A four-horse team was being used, taking the equipment south. Quick was riding on one of the wagons which about 12 miles south of Gold Beach the team got too close to the grade and went over. The driver and four horses escaped with few scratches. Quick's head was severed by a wheel of the wagon. Coroner Wheeler of Gold Beach took charge of the body. Snapshots of the World's News

These majesties of a single day—Yvonne Briand, 17, who was elected the "Misses' Queen" and her 16-year old twin sisters, Renee and Suzanne, chosen "Violet" and "Camella" Queens—daughters of a lock smith, a cousin of Aristide Briand.

Radiation is the source of life and the means whereby life is maintained, is the theory of George Lakovsky, laid before the academy of science by Prof. D'Arsonal. Life, according to this thesis, ends when the vibration of rays is interrupted.

One of the facts that M. Lakovsky cites in support of this theory is the sense of direction in migratory birds. He says that insects, larvae and plants on which the birds live, send out rays into space just as all living matter does. Migratory birds, he says, are supplied with organs which allow them to receive these rays just as the antennae of a wireless post intercept waves or as the human eye takes in waves of light.

The Marshalls of France over 70 years of age are in danger of losing their active jobs. The war ministry is considering a measure or the rejuvenation of the whole army staff, and in order to make way for younger officers in staff and inspection work, it is necessary to get rid of some of the older men.

These marshals, as well as Petain and Franchet D'Esperey, are supposedly in active service. Each of them has some task of inspection to perform and each has his own personal staff. Petain and Franchet D'Esperey, however, are the only ones who have important posts. The former is designated commander-in-chief of the army in case of war and the second is designated to command a group of armies.

If the retirement of Joffre, Foch, Fayolle and Lyautey is decided upon, the whole war council will be revised, as they are ex-officio members so long as they are in active service. Younger officers will be named to succeed them, though it is reported an excellent authority that General Sarrail, who himself reaches the fatal age of 70 in April, will be one of the chosen, even though he can serve only a brief moment.

This satisfaction is demanded by political friends as compensation for his removal from the post of high commissioner in Syria.

The wireless is being used for the first time in France in religious propaganda. The Lenten sermons of Father Sanson, the eloquent preacher of Notre Dame cathedral, are being broadcast, while loud speakers carry his words out to the Place de Notre Dame for the benefit of those unable to get inside.

Arthur Findlay, scottish born, but a resident of the United States for forty years, has been telling the hand of his birth that the United States is now the golf center of the world. Mr. Findlay, contract manager for one of the great American department stores, recently returned to Scotland.

He said that when he first went to the United States forty years ago there was not a golf course in the country. Now, he said, Americans spend many millions of dollars a year on the game.

Mr. Findlay started ranching in the west and started golf on a natural course on the place, on which there were no greens and no clubhouse. He declared, however, that the American courses cannot compare with those of England and Scotland, owing to the hot, dry summers which make artificial greens necessary.

While in Rome recently, Mr. Findlay tried unsuccessfully to induce the Vatican authorities to limit out a six hole course in the Vatican grounds.

Vice-Admiral Sir Walter Cowan, who has been appointed commander in chief of the North Atlantic and West Indies station, is no favorite with the Soviet Government. For the admiral, he was sent to the Baltic with a squadron and was so active along the Russian coast and the coasts of Esthonia and Latvia that the Bolsheviks' charge him with having prevented them from over-powering the new Baltic states at a time while they were unable to offer organized resistance.

European express and railway companies are clamoring for an increase in rates to make up the deficit caused by the lights of the luggage of fellow travelers. Men used to be called the "Suitcase Sex", but women have gone them one better. They are now the "Hatbox Sex".

Seeing a stranger wandering about the lobby of the hotel, the salesman introduced himself. "I'm Prince Henry; I'm looking for a party," said the stranger.

Although doubtful about the princely title, the salesman ushered the prince into the American ball room, unaware that he was anxiously awaited at another ball in the same hotel by a distracted German hostess.

American consular officials recognized the stranger as Prince Henry of the Netherlands, made feverish efforts toward his entertainment and introduced him to the American ambassador and Mrs. Schurman.

The prince danced with several American girls and evidently enjoyed himself so much that he forgot the other engagement. In fact, he stayed until 2 o'clock in the morning.

And on another floor of the hotel, the wife of a foreign official wondered what had detained her royal guest.

The horse is rapidly losing its usefulness in most large cities of the world, but is more than held in its own in Berlin. A federal animal census just completed shows that there are 4,916 horses in the republic's capital, an increase of 3 per cent over the preceding year.

The high cost of motor cars, heavy tax and gasoline selling at from 25 to 40 cents a gallon are factors which may keep the horse out in front for some years to come. The brewing industry remains vibrant.

There are only 256,000 automobiles and trucks in Germany, one for every 244 inhabitants, as against one for every six persons in the United States. In the country as a whole, horses outnumber automobiles almost three to one.

Movable glass eyes, which are hard to distinguish from normal eyes because they are subject to the control of optic muscles, have been successfully fitted by Dr. Carl Mueller of Jena, noted artificial eye specialist.

Dr. Mueller found that in 90 out of 100 cases of the loss of an eye, the muscles and nerves controlling the movement of the eye were unimpaired.

He said he fastens connective muscle tissue of animals to a glass eye and grafts these tissues onto the remnant of the human eye muscles. The extremely delicate operation requires about an hour, and he has been successful in from 80 to 90 per cent of his cases.

Berlin police are searching for a clever boy sensation who has been snatching shopkeepers for several weeks. This lad, about 12 years of age, well dressed and apparently well bred, walked into a shoe store and said his mother wanted to buy a pair of shoes, but was too ill to leave the house.
