SECOND CHARGE BROUGHT AGAINST GEO. HOLTSCLAW

George Holtsclaw, who has been held in the county jail for the past week on a charge of unlawful possession of a still, was today arraigned on another count, unlawful possession of mash. The new charge was filed at a time when Holtsclaw's parents had succeeded in raising $1,000 in the form of bonds to secure his release from custody on the first charge. His bonds on the second count have been fixed at $1,500 making $2,500 that will be necessary to secure his release before the grand jury meets.

The young man's arrest came after officers located a still near Glendale and accused Holtsclaw and a companion of ownership. Holtsclaw is also suspected by many of being implicated in the attack and attempted robbery of William Brown last summer, and the officers are investigating that charge. The filing of the second case against him at the time he was about to furnish bonds, would indicate possibly that the officers are determined to keep him in custody until the grand jury can investigate his case.

JANUARY VOLT BOOSTS "MIDLAND EMPIRE"

"America's most diminutive regular monthly publication," The Volt, starts off the new year with a splendid issue containing in addition to two good articles of more than ordinary interest an excellent relief map of the Pacific seaboard. This map brings out most clearly the size and position of the field of Copeco operations in its relation to the rest of the Pacific coast and shows how it is located directly in the center of the Pacific coast territory. All of Southern Oregon and Northern California is included in this territory which has been appropriately named the "Midland Empire." It is predicted that extra copies of this issue of The Volt will be much in demand for this unique map which has never before been available for general distribution.

WILSON SCOFFS AT BIG BROTHER AND SISTER ORGANIZATION

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Episcopal board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, in a statement today declared that "reports that the big brothers and sisters want to weaken the 18th amendment for the sake of the girls and boys of the states is ridiculous and absurd."

Three leaders in the big brothers and sisters federation yesterday were quoted as having said that prohibition was having an adverse effect upon children.

"It was for the interest of boys and girls that the whole temperance reform was conducted," said Dr. Wilson. "That is what the 18th amendment was passed for. The organized temptation of boys and girls known as the American saloon is gone never to return. Lincoln's dream will come true, a nation without a slave or a drunkard in it."

COMMITTEE HEARS WHERE LIQUOR WENT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The senate judiciary committee heard today the tale of what became of five millions of seized corn liquor deposited by prohibition agents in the federal court building at Memphis.

S. E. Murray, district attorney for Western Tennessee, testifying at an investigation into the conduct of Federal Judge Harry B. Aderson, denied that he drank it but he told of the illness of several persons whose needs required it and how it gradually seeped away.

Describing first the delivery of the five gallon container to his office and its transfer to the vault of the clerk of the court, E. J. Heidel, Mr. Murray continued: "Soon afterward Harry Letty, former mayor of Memphis, came to me and said Mr. Johnson, the librarian, was sick and needed some whiskey. Mr. Johnson died soon after. I went to Mr. Heidel with Letty and Heidel poured out a quart which was taken to Johnson."

"A few days later Alfred Mason came to me and said our neighbor, Mr. Ladon, was very ill and needed liquor. I told him about giving Letty a quart and we went to Heidel and got some for Ladon."

"This continued over a period of seven or eight months. Once or twice I carried the liquor myself. I did not touch a drop of it. I did not know the combination to the vault."

RAIN IS WELCOMED.

PENDLETON, Jan. 21.—Rain that started shortly after eight o'clock yesterday morning and stopped for a few hours yesterday afternoon continued all night and was still coming down today. The rain, which is falling slowly and steadily, is welcomed by wheat farmers and stockmen. In the higher altitudes of the Blue mountains it is snowing, according to reports available here.

J. B. Saylor, Canyonville rancher, was in town today looking after business matters. There was a little snow on Canyon mountain, yesterday, the gentleman reports.

GREASEWOOD IS FATAL TO SHEEP

(Associated Press Lead Wire.)

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 21.—Sheep men of Grandview estimated that approximately 100 sheep have died in the last week of greasewood poisoning. Deaths did not begin to occur until the sheep were brought in from the ranges for feeding in this section. The animals ranged on the north side of the Snake river, apparently have been the only ones affected, as no trouble has thus far developed in those whose ranges were along the south banks.

Children scream when they play in the dark

That's something for parents to think about—and think seriously.

Dark rooms are peopled with fearsome ghosts. Real ghosts! Dark corners are hiding places for shadowy apparitions. They're real—to any normal child.

Switch on the lights!

Banish these spectres of the dark. Electricity is plentiful, and so reasonable, here in our town, that no one need count the cost of a cheery, well-lighted home where children love to play.

Electricity is the cheapest service you can buy.
