An Exceedingly Pleasant Thought For Every Woman

EVERY modern housewife knows that Mazola is an absolutely pure vegetable oil—from the hearts of full-ripened corn kernels.

If you like corn-on-the-cob you can't help liking Mazola, for this delicious oil is as good to eat as the corn from which it comes.

This is an exceedingly pleasant, appetizing thought for every woman—whether she uses Mazola for shortening instead of butter—or for frying instead of animal fats—or for salad dressings instead of expensive imported oils.

The tremendous and ever increasing popularity of Mazola throughout the country is based on this very definite knowledge on the part of the thinking housewife.

We invite every woman to give Mazola a most severe test—for shortening—for frying—and for salad dressing.

Its quality and the very satisfactory results obtained will appeal to your desire for the best—whereas the economy of Mazola will always appeal to your purse.
