KIRBY SENTENCED

J. A. Kirby, who was arrested a short time ago, together with Gale Hamilton, charged with possession of liquor, was fined $250 and given 30 days in jail by Judge J. W. Hamilton, late this afternoon. Kirby at first entered a plea of not guilty, but upon the advice of his father changed his plea to guilty. His father made a plea for leniency for the young man before the court. Kirby was arrested when city officers raided the house in which he was residing on South Stephens street.

GRAND JURY CALLED

Judge Hamilton this afternoon ordered that the grand jury be recalled for 10 o'clock Monday morning. The grand jury is to return and resume its work in order that liquor cases may be submitted for new indictments. Under old rulings of the supreme court it was held not necessary to allege that a still had not been registered in order to claim it as being possessed unlawfully. A decision handed down a few days ago, however, requires that indictments allege, in charging a person with unlawful possession of a still, that the still was not registered as required by law. The grand jury failed to make this allegation in its indictments and four cases were resubmitted today.

PROBE ANTI-SALOONERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Investigation of the anti-saloon league by a special congressional committee was proposed today in a resolution introduced by Representative Britten, Republican, Idaho, who charged the organization with exercising "insidious influences on the internal revenue bureau," and with other improper practices. Prefaced by nine declarations, the resolution said the inquiry was requested because the league has attempted to influence federal judicial appointments; has publicly renounced judicial officers and dignitaries, has attempted to influence the president in appointment of his cabinet and has tactfully exercised its insidious influence successfully upon the bureau of internal revenue to the extent that appointments under the prohibition commissioner have been made only with the sanction and approval of the league.

It also charged that officials of the league or its subsidiaries have been sent to penalitaries for collecting money under false pretenses and that it had been known that a justice of a state supreme court and an attorney general of another state have "long been on the payroll of the anti-saloon league."

IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

TOLEDO, Ore., Feb. 13.—A jury late yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Harry Boersig, on the charge of manslaughter. Boersig was indicted because of the killing of S. S. Henkle of Corvallis, while the two were deer hunting last fall in the Yachats country. Testimony brought out that Henkle, before he died, exonerated Boersig of any blame. Boersig shot at moving brush, thinking that a deer was his target.

TRIED FOR ROBBERY

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 13.—Norman and John Moore and Emil Knorr, alias John Hillings, who are in jail at Sacramento, California, probably will be tried here for the robbery of the bank at Scotts Mills, Oregon, on December 24 last. District Attorney John H. Carson has telegraphed the department of justice requesting that Oregon authorities be allowed to bring them here.

George Schroeder, who was arrested in Sacramento for the same offense and brought here for the grand jury investigation, will appear in the circuit court here on Monday for a hearing on the indictment. He has admitted his guilt, and has implicated the other three. It is understood here that the latter have made admissions connecting them with the case, but this is unconfirmed here.

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 13.—District Attorney John Carson was advised this afternoon by Albert E. Sheets, deputy federal district attorney for the northern district of California, that Norman and John Moore and Emil Knorr now held in Sacramento, but wanted here for alleged complicity in the Scotts Mills bank robbery, will be surrendered to Marion County officials to stand trial here.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 13.—An advance in print butter prices is not far distant. Early today local creamery men were only waiting action of the Seattle market before going up here. Up to the present prints are still at the 48 cent level, although there is a runaway market in that price.

One large creamery concern is forcing the issue by coming out today with offers of 50 cents for No. 1 butterfat delivered Portland. Cubes are extremely high with extras up to 47 1/2 cents and standards at 46 1/2 cents on the exchange, subject to 5 per cent discount.

The cube market is very tight. Prices have advanced 1 1/2 to 2 cents during the past week on top grades and yet there has been no severe slump in the market.

In spite of the peculiar situation here, local creamery men refuse to go up on prints unless there is a corresponding advance in the Puget Sound market.

Another factor that must be taken into consideration is the price to the consumer. The public is now paying 55 cents for best creamery butter. An advance of 2 or 3 cents in the wholesale market would force the housewives to pay 60 cents and this would reflect seriously in the consumption.

Fresh egg values closed steady at current levels. There was no session on the exchange yesterday or today and supplies along the street are apparently sufficient for this market's requirements.

Top grade eggs are approximately a cent higher than a week ago with standard extras at 28 cents and firsts at 27 cents.

Arrivals of country killed calves and hogs this week was hardly sufficient for the demand and prices strengthened. Choice light veal advanced to a 17 1/2 cent top and held firm to the close. Choice light hogs maintained 25 1/2 cent top throughout the week.

Light poultry receipts caused a near shortage at times in the local market and prices ranged fractionally higher. Light hens advanced to 20 cents with not enough coming to meet the requirements. Heavy hens reached 24 to 25 cents while springs were quoted all the way from 25 to 30 cents.

Local millers are cutting mill feed prices due to the poor demand and accumulating supplies. Today mill run and middlings are down $2 at 15c and $45 a ton respectively.

STORM KING IS LOOSENING GRIP ON SOUTH COAST

launch they were repairing was capsized at Santa Monica.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Feb. 13.—Torn loose from its moorings by a heavy sea, the fishing boat Amico, about sixty feet in length, early today was battering this city's municipal pier which a little more than a week ago was threatened with destruction by giant breakers.

A force of men are trying to beach the craft which had broken off five pilings. The pier and the $300,000 Lamonica ball room which it supports were believed doomed in the face of the battering high tides which lashed it constantly day and night during the storm of a week ago.

REDONDO BEACH, Cal., Feb. 13.—A 500-ton pleasure fishing barge, formerly a windjammer, was torn from its moorings two miles off shore today and swept on to the beach just south of the new municipal pier early today. A south-west gale, fishermen said, is lashing the ocean into the heaviest swells on record here.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13.—Deaths resulting from the storm of wind, rain and accompanying high tides which have swept all of Southern California for the past three days, had mounted to three with the amount of damage increasing hourly as additional reports were received.

The encroaching waves along the Santa Monica Bay swept two more beach cottages into the sea and the breakers were strown with pieces of furniture. Near Santa Monica, the water flowed into the Beach Club, a fashionable resort and stood two feet deep on the ball room floor. Cement swimming pools at the residence of Thomas Bundy, tennis player, were undermined and torn out by the breakers. Several launches were torn from their moorings and thrown up on the beach at Venice.
