LEGION TO STAGE A BIG BARN DANCE

Empqua Post of the American Legion expects to have one of the best drum corps in Oregon this year, and intends to enter the several contests to be held in the state with the intention of bringing home some of the best prizes offered, not to mention the large amount of publicity which Roseburg will receive. One of these contests will be at Coon Bay during the state legion convention in August and another at the state fair, where a total of $2000 in prizes is offered.

The boys of the drum corps have been practicing diligently two nights a week for several months and are becoming very proficient. The members of the Legion post recently decided to outfit the corps members in snappy new uniforms, all tailor made, and which will cost about $900. These uniforms should arrive here shortly before the Strawberry Carnival and the drum corps expects to make its initial appearance during the parade of that event.

The local legion post exhibits a very commendable spirit in sponsoring such an organization, and especially in view of the fact that a debt of nearly $1000 will be contracted in outfitting the unit, aside from the $800 which it has invested in instruments. The money to pay for these materials is raised through hard work on the part of the legionnaires in giving entertainments and no donations are asked from the public.

Two of these entertainments are to be given this month. The first, "In Flanders Field," will be at the Antlers theatre tonight and tomorrow, and the other will be at the armory on April 23 and 24.

The latter event will be in the nature of a vaudeville show, dance and Happy Canyon, which will be produced under the direction of Jack Coyle, who staged the very successful legion show at the Antlers theatre some months ago, and has had many years of experience in this work. A committee of 25 legionnaires is now busily engaged in the work of staging this show, which is expected to be one of the best of the season.

A Reg'lar Time with a Reg'lar Gang!

continued, the arrests mounted steadily until they reached 8,000 in 1925.

One of the witnesses, Father Francis Kasarow, of Sugar Knetch, Pa., painted for the committee a graphic picture of wide-open saloons, wild carousals by young people, drunkenness in homes, and intoxication among school children in the anthracite towns of Pennsylvania.

Police statistics from many cities were submitted by Stanley Shirk, of the Moderation league, to support his assertions that arrests for drunkenness, particularly among automobile drivers had taken an enormous upward swing during the dry regime.

The last witness of the day, Mrs. Viola Ansell, deputy chief probation officer in the New York family court, declared cases before that court had increased since prohibition, because the wives and children are suffering more than before.

"The probation officers under my direction tell me that in their districts you can find 150 to 200 stills," she said. "These not only are operated in cigar and other stores, but also in the homes."

"Tenebrous are the homes of stills; you open a door and instantly see a shaft of the stuff. They make the children are there and must know all about it."

She added that while "the material condition" of the wives and children had improved under prohibition, their "moral condition" had not.

are almost flat before the Volstead period, and thereafter shoot skyward at an astonishing angle.

"The police department of Washington, D. C., however, has kept records of the arrests of the young people for drunkenness," he continued. "Arrests of persons under 21 years old averaged 44 a year for the four preceding years, 1914-1917. A home-dry law was enacted for Washington before national prohibition became effective and immediately youthful drunkenness increased. In 1918 it rose to 73 and by 1924 had reached 282."

Wild Youth Described.

The witness went on to say that the survey showed conditions in former wet states to be about the same as in 1914, while in states which had some form of a state-prohibition, conditions "are worse today under the home-dry Volstead act than they formerly were under their own state dry laws."

Shirk read a photograph of a letter from Police Chief Strodel of Reading, Pa., declaring there had been a great increase in intoxication among youths. He said he knew of children being taken from class rooms "dead drunk," and that hip flasks were carried by young folks at most dances and parties.

Taking up a challenge of Wayne B. Wheeler for the week to point to a single city where conditions were better under the beer and wine regime than under the home-dry law, Shirk pointed to Atlanta. Arrests for intoxication there dropped from between 6,000 and 7,000 in 1907, he said, to between 2,000 and 3,000 in 1917, when citizens of Atlanta could import beer, although some instant spirits. After the federal law became effective, he

Women Issue Appeal.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Having in no uncertain terms informed the senate prohibition committee as to their uncompromising opposition to modification of the Volstead Act, the Women's National Committee for law enforcement today issued a challenge to the American people "to uphold the constitution" and listened to the advice of speakers who asked them to point at the job of building up sentiment for law observance.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Wilburbrandt, who is in charge of the Department of Justice liquor prosecuting force, said "watchful units of women" can keep public officials delivering their best efforts, even though such officials at times be the kind that "unwatched, would slight the task in hand."

Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in a statement read to the conference, asked "why not be honest with ourselves, and admit that our children will not do the things we wish them to do if we want and expect them to be unless we— their parents—set them an example of being just and law abiding citizens."

DOUGLAS COUNTY MAN DIED MONDAY

Jerome Smith, for 67 years a resident of this state, and of Douglas county, passed away at his home in Edenhower last evening at about 9 o'clock, following an illness of several months.

Mr. Smith was born at Yoncalla, Oregon, August 24, 1858, and spent his youth at that place, later moving to Edenhower. He also resided at Oakland for a short time of his life and followed the farming industry. Mr. Smith, a man of high ideals, was one who made many friends.

Surviving besides his wife and daughter, Mrs. Forest Jones of Douglas River, are two sisters, Mrs. Louis Warner, of Yoncalla and Mrs. Fannie Johnson, of Spokane; three brothers, Frank, and Elmer, of Spokane, and Albert, of Garden Valley.

DOUGLAS COUNTY SURVEY OF MILK SUPPLY CONDITIONS TO BE MADE BY COUNTY HEALTH UNIT

As a result of the work of Miss Noyen Betts of the National Child Health Association, a survey of milk conditions in the county will be started at once by the Douglas County Health Unit. Miss Betts spent several days last week discussing the subject of milk supply and consumption with interested groups, and out of her work has grown a desire to improve conditions in the county as far as possible. Miss Betts spoke to dairy-men, to parents and to school children, showing the great value of milk as a food supply and taking up primarily the handling of the milk before it reaches the consumer. The health unit plans an immediate survey to check up on the methods used and if possible to improve conditions wherever possible.

The services will be held at the Roseburg Undertaking Parlors on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with Rev. W. S. McCull

The letter includes, with criticisms of the league, across the Swiss government of participating in the escape of the man who assassinated the Soviet ambassador at Moscow in 1922, and says the Moscow government has no confidence in Switzerland's assurance that Soviet delegates would be protected on the present occasion.
