OGDEN REVIEW PRAISES MORONI OLSON CO.

"Dear Brutus" which is to be presented next Monday night at the Antlers theatre is a J. M. Barrie production and as such has all mystery, magic, whimsicality and subtleness for which Barrie is famed. The Ogden Standard Examiner of Ogden, Utah, on September 30th, says of the opening production there: "It is one of the most weird and unusual plays ever witnessed here and is a play that must be put on by an accomplished troupe or the effect would be lost. The technique of the drama is such that only actors as skilled as the Olsen players could depict the subtle meanings that make the play what it is.* * * The play is so entirely different from the usual run of comedies that it is worth seeing twice to fully appreciate the playwright's knowledge of life and lost hope. One of the lines of Mr. Dearth the artist, says, "Three things come not back to man, the spoken word, the past life, and the neglected opportunity."

HARTLEY FACES FIGHT TO HOLD GOVERNORSHIP

them that I'd talk. They were courteous—but they seemed to wonder why I should feel called upon to express a personal opinion.

"When they called in Dr. Suzzallo and said they wanted him to resign, he asked 'what are the charges?' They said they were not going into them. 'Then,' Dr. Suzzallo told them, 'in justice to my profession, I can't resign.' Then they didn't know what to do—and they had to ask Dr. Suzzalo for advice. 'That's your problem, isn't it?' he suggested. 'We want to do this thing in a gracious way, the regents kept saying. I pointed out that you can't do an ungracious thing graciously, and so they finally decided not to try but just dismiss him."

Suzzallo's Job Declined.

SEATTLE, Oct. 14.—Stephen Ivan Miller of New York City today rejected the presidency of the University of Washington.

Miller, to whom a majority of the regents of the University of Washington, named by Governor Roland H. Hartley since he went into office 22 months ago, offered the presidency while Henry Suzzallo, formerly of Columbia University, still had a contract for the position running to June 30, 1927, announced his decision after a conference at Lowell, near Everett, Wash., with A. H. B. Jordan of Everett, Hartley appointee, president of the regents.

Miller issued the following statement:

"The direction of a great institution of learning can best be determined in atmosphere of sober reflection and good judgment. In the present atmosphere of conflicting emotions I cannot accept the responsibility for the future policy of the university without approval of all who have its welfare at heart. The uniform courtesy of those who have placed their information at my disposal will remain a pleasant memory to me."

Source of Conflict.

Hartley and Suzzallo came into conflict over appropriations for the state's five institutions of higher learning. In the World war, when Suzzallo was chairman of the state council of defense, he recommended an eight-hour day in lumber camps in Washington. Hartley has for many years been an extensive timber operator.

Bills increasing appropriations for education beyond figures recommended by Hartley were passed last winter over the governor's veto. The state supreme court decided Saturday that the increased appropriations would stand despite contention that their enactment was illegal on the ground that the passage over the veto was on reconsideration after vetoes of the same measures had been sustained by the legislature.

Suzzallo, placed by the regents on an indefinite leave of absence, relinquished his duties to David Thomson, dean of the college of liberal arts, whom the regents designated to act as president.

Following Miller's refusal of the presidency, Jordan stated that the regents "will let the matter rest until this emotional stress has quieted down."

Labor Scores Hartley.

DETROIT, Oct. 14.—A resolution denouncing the action of Governor Hartley of Washington in removing Dr. Henry Suzzallo as president of the state university, was adopted by the American Federation of Labor convention here today.

Unanimous consent for the introduction of the resolution was obtained after John P. Frey, president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, read a telegram from W. M. Short, of the Washington federation, telling of the removal. Short's telegram asserted that Stephen Miller, proposed to succeed Dr. Suzzallo, is educational director for the National Bankers' association.

A. S. Kerry Named.

SEATTLE, Oct. 14.—A. S. Kerry, Seattle lumberman, will temporarily head a committee of 100 Washington citizens to institute recall proceedings against Governor Hartley, Worrall Wilson announced today.

ATTORNEYS IN AIMEE'S CASE COME TO BLOWS

graphs of Mrs. Wiseman and Mrs. McPherson, taken together after the two women had been made up to resemble each other, had disappeared, together with several telephone receipts which the attorney intended using to prove that the evangelist and Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, her mother, had had telephone conversations with Kenneth G. Ormiston, former Angelus Temple radio operator, while he was a fugitive from justice.

The first documents to disappear were the grocery slips found near a cottage at Carmel, where the state contends Mrs. McPherson was in hiding with Ormiston during a portion of the time she asserted she was in the hands of kidnapers. These slips, which the state contends were "obviously" in the handwriting of the evangelist, disappeared from the grand jury room while that body had the case under investigation.

Recently it was reported that the ransom letter received by Mrs. Kennedy demanding a half million dollars for the return of Mrs. McPherson, also had dropped from sight.

Star Witness Calm.

The closing chapter of the sensational "hoax" story of Mrs. Wiseman was unfolded today as the defense prepared to subject the witness who is a co-defendant with Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Kennedy, Ormiston and three others on the felony charges, to a grilling cross-examination.

The auburn-haired San Francisco stenographer, whose 39 years rest lightly on her shoulders, appeared unperturbed as the hour approached for her to come under the full cross-fire of the evangelist's formidable array of counsel, headed by W. I. Gilbert, gray haired railroad attorney.

Mrs. Wiseman, who smiled when Gilbert challenged her sanity and laughed when he pointed out discrepancies in her testimony, was expected to be under cross-examination for probably two days.

There were a number of persons not available at the original session said Mr. Yates and the committee desires to hear them before completing its report.

He declined to comment on reports that the committee regards as within the scope of its inquiry charges of Thomas H. Adams, publisher of the Vincinnes, Ind., Commercial, that United States senators were involved in the dominating Indiana politics by leaders of the Ku Klux Klan during the grand dragonship of D. C. Stephenson.

Borah Keeps Out.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, who has interested himself in the Indiana graft charges, does not intend to advise the senatorial campaign expenditures committee whether to undertake an inquiry in that state.

Asked today by Thomas H. Adams, the Vincennes publisher, to use his influence toward such an investigation, Mr. Borah replied that the decision should be left safely in the hands of chairman Reed.

ACTION AGAINST MINING COMPANY IS OUT OF COURT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 14.—Federal Judge Bean today threw out of court the $159,521 damage suit brought against the Bourne Mining company, Ladd and Tilton Bank, John Thomas and William M. Ladd by Charles R. Sowder and Ward H. Watson of Indianapolis.

The plaintiffs had charged conspiracy to defraud.

They claim they were induced to buy property from the E. and E. Mining company on false representation as to the mineral content.

Judge Bean ruled that, as plaintiffs had bought the property in 1921 and had received daily assays while operating it, the next year, they should have known of any fraud in time to have sued sooner and that the statute of limitations should apply.

He said that he found no proof of fraud on the part of the defendants.
