COMING PASTOR OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH PRAISED

In speaking of the departure of Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Achor, who are moving to Roseburg this month, Rev. Achor having been called as pastor of the Roseburg Presbyterian church, the Woodburn Independent carries the following:

After a pastorate of eight years in Woodburn, where he has been in charge of the First Presbyterian church, also the Bethel Mission, Rev. R. W. Achor has handed in his resignation and will move with his family on the 27th to Roseburg, where he has accepted a call to be pastor of the First Presbyterian church of that city with a membership of 330. He will preach his farewell sermon here on Sunday morning, October 24.

During his pastorate in Woodburn he has proved a citizen of much worth, adding in the promotion of the city, taking an active interest in every religious and patriotic move, and especially adding considerably to the Presbyterian membership roll. He was mainly instrumental in bringing about the $3000 addition to the church building and leaves the church affairs in better shape than ever in its history. He was ever ready to respond to calls to officiate at funerals and in cases of sickness and bereavement. An able minister, he was also a good pastor. The departure of such a man from our midst, where he was so highly esteemed and admired by all, will be deeply regretted. That the well wishes of all go with him to his new field of labor is well understood by all who know this beloved minister and of his successful labor in behalf of community and church.

And also will be much missed his co-worker, Mrs. Achor, and the twin boys, Richard and Roy. Mrs. Achor is a daughter of Councilman and Mrs. E. J. Forsythe. Mrs. Achor has taken a deep interest in her husband's work in Woodburn and aided materially in its accomplishment. She is also president of the Carnegie Public Library of Woodburn, a lady of high attainments and has been a great help in all church activities.

State Press Comment

Headlight Peril.
 Among the biggest hogs of the road are drivers who refuse to dim. Most of them ignore signals to dim. Probably eight out of ten drivers utterly, defiantly and brazenly disobey the dimming regulation. Inability to see the road means that if a driver goes ahead he tempts fate. He courts an accident. He challenges death. Inability to see the road and vehicles on and about the road is the most frequent cause of accident. Yet, drivers hurry along at night with their dazzling lights blinding every driver coming from the opposite direction. Whenever a life is snuffed out in an accident from dazzling lights it is murder. And the driver who refuses to dim is guilty of murder, if not deliberate murder. And the law should so ordain. — Portland Journal.

More Cheap Politics.
 Removal of R. R. Turner, state superintendent of public instruction, from the state text book commission, seems to be another sacrifice of economy in the interest of political expediency. Naturally the thousands of taxpayers who have been informed by Governor Pierce himself that he is giving the people an economical administration, may be interested in his system of political intrigue which takes money from all of the taxpayers and benefits only the select few who have their nose in the political feed bag. Mr. Turner made the plain statement that at a meeting of the text book commission last year he was approached by a "good friend of the governor" and asked to favor the adoption of books from a certain publisher in return for which the good friend was to use his influence in securing the appointment for Mr. Turner of the office of state superintendent of public instruction. Mr. Turner with two other members of the board voted against the higher priced books, defeating the attempt of the other two members to substitute the new books.

As the governor had publicly promised to appoint the successful candidate to the Democratic primaries to the position vacated by Mr. Churchill, Mr. Turner became superintendent of public instruction. He also retained his position on the text book commission, being advised by his attorney that he could hold both positions providing he drew no salary from the text book commission.

Here was a case where the state was saving the salary of a text book commissioner who had already saved the parents of the school children thousands of dollars by his vote for cheaper text books. Instead of broadcasting this saving in the usual Pierce method, the governor last week removed Mr. Turner from his position for no cause that was not apparent four months ago, when he was appointed superintendent of public instruction. Mr. Turner, thinks that the move was made for the purpose of injuring his candidacy before the electorate of the state, as punishment for his refusal to be controlled by the governor's friend on the text book commission.

The governor's action is so thoroughly consistent with the Pierce policy of playing politics with public payrolls while preaching economy, that his excuse of "strong pressure" will deceive no one. Fortunately relief from this disgraceful situation is near at hand and Oregon will soon replace a political state administration with one devoted to business and to effecting much needed economies in the executive department of the state. — Portland Telegram.
