WAS SIMPLY AFRAID TO EAT SAYS PORTLAND MAN

That's How Terribly He Suffered With Indigestion and Dyspepsia Till Karnak Stopped All His Troubles and Made Him Feel 15 Years Younger, Declares Welch.

"You bet your life you can put me down as one of those who say 'Karnak has tid me of all my troubles and made me feel like a new man,' for that's what this medicine has done for me," declares J. R. Welch, of 6744 Whitman Ave., Portland, Ore., well known retired grocer. "I tell you, money couldn't buy the good Karnak has done me," continues Mr. Welch. "I had about one of the worst cases of indigestion, dyspepsia and stomach trouble on record, I guess, and had spent sums of money without being able to find any relief. 'Gas pains just pressed around my heart and kept me 'worried sick.' My stomach just felt as if a ball all the time, and the little I ate hurt me for hours afterward. I was actually afraid to eat. I suffered so from extreme nervousness I couldn't sleep or rest, and I had headaches and dizzy spells, and was so weak that I didn't feel worth a cent. "But Karnak seemed to take up where the others left off, and five bottles of the medicine has rid me of all that miserable stomach suffering and built me up to where I feel every bit of fifteen years younger. Why, I just eat cabbage and anything else I want now—without it causing me a particle of trouble afterward. "My nerves are good and steady. I sleep like a log at night, and I just feel like a new man from head to foot. I tell you, I will always keep a bottle of Karnak in a handy place, and I feel like it's a duty to help others by telling them of this medicine. Just have 'em see me about it." Karnak is sold in Roseburg by Nathan Fullerton, the Rexall store, and by all other leading druggists in Roseburg and every other town.

Giving The Finishing Touch

SPRING days are apt to bring capricious appetites. We have a tendency, then, to turn with distaste from plain foods, plainly served. The palate must be tempted through the eye. By using foods which have already been prepared and cooked, and dressing them up in attractive ways, to give that "finishing touch" which lifts ordinary food above the commonplace. Canned foods may be used as the foundation of many delicious dishes. They require very little time and work, because all the preliminaries have been attended to in the canner. Grandmother had all this "rough work" to do, herself. Consequently she spent her life in the kitchen. The 1926 housewife, after preparing various dainty dishes from ready-to-serve foods, has time left over in which to set an attractive table. She need not even bother to make a dessert, since she has only to take a rich and delicious fruit-cake out of a tin box, and serve it with after-dinner coffee. And it tastes just as good in summer as in winter. Here are some tasty dishes quickly made from canned foods:—Shrimps Baked with Tomatoes—Fill a buttered baking-dish with alternate layers of canned shrimps, drained canned tomatoes, and cracker crumbs. Season tomatoes with salt, pepper, and a little sugar. Dot crumbs with butter. Brown in moderately hot oven. This dish may be flavored with minced parsley or celery, and a little onion-juice. Kidney Bean Salad—With one medium-size can of kidney beans mix one-half the contents of a No. 2 1/2 size can of sauerkraut, (saving the rest to use as a vegetable at some other meal). Add 1/4 cup salad dressing. Garnish with olives and parsley.
