Mori sobbed his story to a patrolman who thought at first he was unbalanced by the heat. The Japanese said he had sat in Central Park for half an hour thinking it over before he reported the matter. Police went to the furnished room and found the girl's body on a couch.

MOVIES SEEK EFFECTS RATHER THAN COLORS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 23.—Color carlinas instead of screens may eventually be adopted by film cameramen in obtaining color effects on motion pictures. Victor Milner, Paramount photographer, declares numerous experiments by cameramen in photographing color in black and white will likely result in color photography being placed in a new light. The present trouble is that it records the violet colors too brightly. Making Red Appear White

Photographers previously have obtained different effects by using colored screens over their lenses, which cut out various rays. Ultra-violet screens eliminate ultra-violet rays, and so on. A red filter over the lens made a red dress appear white, for the screen rejects all red rays on the film.
"This system, while satisfactory for some colors, has not been wholly effective in others. For instance, in photographing fine red and yellow tones, the values of violet, ultra-violet and blue must be subdued and a satisfactory screen for this purpose is difficult to obtain.

New Shadings Possible
"It may be possible," Milner says, "to rearrange the composition of carbin to heighten the red values in the light itself, without increasing the value of the violet and ultra-violet proportionately. If this is accomplished, we may be able to obtain a hundred new shadings and tones in photography."
"In order to get more effects from red and yellow, we have to use much more light, with a resultant increase in the rapidly photographic violet and ultra-violet. We have found that the light values below the violet and ultra-violet fall, when photographed, the proportionately as they reach the other end of the spectrum. Our experiments are in an effort to rectify this without the use of screens."

Every color in the spectrum, he says, has a different shade when photographed in black and white. The colors at one end of the spectrum photograph very light and hence require much less exposure to register on camera film. Violet is next and then blue. From there the shades of green darken rapidly until the colors become almost non-photographic.

REASONS SHOWN FOR EASY RIDING OF DODGE CARS

(Five reasons for the easy riding of Dodge Brothers cars have been given out by J. O. Newland and Son, local dealers. These reasons are pointed out because few persons do not know of the great improvements that have been made gradually in the riding and handling of the Dodge.

First, 12 years experience in manufacturing automobiles and parts have taught Dodge Brothers how to build an exceptionally well balanced chassis.
Second, the unusually long undulating alloy steel springs of 55 inches in the rear give great flexibility. They are longer than the springs of other standard makes in the price class of the Dodge.
Third, the wheelbase has been extended two times in the history of the car to make it easily handled at high rates of speed and to prevent the tendency to whip in the shorter wheelbase automobile. It is 116 inches long.
Fourth, extra thick cushions with locked springs give restful riding. They are nine inches deep and scientifically designed for most comfort in riding.
Fifth, continuous jolts from rough dirt roads and worn out pavement are absorbed by the balloon tires.

STATE GLEANINGS AND NEWS ABOUT PEOPLE WE KNOW

The liens filed against the company were for lumber in the company's yard near Remote, for labor performed.

UNSUITABLE SOIL FOUND GOOD FOR TREE GROWTH

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 24.—A model conservation project has been established on the barren sand lands of southern Douglas county, Wisconsin, on the summer home property of Ray J. Nye, federal prohibition director for the western district of the state.
Forest Lodge, Mr. Nye's summer home, attracts foresters and conservationists from distant points to see the project.

In 1914, Mr. Nye planted 2,909 white and Norway pines on land that was so sterile it was fitted only for raising grass, and anything but blue grass had a difficult time forming a sod.
After twelve years of growth the trees are from 20 to 25 feet high, all thriving mightily, and from five to seven inches in diameter at the base. In 1915-16 and again this spring, others were planted. Now there are more than 7,000 trees, most of them Norways and white pines, with here and there a few Scotch pines. Not ten of the 7,000 trees planted have died.
"The whole business of conservation," said Mr. Nye, "is the protection. Plant the trees on the hundreds of acres of sandy barren land in north Wisconsin and protect them from fire and in from 30 to 40 years there will be merchantable timber."

BUDLONG GRANTED DIVORCE AFTER 3 YEAR COURT FIGHT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 23.—Miss J. Budlong, 33-year-old New York newspaper resident and former head of the New York agency of the Packard Motor company, was granted a divorce from her wife, Jessie Budlong, yesterday in a proceeding by Judge Edward W. Hudgett today. For nearly three years the business and their marital difficulties have been before the public eye through a series of court actions.
Under the terms of the rescript, custody of three minor children, two sons and a daughter, remains in Mr. Budlong. The decree was granted on the grounds of extreme cruelty, extending over a long period of years, and consisting of "fame charges against his character, humiliating remarks in the presence of others, refusal to live with him as his wife and other acts tending to bring him into public ridicule."
The decree granted Mr. Budlong is not absolute divorce and in some times called a separation. It does not destroy the bonus of matrimony and the parties are still man and wife.
