

This was said to be agreeable to Parr and the trio departed for Galena to have the marriage performed to consummate the deal.

SEA-GOING TUG CAPTURED WITH A BOOZE CARGO

Marine Police Seize Tug Which Was Loaded With Hootch

CHASED INTO DOCK

Crew Opened Sea-Cocks and Escaped But Officers Keep Boat From Sinking

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Marine police early today seized the ocean-going tug Rescue with a cargo of liquor said to be worth more than a half million dollars after a chase off Sandy Hook in which half a dozen shots from a one-pounder were fired.

The Rescue is valued at about $250,000. The present owner is unknown to the police.

A coast guard launch first observed the Rescue and fired a shot across her bow. The tug put on speed. A police launch bearing shots, joined the chase and fired several hundred rounds from a machine gun but the tug was not struck.

Meantime the Rescue extinguished its running lights and boldly entered the harbor and went to a slip at Jefferson Street. Before the blue boats could reach her the Rescue's sea-cocks had been opened and most of the crew had fled. The four men who remained aboard surrendered. Policemen dove into the water in the hold and closed the sea-cocks.

Coast guard officials said the craft had on board over 25,000 cases of assorted wines and liquors.

Coast guard officials said they received a tip three weeks ago that the tug was bound for New York with a million dollar cargo.

"GOOD MORNING" IS SENATOR SUBSTITUTE FOR A "GOOD LICKIN"

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Representative Blanton, Democrat of Texas, substituted a silently coded "good morning" for a promised "good lickin'" when he met Representative Reid, Republican, of Illinois today, but he took occasion to assail the Illinois member in a statement.

The two clashed last night at a meeting of the house committee considering legislation for the District of Columbia and the talk of a "lickin'" followed.

In his statement, Mr. Blanton charged Mr. Reid with attempting "to hamper me in every ridiculous way possible" instead of cooperating in an effort to protect the rights of the people of Washington.

"When I learn that the 'cards are stacked,'" he said, "I quit the game. When I am 'cold decked' I don't play any more."

STATE GAME WARDEN AVERILL ASKS SPORTSMEN TO SEND ANY "KICKS" ABOUT ORDER TO HIM

Closing of Certain Streams Ordered for Conservation of Fish, He Says, But Commission Ready to Hear All Complaints.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 21.—State Game Warden Ed. P. Averill today asked sportsmen of the state to forward to him any objections which they may have to orders recently issued by the game commission closing certain streams for conservation purposes. He asked that the objections be specific as to streams. His statement follows:

"All recent orders of the state game commission closing certain streams to angling will not be put into effect until after the February meeting. The purpose of holding them up is to give an opportunity to correct any errors that have been made. Every one of such orders was made in accordance with recommendations received from the organized sportsmen in each of the counties affected."

"The commission desires to hear from each sportsman having any objections to offer. It is important that those making objections should state the names of the streams affected by the closing orders which they think should be left open. All petitions should set forth clearly the streams which the signers want left open. Those signing petitions should also give their address and the name of the sportsmen organization with which they are affiliated."

"The closing orders were all made uniform for a period of ten years, the reason being that while it is a complicated and expensive matter to close any waters to angling, it is a very simple and inexpensive matter to open them. Any streams closed by the commission will be reopened at any time the organized sportsmen of the county in which the streams are located ask for it."

"The purpose of the closing orders is to establish feeders for the main fishing streams. The commission is now planting only four to six inch trout. These are being held in rearing ponds at hatcheries and are unaccustomed to battling for existence. If liberated in the main streams many of them immediately fall a prey to their larger cannibalistic brothers. If liberated in the small feeder tributaries they will be caught out as rapidly as planted because they are accustomed to taking everything thrown into the water. If they are planted only in the small tributaries which are closed to angling they grow, become accustomed to life in the natural wild conditions and drift out into the main streams to keep them automatically stocked."

FOUR-SQUARE GOSPEL FORCES WITHDRAW SUIT

Case Ends in Prayer and Humility, As Opposing Sides Shake Hands

BOTH SIDES PRAISED

Judge Evans Comments Upon Display of Christian Charity—Rev. Miller Surrenders

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) MEDFORD, Ore., Jan. 21.—According to a statement made this morning by their attorneys, Newbury and Newbury, the followers of the Almeda McPherson Four-Square Gospel, New Movement, will continue that faith with the Rev. B. C. Miller, as the pastor, and the followers of the established Baptist faith, under the Rev. M. S. Woodworth, as their leader.

By his dramatic withdrawal from the legal action yesterday afternoon, the Rev. Miller relinquished all claim to the name and property of the Baptist church. The regular flock has been holding services in the church since last July, when they gained possession by a coup, and the "Four-Square Gospel" have been worshipping in halls and the homes of the followers.

The suit was unique in Oregon Jurisprudence, what is known as the "Philomath College case," being the nearest approach.

The sincerity, honesty and charity of the opposing witnesses was commended by Judge Walter J. Evans of Portland, in a talk before a service club Wednesday noon, and in his remarks when the case was over.

MEDFORD, Ore., Jan. 21.—In prayer and humility, the suit of the Ashland Baptist Church, applicants of the established Baptist faith, against the First Baptist Church, Inc., for settlement of church property rights, dramatically terminated late Wednesday afternoon when the Rev. B. C. Miller, leader of the "Almeda McPherson Four-Square Gospel" forces withdrew.

The court, with Judge Walter H. Evans on the bench, reached the conclusion of his direct testimony, legal formalities attendant upon the dismissal of the action, the first of its kind in the history of Oregon Jurisprudence, it is claimed, will be completed, and the issue formally closed next Monday.

Rev. Miller said he was prompted in his action after talking to the Rev. W. B. Hinson of Portland Tuesday, and a meeting of members of his flock, in which the conclusion had been reached "that we lose if we win, and our Lord suffereth the most."

"You may have the house upon the hill, the parsonage, and the name of Baptist," Rev. Miller said. "I have made my sacrifice. I have lost my Baptist standing and many Baptist friends."

DAPPER POLICE SLAYER AND HIS EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD BRIDE ARE HELD AFTER A LENGTHY SEARCH

"Government Always Gets Its Man"—Story of His Flight Is Pieced Together—Killed Two Officers—Makes Last Effort to Escape But Plans Thwarted.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—A death verdict for Martin J. Durkin, youthful slayer of two officers jailed here today after his capture near St. Louis yesterday, will be the demand of the prosecution.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, indicated that the noose would be demanded for the slaying of Edward C. Shanahan, federal operative, who sought to arrest Durkin for an automobile theft and was shot to death.

Meanwhile, Durkin's attorney sought to have him removed from an outlying police station to the county jail. At the police station unusual precautions were taken. Durkin was placed in a special cell and four heavily armed detectives were stationed outside.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Martin Durkin, "sheik bandit," who faces two murder indictments and Betty Werner, his former sweetheart, for the comfort of whose baby boy Durkin walked into a police trap which cost two lives, faced each other in the state attorney's office today.

Excuses and explanations sprang from each, while Durkin's 18-year-old bride looked on, out of earshot.

Yesterday Durkin said Miss Werner had helped "frame" him. Previously Betty was quoted as having said she was "through" with him. Prior to that they had sworn undying love.

"You couldn't find me so you took the next best you could find," were Betty's first words.

Durkin countered that he had read a newspaper quotation that she was "through."

"I read lots about you, Marty, but I didn't believe anything," Miss Werner replied.

"No matter where you were, I would have come for you," replied Durkin. "I put advertisements in the newspapers telling you to come to Michigan and meet or communicate with my mother, but you did neither."

The next remarks, lost to those near them, caused the prisoner to smile.

"Don't stand there and laugh," Betty fairly shouted. "Go back to your wife and don't make a chump of her as you have of me."

Durkin returned to his wife and three kisses brought a smile to her face.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Martin J. Durkin, dapper police slayer, captured in St. Louis with his 18 year old bride, was in the hands of his prosecutors today—proof as federal agents phased it, that "the government always gets its man."

Federal officers have trailed him virtually from coast to coast, some times only 24 hours behind him since he killed Edward C. Shanahan, government agent, October 11, and shot his way out of a police trap, killing Sergeant Harry Gray, two weeks later.

And today the government had joined with the state authorities to bring him to trial as soon as possible, probably March 1, with the galleys the objective of the prosecution.

Durkin made one last desperate effort yesterday to escape the captors, who hemmed him in on route from St. Louis to Chicago. Despite the shackles on wrists and ankles, he reached around his wife and sought to grab a guard's pistol. But an operative seized his wrist and the attempt failed.

After that he manifested slight concern. His first query on his arrival was for his lawyer. His relatives were reported making an effort to obtain Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, to defend him.

Through the night, prosecutors questioned him, his wife, Irma, daughter of Bert Sullivan, village blacksmith of Cornell, Illinois, his cousin, Harriet Gallo of Brooklyn, and Betty Werner, Durkin's former sweetheart, for whose baby's clothing Durkin dashed the police trap set at her uncle's house. From their answers, the state's attorney pieced together the story of his flight.

Miss Gallo related how Durkin, after killing Gray, dressed himself in feminine attire in New York and calmly powdered his nose in the presence of policemen who were questioning Miss Gallo. In woman's garb he returned to Chicago and planted his bloody clothing on the Michigan Boulevard bride with a note indicating he had committed suicide.

Then Irma and his parents took up the narrative. She met him two years ago at a Chicago municipal beach. They corresponded, Durkin representing himself as R. T. Connelly, a bond salesman. On December 2, he came in a big blue sedan to Cornell and the next day they eloped to St. Louis, Durkin giving his name as James Durkey in obtaining the license.

Durkin told the rest. With Irma, who knew he was Durkin, the hunted gunman, within a few days after their marriage, he went to Los Angeles, with federal officers not far behind. He stole an automobile in Hollywood, boldly driving it out of the sanatorium. The federal agents learned of the theft and surmised he would come east.

The fugitive, his wife and a police dog drove into Pecos, Texas, last Sunday. A Sheriff there stopped them, but a California deputy star and a glib story of being on a hunting trip to account for the weapons in the machine won them freedom and a letter to other Texas officers to extend them courtesies.

Durkin sensed danger and turned his flight toward Mexico. But a burned out bearing forced him to abandon the automobile near Girvin, Pecos county, Texas, and board a train at Alpias, Texas, for San Antonio. They hid in San Antonio until Tuesday. The federal men in Dallas learned the quarry had passed there and wired ahead to St. Louis. The capture at Webster Grove, Mo., yesterday forenoon, resulted.

Durkin admitting killing Shanahan, but said he thought he was a robber. The death of Gray and Lloyd Austin, in whose flat the trap was laid, he attributed to police bullets in the wild shooting that ensued when he appeared with Betty Werner.

Durkin was shot through the arm in escaping from the Austin flat. He was treated by Dr. David V. Omens, who later told his story to the police. But Durkin had fled Chicago then.

Carl Deitch, of Dixonville, was a business visitor in this city for a short time yesterday afternoon.

TED TYE WINS FROM AL KARASICK

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 21.—Ted Tye, Portland light heavyweight wrestler, last night won two out of three falls in his match with Al Karasick, of Oakland, Cal.

Tye won the first and third falls, both with toe holds, while Karasick pinned Tye with a reverse headlock for the second fall.

Durkin told the rest. With Irma, who knew he was Durkin,
