

Buy a Studebaker on I. A. C. Finance Plan

Here's an example, you pay 1-3 down on a $1515 car or $515, leaving a balance of one thousand dollars. I. A. C.'s charge on a twelve month payment plan would be Eighty-one dollars, making a total of One Thousand Eighty-one Dollars, which you would make in twelve equal payments. (This includes fire and theft insurance). The question is sometimes asked, what happens if I should take sick or get injured and could not meet my payments, would I lose my car? The answer would be yes under the ordinary finance plan, but again you are taken care of by Studebaker's new protection plan. For four dollars you get a sickness and accident policy, the benefits of which are listed below.

1st. If the purchaser is disabled by illness or accident, the Insurance Company pays the monthly installments until he recovers.

2nd. If the purchaser should meet with accidental death the company pays the entire unpaid balance.

The statement of purchaser's doctor is accepted as proof of disability, thus cutting short red tape and bothersome restrictions.

Who can offer you a better plan than this?

Animals and Insects

Prepare for Winter

Ants, bees, wasps, flies and many other insects protect themselves during the winter by securing food supplies and constructing retreats. The wonderful work done by ants, bees, wasps, spiders, butterflies and worms has been studied by many naturalists and rose breeders have been charmingly described by Lubbock, Fabre, Maeterlinck and other able writers. The underground apartments and terraced homes of the ants, their domestic life, social organization and thoughtfulness are among the great wonders of nature.

These extraordinarily intelligent insects not only store away an abundance of food for winter, but also they provide aphides to be milked and they cultivate fungi gardens and manufacture many food substances while passing the winter months underground.

Genius, individuality and temperament in animals enable them to solve all the problems of winter which they may at any time encounter. These vary in individuals of the same species. Among any group of young animals or birds or insects you may notice individuals varying in fear, timidity, curiosity, amiability, sociability, aggressiveness and initiative. Hardly two will be found with similar characters and temperaments. They differ as widely as the members of a single human family. The strong and fearless members of any species give the leadership and develop the customs which enable them to meet the conditions of winter.

Cold Welcome Given to Cargo of Bananas

John S. MacIntosh, who died in Washington recently, was for almost fifty years an exporter in Boston, operating a line of clipper ships. With every ship came some curiosity. One day a ship returned from Central America, and the master showed MacIntosh an elongated yellow fruit that grew in clusters.

MacIntosh regarded it warily; the ship was half-full of such cargo, and his Scotch prudence was aroused. Even after he had eaten one and pronounced it delicious, he was not certain they could be sold. "What do you call them?" he inquired of the skipper.

"The natives call them bananas," the skipper answered.

MacIntosh put them up for sale, and a few curiosity seekers bought a bunch or so. He bargained their quality and tried to impress upon the Bostonians the deliciousness of the fruit. But his venture failed.

Churches in Business

An old Jewish synagogue in Maiden Lane, London, is now used as a theater for rehearsals, and a Methodist chapel in Southwark, where Wesley preached, is used as a paper warehouse.

The famous Surrey chapel, where Rowland Hill preached, is today the great boxing rendezvous known as the Ring. At Willesden an old chapel has been converted into a draper's establishment, the pulpit being used as the cash desk; another, in the Hampstead road, has been turned into a picture palace.

The Union Jack club, opposite Waterloo station, stands on the site of a Methodist chapel which had lost its worshippers, while St. Andrew's, Tavistock place, was once a fashionable church, but has been in turn a cycle store and a club.—London Answers.

Men of Great Strength

It is difficult to compare strong men. Each has his own special tests, at which he is superior to the rest. A recent newspaper article stated that unquestionably the strongest man of modern times was Louis Cyr of Canada, who was considerably stronger than Sandow, Brothart, who died in October, 1925. It is said to have come nearer emulating Sandow than any of the latter's many imitators. Certain strong men excelled Sandow in specific feats. For instance, Arthur Saxon was the best lifter of weights ever produced. Steinbach, Inch, Ashton, Travis, Rolandow and Larrich each had some unusual performance to his credit.

Finest of All Oils

Whetmakers' oil, the finest of its kind in the world, is obtained from the jaws of the porpoise by the Passanquoddy Indians, who live on the coast of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Maine. The jaws are hung up in the sun, and the oil as it drips from them is caught in cans placed below. Only about half a pint comes from each jaw. The oil commands high prices, and in late years it has become so expensive that its use in the delicate machinery of lighthouses has been abandoned.

Live on Camels

The Timucos, found over a large area in northern Africa, are nomads who live principally by means of, and on, camels. Turge women are as free as women in England. They go about unveiled, while the men are always veiled. The women choose their own husbands and teach the children to read and write. They can own property, even after marriage, and their husbands have no control over it. Caste and authority are inherited through the mother.

His Little Joke

During the day wife moved the tall clock, Hubby, coming in late, remarked, "I thought this clock was at the head of the state."

And he went on: "Oh, I see. It has run down."

FAMOUS SPEAKER COMING TO CITY FOR CHAUTAUQUA

America's great opportunity in the Orient, and what America means to that little understood part of the world will be a revelation to all who hear Dr. Suddhendra Bose speak on "The Awakened Orient" during Chautauqua week, Chautauqua starts next Tuesday, June 1.

This India born American citizen, who has the distinction of being the first Oriental to teach Oriental politics and civilization in a leading American University, is a world traveler, student, writer and lecturer, who speaks with the authority of first hand knowledge and observation. He is probably closer to the real heart and mind of the Orient than any living man, and gives inside information about the giants of the East—India, China, Japan and Russia. Their hopes and fears, wealth and poverty, greatness and sordidness, potentialities and progress, stagnation and meagre accomplishments, are all outlined by him in a profoundly convincing manner. His plea is for a better and more systematic understanding between the United States and the Far East.

The dramatic and human experiences of this remarkable man are introduced in his lecture as delightful high lights. He has innate humor, speaks with perfect intonation in purest English, and has the faculty of mirroring scenes on one's mentality in all their reality. Audiences will learn more of the Orient from just one of his famous lectures than they could through several personal trips to the countries he pictures and describes. In fact, it has been said that his lecture is equal to years of travel in its remarkable revelations of customs and his intimate knowledge of how the mind of the customer functions. Educational and thoroughly entertaining, it is considered one of the really worth-while attractions of the week's programs. Business men will learn from it much to their advantage. Those who long to travel will feast upon his descriptions of countries, cities, customs and dress. Students of world politics will revel in its related contacts and conversations with such world figures as the poet Rabindranath Tagore, the Garkewer of Baroda, who ruled two million subjects in India; Marquis Okuma, former Premier of Japan; Dr. Sun Yat Sen, of the South China Republic; the great Egyptian leader, Zakiul Pasha, and other great world figures. Dr. Bose's most recent trip took him to England and European countries, China, Japan, Ceylon, Siam, Korea, Manchuria, Straits Settlements, Indo-China, Hawaii and other far away places which hold a charm for those not privileged to wander over the world and learn of such countries first hand.

CARKIN CLAIMS SPEAKERSHIP OF THE NEXT HOUSE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SALEM, Ore., May 29.—John H. Carkin of Medford, who was here yesterday in the interests of his candidacy for the speakership of the house of representatives at the next Oregon legislature, claims he has the pledges of 54 of the 60 members who will probably comprise the next house. These are held over and nominees who are apparently certain of election. He was accompanied here by W. C. North of Portland.

CHECKING PRIVATE USE STATE AUTOS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SALEM, Ore., May 29.—A check on the extent to which state owned motor vehicles are being used for private purposes is being made here by a special officer, it became known yesterday. His identity is not known. He is expected to report to the state board of control.

The 1925 legislature passed a law prohibiting private use of state owned automobiles, and it is believed the law has been considerably violated. The law also provides that state owned vehicles shall have painted on them the name of the department by which they are used. Most of the departments have complied with this part of the act.

CORRUPT PRACTICE ACT DEFENDANTS PLEAD NOT GUILTY

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SALEM, Ore., May 29.—J. J. Nunn and John Conger pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Small yesterday on a charge of violating the corrupt practices act relating to Oregon elections. Prior to the city primary election a week ago Friday they are accused of circulating a "yellow" ticket that bore neither the name of the publishers nor the printer. For the purpose of determining whether there is sufficient evidence to hold the two men of the grand jury a preliminary hearing will be given them Wednesday, June 2.
