To Honor "Big Six." NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The ranks of amateur and professional baseball throughout the nation will do honor tomorrow to the name of Christy Matthewson, idol of the national sport.

The proceeds of hundreds of sand lot, semi-pro, and professional games on "Matty Day" will be turned over to the fund now being raised to build memorials at Bucknell University and Saranac Lake, New York, where the "Big Six" died in October, 1925.

Hoff Exonerated. CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—The Norwegian pole vault king, who has definitely become a "professional," to join hands with Suzanne Lenglen, as the two athletic pioneers of 1926, won himself a "clean bill of health" from the A. A. U. by his action. Charles Hoff is the first athletic star to turn professional in the United States, Charles Dean, director of foreign relations for the A. A. U., said today.

FLORAL GIFT FAILS TO SOFTEN FRENCH HATRED OF EX-FOE

(Associated Press London Wire.) PARIS, Aug. 27.—How impossible it is for one nation to understand the psychology of another nation seemingly is exemplified by an incident related by the Petit Parisien.

The policeman on duty at the arch of triumph saw four women and a man, evidently foreigners, approach and lay a large bouquet of superb red flowers on the Unknown Soldier's tomb. On their departure, out of curiosity, the policeman examined the bouquet. On it was a card, written in French and in German, saying:

"To the Unknown Soldier from a German youth."

The patrolman reported the incident to the district police commissar who ordered the flowers removed from the tomb and thrown into a garbage can.

come out in the open," Mr. Dean said, "and by his action he obtains a clean bill of health from the A. A. U."

Hoff's recent appearance in the vaudeville act on the west coast in which he used a pole vault specially undoubtedly placed him in the professional class, Mr. Dean said.

Tennis Star "Gripped" NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 27.—William Johnston has been thwarted for the second time in his 1926 eastern tennis campaign by extreme flights of weather.

Rain and cold, bringing on an attack of grippe, have cut short his brilliant sweep through the early rounds of the annual Newport invitation tournament. His initial eastern appearance of the season ended in an unexpected defeat a few weeks ago at Seabright, N. J.

He will participate in defense of a single eastern singles tournament.

He hoped to resume play in the doubles here and to participate in the national team championship next week at Boston.

File Recd. Swimmer. LONDON, Aug. 27.—Not only did Miss Mercedes Gleitzer, London typist, who was forced to abandon an English channel swim last night, have to battle with the power of the tides of the channel, but she was bothered considerably by a vast swarm of flies which hovered about her.

The constant annoyance caused by the insects and presence of schools of porpoises which were about in unusual numbers, appear to have been contributing factors to her abandonment of the effort when she was ten miles from the coast after seven hours' swimming.

Miss Gleitzer's pilot said that he had never seen such swarms of flies as followed the swimmer and covered his craft.

AGRICULTURE NOT SHOWING UP WELL IN COAST REVIEW

During July, general business activity in the twelfth federal reserve district was slightly above the levels of recent months. Reported value of sales at retail and wholesale did not fully reflect the improvement in general business, but trade volume continued large. No significant change in the prevailing strong banking and credit situation was noted.

Physical aspects of the agricultural situation continue discouraging. In general, crop yields have been satisfactory and livestock are in good condition. Prices for farm products have tended downward, however, both actually and in relation to prices of nonagricultural commodities. The purchasing power of farm products, as a group, is now approximately 6.5 per cent lower than a year ago.

Industry as a whole is operating at high seasonal levels, and volume of employment increased during July, a result chiefly of seasonal increases in activity in the food products industries.

The amount of building under construction continued large, but value of permits issued has recently shown a decrease as compared with the past three record years. During the first seven months of 1926, value of permits issued in 29 principal cities of this district showed a decrease of 12.9 per cent as compared with figures for the corresponding period in 1925, a record building year.

Lumber production during July was 11.3 per cent smaller than during June, due largely to the customary curtailment of lumbering operations in the first two weeks of the later month. The cut and the amount of new orders received by mills during the month were both approximately 10 per cent above the figures for July, 1925, and were larger than in any of the last four years.

Unusually high seasonal levels during July and the first weeks of August. Trade factors report that domestic demand for canned fruit has been active during the present season, and that many operators are enlarging their production schedules as the season progresses. Export markets have been relatively inactive during recent weeks.

A pair of bolster springs on your wagon will save your fruit if you have far to haul it. $6.00 a pair at Wharton Bros.
