The Flames of Carelessness!

Accepting what is offered without investigating to find out whether better values might not be had for the same or less cost is like throwing your money in the fire. It is a form of indifference which fosters careless and expensive methods of merchandising—for which you pay in higher prices or lower quality.

The clever housewife of today shops in person, compares values closely and insists that her food allowance shall buy the maximum in both quantity and quality. Prices like the following—with guaranteed quality—are her reasons for shopping at Skaggs.

THE GIST OF THE BIBLE

BOOK BY BOOK

By ALVIN E. BELL, D. D.

THE BOOK OF EXODUS—"THE WAY OUT"

The message of Exodus is evident in its name. It relates the "Going Out" of a nation of slaves from the land of Egypt, where they and their ancestors had been in bondage for more than four centuries.

As Genesis ended with the picture of Joseph's coffin in Egypt, Exodus relates the national history incident to carrying that coffin back to the land of Joseph's fathers.

Exodus differs from Genesis in that its message concerns a nation rather than outstanding individuals.

Its message may be summed up in three great words from our own national history, viz., "Slavery—Bondage—Reconstruction," or, speaking in terms of geography, the three words are "Egypt—Red Sea—Sinai," and these suggest three other terms, "The Ten Plagues—the Passover—the Ten Commandments."

The great character of Exodus is Moses. The book relates the history of Israel during the 40 years of his preparation in the palace of Pharaoh and the 40 years of further preparation as a shepherd in the very wilderness in which his 40 years of active national service should be spent in reconstructing a nation of slaves into a nation.

This nation's ruler was to be Jehovah; its constitution was the Law given on Mt. Sinai; its central national shrine was the tabernacle; its bond of unity was the spiritual worship of the one true God and its national hope was the "Promised Land" whose blood would be shed for the spiritual emancipation of the nation as was the passover lamb, and whose bones, like that lamb's should not be broken, who would come down from heaven to be the world's Bread of Life as the manna was the heaven-sent sustenance of Israel during its 40 years of wandering in the wilderness of sin.

Christ is the true Lawgiver and Mediator of whose Moses was but a type. The emancipation recorded in Exodus is but a parable of His emancipation of us all.

SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES

First Church of Christ, Scientist. Regular services are held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. This meeting includes testimonies of healing. Sunday school convenes each Sunday morning at 9:45. All pupils from 4 to 20 may be admitted. The reading room, side entrance to the church, is open daily except Sundays and holidays from 2 to 4 p. m. Here all authorized Christian Science literature may be read, borrowed or purchased. The public is cordially invited to attend the services and visit the reading room. Subject of Sunday's lesson "Love."

International Bible Student Association. Bible study at the Moonlight Sunday, 10:30 a. m. The subject for study will be "A Ransom for All." Some of the questions to be considered are, Did the giving of the ransom price effect the forgiveness and release of all mankind or any number of them from the death sentence? When our Lord ascended on high, was He possessed of a sufficiency of merit which, if applied, would have affected the cancellation of the sins of the whole world? And did He so apply it? And if not, what did He do with it? All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to come and study with us.

Catholic Church, Kane and Oak streets. Rev. B. Clery, pastor. January 31st. Mass and Sermon at 8 a. m. Catechism classes at 9:45 a. m. High Mass and Sermon at 10:30 a. m. There will be Rosary and Benediction of the M. R. S. in the evening at 7:30.

The First Baptist Church, corner of Lane and Rose streets. H. L. Caldwell, minister. Our Union Evangelistic Campaign begins Sunday evening in the armory. We are expecting a great campaign. The churches are working together harmoniously and prayerfully. They have secured some of the best assistance to be had anywhere. Rev. Harry O. Anderson comes with a splendid reputation as a preacher and Christian gentleman. His helpers, Prof. Stout and Mrs. Stover, are among the best in their fields. This campaign is the church's great opportunity. The Lord expects us to do our duty. Our Sunday school meets at the regular time, 9:45 a. m. All of our students are urged to be in their places for regular morning worship will be held at the church at 11:00 o'clock with the pastor as the preacher. Miss Grace Wickham will sing. Our three young people's societies meet at the church at the regular time, and will get out in plenty of time to go to the big service in the armory.

Cleveland Community Church, Sunday school 10:00 a. m. Services 11 a. m. Services at Coles Valley school house 2:30 p. m. Pastor, Rev. Ed. Murphy. Everyone welcome.

E.'s meet at 3 p. m. This church joins the other churches in the union evangelistic services at the armory under Rev. H. O. Anderson.

Frist Christian Church, H. E. Mow, minister. "The Upward Look" will be the topic of the sermon Sunday morning. In the evening we will join in the union revival at the armory, which will be held every night except Monday. On Monday evening a mass meeting of the young people of the city will be held at the Presbyterian church to hear Mr. Ira Landrith, who is lecturing in the interest of Christian Endeavor.

The First Methodist Church, corner of Main and Lane streets. Rev. Joseph Knuts, pastor. The union revival meetings begin this Sunday. Let every one be on hand at Sunday school at 9:45. Bring your friends with you. The regular church service at 11 o'clock will be of interest to all. Every member is urged to be present in the evening at 7:30 we all go to the armory for the first great meeting of the revival campaign, led by Rev. Harry O. Anderson and his workers. Everybody come.

LILLIAN ROSINE
"OFF SCREEN" MOTHER TO MOVIE ACTRESS

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(A. P.)—A woman who can play off-screen mother to actresses is one of the many necessities around the movie studios, and so it might be said of Lillian Rosine that she makes a profession of motherhood.

In place of the "Why, mother, what?" with which children often tax the explanatory abilities of mothers, Miss Rosine is asked such questions as, "Do you think I'll photograph well?" and "Would you wear your hair away from your ears or over them?" and "Don't you think this dress makes me look too fat?"

Miss Rosine answers them a hundred times a day, for she is president, vice-president and office boy of the "one woman department," listed on the payroll of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios as "Matron."

Her position is unique in that it consists, among other things, of making up and generally preparing extra girls and stars for screen tests. It is her duty to see that the make-up of every woman appearing in the company's pictures is correct and she attends to the details on all costumes from the appearance point of view.

Before a scene is filmed, she mounts a platform and picks out the flaws in costume or make-up which the director and others might have overlooked.

But what she regards as her really important work is that of payer mother confessor and adviser to nearly all of the girls at the studios, from stars to extras. She offers, cajoles, reprimands and upbraidings and general mothers upma who need or come to her for guidance.

FORD'S REVIVAL OF OLD DANCE MUSIC
ORIGINATED IN KITCHEN

DETROIT, Jan. 26.—(A. P.)—The romance in dance music which Henry Ford is sponsoring through the revival of old-time tunes and with the aid of many old-time fiddlers, had its inception in the kitchen of a modest home outside of Big Rapids, Mich.

It was here that Henry Ford, on a vacation trip north with Thomas Edison, Harvey S. Firestone and a few other intimate friends, first saw "Jep" Biebee, maker of violins and fiddler at old-time country dances.

"Jep"—of "Jasper Biebee, of Paris, Mich.," as registered at Detroit's leading hotel as the guest of Mr. Ford—is 83 years old.

"He is the father of the movement back to the old-fashioned dances," Mr. Ford said. "It was listening to him and his old-fashioned tunes that helped to crystallize my belief that the time had come for a revival of the old dances. A very fine old man is Jasper and he knows his business."

Ford first heard him in 1923, and shortly after "Jep" came to Detroit to make the first contribution to Mr. Ford's Americana of dance music. Later, Mr. Ford sent him east to Mr. Edison's laboratory where some of the aged fiddler's choicest selections were perpetuated in the phonograph reproduction rooms.

"Jep" played a drum for the soldiers in Detroit in 1861. Later he conducted a drug store and sold tea and coffee. At other moments he played reels, schottisches, polkas, quadrilles and called dances at country gatherings. At 83, "Jep" still is able to dance a jig.

"You know," he said, "they thought I was going to die, but I'm fooling 'em. I run 40 rods every day of my life and I'm 83. Yes, that's a lot of years."

WHITMAN WINS FROM WILLAMETTE

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
SALEM, Ore., Jan. 29.—Forging into the lead in the last four minutes of play, the Whitman College basketball team defeated Willamette University 32 to 26 on the Willamette floor here last night. Previous to the final Whitman rally neither team was more than four points ahead of the other throughout the game. The score was tied nine times during the tilt. The count at half time was 16 to 14 in favor of Willamette.

The result of last night's game practically assures Whitman of the northwest conference championship.

CONTENTS TODAY'S BUILDERS GREATER THAN THOSE OF OLD

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 25.—(A. P.)—Pharaoh and his slaves have had too much press-agenting as general contractors extraordinary. In the opinion of W. O. Winston, of Minneapolis, who has just retired after fifty years of railroad and other construction work.

Today's builder of buildings is the peer of all time, the Egyptian pyramids notwithstanding. Mr. Winston believes. He cites the fact that modern ingenuity enables the builder to accomplish in a short space of time what the ancient kings and their armies of slaves required a lifetime to complete.

In 1886, when the steam shovel was a thing unheard of and the wheel scraper was the contractor's main dependence, Mr. Winston supervised a construction job in which 643 miles of railroad were built and three times as much material as went into one of the great pyramids was excavated, all in a period of seven months—one of the outstanding achievements of railroading.

For the extension of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba railroad from Minot, N. D., to Great Falls, Mont., the Winston firm used 8,659 men and 3,225 teams in the laying of 643 miles of track across the prairie, the grading of 500 miles of roadbed and the building of bridges and other structures.

The contractors organized their forces like an army, to haul every nail, every piece of timber and all supplies across the plains.

SOBRIETY TESTS BEING ARRANGED

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Tongue twisting words may be eliminated from the test for drunkenness which a committee of the British medical association is endeavoring to standardize.
Some of the tests for sobriety as now applied here include repeating successfully the following phrases:
"The leith police dismisseth us; the sea causetth and it sufficeth us."
Other tests are:
Standing motionless with hands clasped behind head, with feet together, standing on one leg with eyes closed, touching the tip of the nose with one finger with eyes shut, walking a chalk line, testing the pulse beats and examining the pupils of the eyes.
Some of the doctors are opposed to tongue twisting phrases on the ground that a sober man might very easily stumble over some of them. One of the members of the association has a machine, worked with the aid of chemicals, on which alcohol reacts when held so as to be warmed by a person's breath.
"The breath smells," it is called.

HELEN WILLS IS VIOLATING RULES

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Miss Helen Wills is jeopardizing her amateur eligibility if, as reported, she has been writing current newspaper articles on her tournament play in France. Jones W. Mercereau, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association, declared today.
Taking cognizance of cable reports of the American woman champion's literary activities, Mr. Mercereau made clear the position of the United States Lawn Tennis association on the player-writer rule, pointing out that Miss Wills, although competing abroad, is just as much subject to jurisdiction as though she were at home.

GERMAN ARTISTS PROTEST SEVERE ART CENSORSHIP

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—(A. P.)—A protest movement has been inaugurated by German artists against the severity of the censorship to which art is subjected in Germany.
The freedom of art, they contend, is seriously jeopardized when things have come to such a pass that anything resembling a revolutionary idea in painting, sculpture, literature or the drama is legally prosecuted under the heading of "high treason" or "inciting to class hatred" or the contention that the safety of the republic is at stake.
Cases are mentioned in which not only the offending art product was confiscated but the author or impersonator even sentenced to imprisonment.
The list of prominent artists appended to this appeal includes Dr. Ludwig Fulda, Dr. Max Osborn, George Bernhard, Professor M. Bonn, Professor Einstein, Professor Max Liebermann, President of the Reichstag, Paul Loeb, Heinrich and Thomas Mann, former Cabinet Minister Gustav Rathbrunn, Ernst Toller and Editor in Chief of the Tageblatt, Theodore Wolff.
