The Reach of the Spoken Word

WHEN the small family group of primitive man expanded into the cave community, a means of communicating beyond the normal range of the voice became imperative. Then someone discovered that by making a speaking-trumpet of his hands, he could increase the reach of the spoken word, could add new effectiveness to the human voice.

Other means of transmitting intelligence, in their turn, were found to serve the needs of man: the signal drum and the beacon fire; the written message, carried by runner, by rider, by water or by rail; and finally, the telegraph.

But these messages, however carried, lacked the direct and personal qualities of conversation. They were but symbols of speech, the shadows of the spoken word.

Then, fifty years ago, came the telephone. A half-century of scientific research has extended the reach of man's voice to thousands of miles. The Bell System's vast network of lines provides a service nationwide in scope. The American continent today is no larger, from a communication standpoint, than was the prehistoric community in which the cavemen shouted from cliff to cliff.

COMMITTEE PROBES STUDY COURSES OF OREGON'S SCHOOLS

SALEM, Ore., April 12.—A special committee appointed by Governor Pierce under a resolution passed by the 1925 legislature to investigate the need of revision in the public school study courses of Oregon will hold an open hearing at the Chamber of Commerce here tonight. The members of the committee are George H. Alden, of Willamette University, chairman; Dr. C. J. Smith, of Portland, secretary; and Senator L. L. Eddy, of Roseburg.

The committee is a result of a fight on the existing course of study made by Senator Eddy in the legislature at the sessions of 1923 and 1925. At both sessions he introduced a bill which, he claimed, would get the course back to fundamentals, particularly in the high schools. The bill was defeated in both sessions. WHAT 1800 FAMILIES KNOW ABOUT ELECTRIC COOKING

THEY will tell you it is a new kind of luxury—one that doesn't cost more to enjoy.

Of course you have always appreciated the advantages of cooking by electricity. You know that it means no more fuel to carry; no more ashes to lug. You know that electricity is the ideal cooking heat; economical because it is turned on when you need it—not before; turned off when you're through—not later.

But perhaps you would like to know exactly what it costs—in dollars and cents. The 1800 satisfied families who now use electric ranges served with electricity by this company would gladly show you their bills, if they could.

We have made an average of these bills, so that we may give you the facts. The average cost of electric lights alone in all homes served by this company in Oregon is $2.20 a month. The average cost of their electric lights and electric cooking together is $5.62 a month.

For the difference, could you buy ordinary fuel for cooking? And if you could, would you want to? Whenever you decide to investigate this question of electric cooking closely, your nearest dealer will tell you many interesting things. And he is prepared to install your new electric range at once, on convenient terms.

FOURTEEN LIVES LOST IN TAKING FAMOUS WAR FILM

Actual motion pictures taken on the western front at the cost of fourteen members of the signal corps of the United States army, will be shown at the Antlers Theatre this Tuesday and Wednesday under the auspices of the American Legion of this city. The proceeds of this show will be used to finance the cost of the drum corps new uniforms. The boys have undertaken a big responsibility in taking on the Antlers Theatre, but with the hearty cooperation of the membership and their many friends the show will undoubtedly be one of the biggest successes ever put over by the veteran organization.

The name of this remarkable signal corps picture is "On Flanders Field," and is an authentic picture released by the government as official. If you don't wish the name of your chairs and become excited at many of the scenes in "On Flanders Field" it must be because you didn't "get" the world war while it was on. Anyone who can see such a sight and not feel a tightening of the throat or be profoundly stirred certainly must be impervious to the instinct of patriotism or humanity. Nothing could be more eloquent of the fact that the boys underwent a tremendous sacrifice, and display of magnificent courage. When you see on the screen hair-raising action that everyone should see.
