BROOKHART CHOICE OF IOWA G.O.P.

U. S. Senator Cummins Is Defeated Over Fifty Thousand Votes.

HAUGEN AGAIN WINS

Corn Belt State Registers Rebuke to Congress for Dallying With Farm Aid Measures.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 8.—Colonel Smith W. Brookhart's lead over Senator Albert B. Cummins for the Republican senatorial nomination was increased to 47,891 today when returns had been received from 1800 precincts out of 2447.

The Brookhart vote, 160,931 against 113,040 for Cummins was 48.5 per cent of the total vote cast. Howard J. Clark had received 50,015 in the 1800 precincts, Dan Reardon 3781 and L. E. Eickelberg 3416.

WASHINGTON, Iowa, June 8.—Colonel Smith W. Brookhart, nominated over Senator Albert B. Cummins in yesterday's senatorial primary on a platform that included farm relief as its principal plank, has accepted the voters' mandate on that issue, he announced here early today, and will leave for Washington, probably tonight in an effort to obtain farm legislation during the session of congress if possible.

"And I mean real legislation, that will take care of the farm problem; not a makeshift," he added.

Colonel Brookhart will work with the Corn Belt committee, which still is represented at the national capitol, in an effort to bring the differing factions in the house and senate together on an agricultural bill. He favors the principle embodied in the Haugen measure recently defeated in the house, although he was unseated two months ago, he introduced a measure proposing a large agricultural loan fund.

Colonel Brookhart declined to comment directly upon the primary this morning.

Senate Veteran Beaten.

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 8.—Iowa Republicans want Colonel Smith W. Brookhart in the United States senate and since he cannot sit in the seat for which they nominated him in 1924, he is to succeed as the party's nominee, Albert Baird Cummins, senate veteran of 18 years' service.

By a vote which hovered close to a majority over all four of his opponents, Brookhart was returned to preferment by his party yesterday a scant two months after his deposition from the senate in favor of Dan F. Steck, Democrat, who contested his election in 1924.

Returns from 1519 precincts out of 2447 in Iowa gave Brookhart 142,151; Cummins 99,611; H. J. Clark 43,331; L. E. Eickelberg 2,906 and Dan Reardon 3,389.

Blow to Administration.

Rising for the third time as the emissary of the party which both in Iowa and in the arena of his senate activities has disavowed him, Brookhart's looming figure cast across the capitol a shadow symbol of displeasure in Iowa at congressional alliance with farm relief, or reinforcement of the senate insurgent group of which he became, in less than four years, a vociferous and valued member.

Read out of his party in 1921 by the state central committee of Iowa and in 1925 by the Republican senate caucus, assailed by his colleagues after his denunciation in the 1924 campaign of Charles G. Dawes as to the party's vice presidential nominee and his support of La Follette for the presidency, Brookhart won yesterday by a vote approximately the extremest claims of his adherents.

Farm Champion Wins.

Renominated with him, on the face of incomplete returns, is Gilbert N. Haugen as Republican congressional candidate from the

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

PORTLAND, Ore., June 8.—Detecitves today investigated the alleged bobbing of the tresses of Miss Nina Fuller, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Fuller, as she slept at her home just before midnight.

She insists that some unidentified man crept into her room in an upper story of her home, tied her hands and feet and cut her hair, carrying off the locks.

Nina's parents told police that the same thing happened to her two years ago while the family was living in Seattle.

The girl was taken to a barber shop and given a bob this morning.

TOO MANY BRIDES LAND SALEM MAN IN MARION JAIL

Sixth Marriage Results in Charge of Polygamy and $1000 Bond, Which Is Not Furnished.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SALEM, Ore., June 8.—An admission to District Attorney John H. Carson that he has three wives, and a letter in the possession of the Marion county sheriff from the sheriff's office in Seattle saying that the defendant has been married five times prior to a marriage in Salem are the salient facts so far uncovered in a polygamy charge filed here today against Lewis D. Garrison, a laborer employed at a paper mill here.

Garrison waived preliminary hearing when taken before Justice of the Peace Small and was bound over to the grand jury with bonds fixed at $1,000. He did not furnish the bond and is in the county jail.

On May 18, this year, Garrison was married to Martha Scheirman of Salem. When their license was obtained both stated that it was their second marriage.

Garrison is said to have left Seattle in 1925 and the letter from the Seattle sheriff's office says that for a time he was employed by the Oregon Electric company. The letter from Seattle says he left his wife there three months prior to the birth of a child.

YOUNG MAN HELD ON CHECK CHARGE

Herbert John Clayton, photograph solicitor for a Chicago firm, was arrested at Oakland this morning by Deputy Sheriff Leus and charged with issuing a worthless check. Clayton, it is claimed, visited the store of Roy Miller this morning and passed a check for $3. Mr. Leas, who had seen the transaction, became suspicious, taking the check to the bank, where it was branded as ficticious. Clayton had caught a ride north with two girls from California, who were travelling in a roadster, and they were overtaken near Yoncalla and brought back to Roseburg. The girls, however, were released as they were shown to have no connection with the case.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

BEND, Ore., June 8.—Sheriff S. E. Roberts announced today that a suspect he was holding because of resemblance to Roy D'Autremont, alleged dynamiter of a Southern Pacific mail car, and murdered, has proved not to be the fugitive. Postal Inspector Limebaugh was here yesterday, and after seeing the prisoner, declared he was not D'Autremont. The prisoner gives the name of Kitt Cody, and says he is from "everywhere". He was arrested in charges of beating his way and is being held for further investigation. Sheriff Roberts says Cody resembles Roy D'Autremont, with the exception of being slightly taller than the latter.

DOG LICENSE INCREASED BY CITY COUNCIL

Strict Rules Regulating Dogs in Roseburg Are Adopted.

MAY FINE OWNER

Attempt to Evade Payment of Tax May Result in Fine—Other Matters Given Attention.

An increased license fee on dogs, together with a severe penalty to be imposed upon any dog owner who attempts to evade payment of the tax, was authorized by the city council in an emergency ordinance passed last night. Frequent complaints regarding the number of dogs running at large in the city has caused the council to give the matter a great deal of thought. An ordinance was brought in last night, and by suspending the rules was passed at last night's meeting and is now in full force and effect.

A fee of $5 for male dogs and $10 for females is now provided. The ordinance requires the city treasurer to issue a receipt for all license fees paid, and to give with each receipt a metal tag which must be fastened to the collar of the dog. Any dog not bearing this tag is considered to be unlicensed and may be taken up the same as any unlicensed dog.

All dogs, whether licensed or not, are prevented from running at large and must at all times be accompanied by the owner, when outside the owner's premises. The marshal is instructed to impound any dogs found running at large, and all unlicensed dogs, and it is provided that impounded dogs shall be sold after notice of their impounding is posted, and if no sale is found for them that they shall be killed.

Any person who keeps, feeds or shelters a dog is deemed to be its owner and if such person does not procure a license for the animal, or attempts to evade the tax, a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $50 is provided.

An impounding fee of $1 for each animal picked up is authorized.

In addition to passing the dog ordinance, the council spent considerable time discussing the matter of preventing traffic congestion. It was decided to place signs along the principal streets in an effort to stop the practice of making reverse turns in intersections. The police officers claim that tourists not being acquainted with the law in Roseburg turn in the intersections causing considerable congestion. The posting of signs, it is believed, will improve this condition. The parking lines will also be repainted.

An offer submitted by J. V. Casey to purchase a small strip of land held by the city adjoining the railroad tracks in North Roseburg was referred to the committee on ways and means.

The California Oregon Power Company submitted a request that the city water its parkings in North Roseburg at some time other than in the evening. At that time practically all of the property owners are irrigating their lawns, it was stated, and when the city turns on its system the residents of the North Side are unable to get sufficient water.

The city recorder was instructed to advise the company that the city will cooperate until the water company can put in another main of a larger capacity to provide sufficient water for that district.

The Umpqua Chiefs called attention to the fact that the time clocks controlling the lights on the gateway posts at the entrance to the city had been molested and asked that they be locked. The matter was referred to the chief of police.

A remonstrance was received from the residents of the Rose school district, protesting the relaying of the sewer in that section. The council decided to table the plans and specifications for a new sewer until such a time as reconstruction might be deemed necessary.

The installation of a fire hydrant at the intersection of Chapman street and Casey avenue near the new high school building in Laurelwood was authorized.

It was voted to send the fire chief to the fire chiefs' convention in Corvallis.

The usual reports were read and the following bills allowed

Private Auto Carriers In Oregon Not Bound By Law Applied In California

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SALEM, Ore., June 8.—The status of automotive carriers in Oregon is not changed, in the opinion of the Public Service Commission, by a decision of the United States supreme court holding that the state of California cannot compel a private automotive carrier operating under a private contract to assume against his will the duties of a common carrier. Considerable speculation was heard here today as to the effect the decision would have on the administration of the Oregon law.

Laws Not Alike.

"In the opinion of the Oregon Public Service Commission, in which is vested the duty of administering the so-called automotive transportation act of the state of Oregon," says a prepared statement by the commission, "the decision of the United States supreme court would not change the status of automotive carriers operators doing business under the provisions of the Oregon statute. This conclusion is reached by the Oregon officials for the reason that the Oregon law and the California act are dissimilar in that the California statute requires all operators engaged in the transportation of persons or property for compensation over the state highways to obtain a certificate of convenience and necessity before so operating, while the Oregon law provides that all applicants may be granted a certificate upon compliance with certain liberal requirements found necessary for the protection and safety of the public and does not attempt to require a carrier operating under private agreement to assume the obligations of a common carried.

Would Bar Private Carrier.

"Under a recent decision of the California supreme court it was held that the California act required all operators of motor vehicles engaged in the transportation of persons or property over the highways of the state for compensation to obtain a certificate of convenience and necessity regardless of whether such operators were doing business as private carriers under a private contract or as common carriers. Therefore a private carrier engaged exclusively in the transportation of a particular commodity for a particular individual, under a private contract could not operate between two points over a route for which a certificate of convenience and necessity has already been granted to another operator. This would virtually exclude such private carrier from the use of the highway, unless he assumed the status of a common carrier."

AMERICAN SEEMS DOOMED TO DEATH IN FRENCH LEGION

Embassy at Paris Receives No Appeal, but Herrick Requests Papers in the Case.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

PARIS, June 8.—The American embassy up to noon today had made no representations to the French government regarding the case of Bennett J. Doty of Memphis, Tenn., who, under the name of Gilbert Clare, is held in Damascus, Syria, on charges of desertion from the French foreign legion and rebellion.

The French foreign office's knowledge of the case thus far is limited to what has appeared in the newspapers. The official feeling seems to be that if the court martial sentences Doty to death, any appeal from Ambassador Herrick for a commutation will be granted, provided there is time to prevent the execution.

A Damascus dispatch yesterday said Doty would be court martialed as soon as the proper papers could be drawn up but that this would probably require ten days. Doty, fighting with the French in southern Syria, is alleged to have engaged in an altercation with his sergeant and then to have deserted with five other members of the foreign legion. He was taken to Damascus Sunday night under heavy guard.

PARIS, June 8.—The French foreign office notified the war ministry upon the recommendation of American Ambassador Herrick today that if a sentence of death has already been passed upon Bennett J. Doty, of Memphis, member of the French foreign legion in Syria, it shall not be carried out until all the papers in the case have been referred to Paris.

CO. D. LEAVING FOR ENCAMPMENT ON NEXT MONDAY

Room for Five or Six Recruits Exists at Present Time According to Capt. Marsters.

Preparations for the annual encampment of the Oregon National Guard are being made by Company D, 162nd Infantry, Roseburg's guard unit. The local company, which is assigned to machine guns, is busily engaged in getting its equipment ready for shiment to Camp Jackson, near Medford, where the two infantry regiments will camp.

The company will entrain next Monday and will spend two weeks in encampment. The program this year is especially complete. The demonstrations are to be made by regular army men, who will be stationed at the camp as instructors and assistants in the course of intensive training which the guardsmen will receive.

The program calls for a great deal of recreation, entertainment and athletics. Particular stress is being placed upon the athletic side of the encampment this year. The Roseburg company last year won the cup for athletics and hopes to hold the trophy again this year. Three boxers will meet the best the two regiments can offer and hope to be able to sustain the record of the local company.

Captain Marsters reports that he can recruit five or six more men before the encampment. Several members of the company were recently discharged as they had moved away from Roseburg and it is desired to fill their places with new recruits. A bugler is needed and the company can also enlist musicians who will be assigned to duty with the band during the summer encampment.

Maurice D. Leehey, prominent attorney of Seattle, was in this city overnight and visited friends.

Humane Society Would Form Union to Standardize Wages and Insure Better Treatment Draft Animals

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SALEM, Ore., June 8.—A virtual state drivers' union for teamsters engaged on public contracts was postponed at a conference of state humane society officers and state officials here this afternoon in an effort to eliminate cruelty to horses and animals engaged on highway construction projects. The plan as outlined by Colonel E. Hofer, of Salem, president of the Oregon Humane Society, would call for the employment of certified drivers with standard wages, no teamster to be employed unless he was in possession of a badge issued by the humane society certifying his adaptability to handle animals in a humane manner.

Field officers of the humane society have been engaged in tabulating common abuses and the result of the survey showed that inexperienced drivers or sub contractors were in charge of from four to six-horse teams on heavy grading jobs, often working the horses with sore shoulders until a point was reached when the further usefulness of the animal was impaired and it was discarded. This practice is more common with out of state contractors who hire their horses and mules in the state, Colonel Hofer pointed out.

Attention of the legal department of the state highway commission was called to the ruling that printed contracts require that contractors who violate state and federal laws may be prosecuted and their contracts rescinded. A resolution adopted by the humane society demands that the demands that the department enforce the contract in all construction camps as the state cannot violate its own laws in its own contracts.

Results of an investigation carried by Colonel Hofer and W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian, under special appointment from Governor Pierce were filed with the executive Saturday and were given consideration this afternoon.

Meeting with Governor Pierce were Colonel Hofer, J. W. Crossley and Mrs. F. W. Swanton, of Portland, as a committee from the Oregon Humane Society, C. H. Gram, state labor commissioner, Dr. Lytle and members of the state highway commission.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SEATTLE, June 8.—Lieutenant J. L. Allen, head of the dry squad of the Seattle police under reorganization affected after Mrs. Bertha Knight Landes became mayor yesterday, announced today that raids in cooperation with federal prohibition agents had begun and would continue.

Three prisoners taken in such a raid last night were lodged in the city jail.

Allen said he had assured Roy C. Lyle of Seattle, federal prohibition administrator for the Pacific northwest, that "the special detail is willing and anxious to work with his men in the enforcement of prohibition laws. I mean that, and Mr. Lyle knows I meant it. There will be complete harmony."

Brown, in a farewell speech yesterday, told the city council that the proposal to use policemen as federal prohibition agents "was the most dangerous departure since William the Conqueror."

"I want the men under me to know that when they make arrests, they will be backed to the limit," stated Lieutenant Carr, new traffic head, under William Searing. "The place to fix traffic slips is in the court of Police Judge John B. Gordon."

In the liquor raid Patrolman E. E. Darnell of the dry squad, and Earl Corwin, agent under Lyle, went to a drinking place, seized three pints of moonshine and took three men to jail.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, June 8.—Some of New York's cabarets and night clubs are operated by criminals and for this reason all honest people should be out of such places by 2 o'clock in the morning to prevent their being victimized, Police Commissioner McLaughlin asserted today in telling why he had put a 2 a. m. curfew into effect in the bright light district.

"We know what has been going on during certain hours in the night clubs," said the commissioner. "And for this reason we decided that 2 o'clock was the hour for all decent people to be out of such places.

OREGON HAS FIRST CHANCE AT DENTIST HAVING NO LICENSE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SALEM, Ore., June 8.—On a requisition from the governor of Utah, Governor Pierce today granted extradition of Vern Wilson, who is wanted in Summit county at Park City on a statutory charge. Wilson, who has been located at Grants Pass for some time, appeared in person with his attorneys.

After a hearing the case of Dr. R. F. Morrison, for whom a requisition was received from the governor of California where Morrison is wanted in Tulare county on a charge of practicing dentistry without a license, was held up. The reason for holding up the case was that Morrison is said to be under prosecution in Portland on a similar charge.

The extradition of Morrison was held up at the advice of the attorney general's office to the effect that the governor should not grant extradition for the man in the custody of the Oregon courts. Morrison was convicted in district court in Portland for practicing dentistry without a license and has appealed to the circuit court. He is out under bond.

DOPED WOMAN HELD CAPTIVE IN LOCAL HOTEL

Note to Mother Leads Officers to Bruised Grants Pass Girl.

MAN IN CUSTODY

R. C. Morton Held in County Jail on Open Charge—Mother Is Expected Today.

Mrs. Eva L. Johnson, who has been missing from her home at Grants Pass since last Friday, was found bruised and drugged in the Grand Hotel at Roseburg this morning in company with a man who gave the name of R. C. Morton of Medford. Morton is being held in the county jail on an open charge while an investigation is being made.

Mrs. Johnson, who, it is understood has been separated from her husband Carl Johnson, of Grants Pass, was employed at Medford until last Friday when she informed her mother, Mrs. Wm. Copple, that she was going to Portland to work, according to Sheriff S. W. Starmer.

Sends Note to Mother

Sunday night a man, whose name was not learned by the officers, found a note on the sidewalk near the Grand Hotel, the note being addressed to Mrs. William Copple, 623 L. St., Grants Pass, and reading as follows: "Send Carl to the Grand in Roseburg at once. Have him take me away from this fellow by these words. 'Come with me I've had enough foolishness out of you.' (Signed Jim)."

The man who picked up the note delivered it to D. C. Young, local Western Union manager who sent it to the address given.

Yesterday evening Mrs. Copple and a deputy sheriff from Grants Pass came to Roseburg and endeavored to locate Mrs. Johnson. A search of the hotel register failed to reveal any parties who might be suspected, and the mother and officer returned home late last night baffled in their search.

Accident Claimed

Sheriff Starmer enlisted the assistance of the city officers of Roseburg, according to his statement, and they learned that last Friday night, a man giving the name of Morton arrived at the hotel with a woman apparently ill or injured, and that he had told the hotel employes that the woman had been injured in an automobile accident. During the time they have been at the hotel, according to Sheriff Starmer, the woman was not out of the room, so far as could be learned, her needs being carried to her.

Sheriff Starmer and city officers Wilcox and Rausch located the woman's room at 2 o'clock this morning and forced an entrance, finding Morton and the woman in bed. The woman appeared to be drugged, but retained sufficient consciousness to admit that her name was Johnson. Morton was placed under arrest, and a physician called to attend the woman.

Woman Drugged

According to Dr. C. B. Wade, who attended her she appears to be suffering from hashish drug and bears all the symptoms of having been placed under the influence of that drug. She has no sense of the lapse of time, one of the peculiarities of indulgence in
