We'll bet Salt Creek is still cluttered up with the carcasses of the defeated candidates.

We've gotta hunch that ol' posyville has some big things in store durin' 1927 and if prosperity does come to town we wonder what the belly-achers will do for something to squawk about?

Buster Keaton's Oregon-made movie is gonna be pre-viewed in an adjoining village tonight and if the audience laughs sufficiently to suit the frozen-faced comedian it'll soon be shot out to the rest of the country. We hear that the Oregon scenery in the feature is a knock-out.

Gunning The Public A Grants Falls police officer, "believing a car was stolen," sent a bullet ripping through both arms of a Chicago man a few days ago when the driver failed to halt his car as quickly as the officer thought he should. Witnesses say the car was stopping when the shot was fired and inquiry showed that the car was not stolen. But the victim is just as severely wounded by an irresponsible police officer as if he had been an arch-criminal.

Two dry agents in Montana "believed a car contained liquor." In the darkness they called for the car to halt. It didn't stop as quickly as the officer thought it should. A bullet for his gun tore its way through the driver's head. He is dead, but the car contained no liquor. It was owned and driven by a ranch hand.

Day after day come reports of innocent people either wounded or killed by half-trigger officers. Day after day reports come of those shot down because an officer "thought" this or "thought" that, and much of the time the officer's "thinking" has been wrong.

The frequency with which innocent people have been shot down of late by irresponsible is sufficient cause for sharp public resentment, a resentment that should take form in a movement for protection of the public from those who have no business with guns or authority.—Portland Journal.

Mussolini And The Mosaic Law The determination of Mussolini to invoke the Mosaic law in retaliation for attempts to assassinate him does not increase his stature in the eyes of the world. Though it is conceded that would-be assassins may fittingly pay the death penalty, a terrible ruthlessness is evident in the policy that would exterminate, without jury trial, all whose extermination seems desirable to the fascist. Already it is forbidden to criticize it, and they who dare openly to disagree with his policies are speedily lodged in jail. The Italian press is muzzled and impotent. Government is not government. It is Mussolini.

Measures of this variety must surely breed counter measures equally bitter and determined. In Italy the love of liberty is not to be extinguished by any dictator, or however great his following, or however severe his methods. The minority must be augmented by the denial of freedom and of free speech, and every autocratic act or pronouncement of the premier will feed the determination to be rid of him at any cost. Mussolini, hailed by journalists as the most interesting and potent figure in Europe, boasts that he bears a charmed life, and that he will not die while he has work to do.

Not only. Nevertheless, so long as autocracy flourishes he shall have increasing need of that occult pro-

RHODE ISLAND RED LAYS 321 EGGS IN ONE YEAR PERIOD. (Associated Press Leased Wire.) PULLMAN, Wash., Nov. 8.—Having laid enough on her, justly celebrated product to supply Mr. Average Citizen with his "poach one on" almost every morning in the year and enough to supply Mrs. Citizen with egg shampoos for the next 26 years, Lady Redbird, a hen, has completed her first laying year.

The prolific lady is a Rhode Island red belonging to Washington State College and has laid 321 eggs in 365 days, according to the school's department, which says this is one of the largest records for the breed in 1925.

This new hospital will, in itself, save many hundreds of lives and also it will relieve the burden on the Salem sanatorium by cutting down the waiting list and allowing each new patient to have care earlier in the course of the disease. This will add greatly to their chances of recovery. In short, we are headed in the right direction to eliminate tuberculosis as a major cause of death in our state. This is a paying investment in health, happiness and prosperity for Oregon.

Notice of School Election to Increase Tax More Than Six Per Cent Over That of the Previous Year.

Notice is hereby given to the legal voters of School District No. 4 of Douglas County, State of Oregon, that an election will be held in said District at the Junior High School on the 23rd day of November, 1926, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, to vote on the question of increasing the amount of the tax levied in said district for the year 1926-27 by more than 6% over the amount of such levy for the year immediately preceding.

It is necessary to raise this additional amount by special levy for the following reasons: The operation of an additional building and the employment of clerical and teachers whose salaries amount to about $23,000 make it necessary to ask for this increase which amounts to $8,263.74. Dated this 25th day of October, 1926.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE POWER OF PRESS IS DEMONSTRATED

ROSEBURG, Ore., Nov. 5.—Editor News-Review: No better proof of the power of the press could be found than the gratifying majority rolled up by the Eastern Oregon Tuberculosis Hospital Act in this election. In fact no better proof is needed.

The Oregon Tuberculosis Association, which feels a kinship with every agency working for the promotion of public health, owes a special debt of gratitude to the editors of Oregon papers through which many thousands of voters became acquainted with the urgent need for the proposed new hospital.

This new hospital will, in itself, save many hundreds of lives and also it will relieve the burden on the Salem sanatorium by cutting down the waiting list and allowing each new patient to have care earlier in the course of the disease. This will add greatly to their chances of recovery. In short, we are headed in the right direction to eliminate tuberculosis as a major cause of death in our state. BEAUTY CHATS LEMON BLEACHERS

Some beauty preparations are seasonal, fresh cucumber juice for instance, is hard to get except when the gardens are fruitful. But any number of useful beauty aids can be made from lemons, which are in season always, and never expensive.

Don't forget that the juice of a half a lemon in the last rinse water make it a shade or two lighter and a little drier if it is inclined to be oily. If you are on the borderland of being a blonde; that is, if you would like to be the real golden blonde, but tend to have light brown hair, the juice of an entire lemon in the rinse water will do no harm. If your hair is too dry, rub it before the shampoo with oil, and in any case, oily or dry, use an oil soap like castile.

Use lemon juice pure on your finger nails, and under them as well, to remove stains, and to retard the growth of the cuticle over them. If the stains are very stubborn, mix lemon juice with ammonia, about half and half.

A third lemon juice and a third glycerine and a third rose water, makes a hand bleach which can be used on the face as well. The only thing to remember is to get the very highest grade glycerine possible, cheap glycerine will sting the skin, good glycerine bleaches and soothes.

Very sore tired feet can be treated with lemon too. Take a thick slice and rub over the soles and rub and dry the feet. And a slice of lemon bound over a corn will keep it quiet. But this is an awkward sort of treatment. Lemon will bleach sunburn also.

Miss T.—Apply hot, damp cloths

Diet and Health By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D. Author of Diet and Health and Diet for Children ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers.—Jewish Proverb. Evaporated Milk. Mrs. J. lives in a mining camp where she is raising fresh milk, and she wants to know if she shall use the canned milk for her children and family.

You certainly should, Mrs. J., for while it is considered by all nutrition experts that the fresh milk, pasteurized or raw, is better for children than the canned variety, where fresh milk cannot be obtained the canned (or dried) milk must be used, for children must have milk in some form.

In evaporation of milk, there seems to be no doubt that the anti-scurvy vitamin is lost, and perhaps part of the anti-neuritic vitamin, and there is a small loss of mineral elements when the milk is diluted to the ordinary milk water content. But this loss is so small that you need not give it any thought.

The anti-scurvy vitamin can be made up by the use of fresh fruit, especially oranges, and falling these, tomatoes, fresh or canned, or fresh cabbage, should be used. In the case of children, the cabbage should be grated fine, and for babies, the juice should be squeezed out through a cloth. Fresh turnips and other fresh vegetables will also furnish the anti-scurvy vitamin. Rippling Rhymes by Walt Mason

LOCAL BUSINESS. The Hayseed Center posthole works are running night and day; the place is full of busy clerks and workmen earning pay. The postholes manufactured there are always in demand; no holes that will with them compare are made in all the land. "If local people would invest," the manager complains, "we'd send our product east and west on all the railway trains. We need more capital to swing the job in proper style, and coin invested thus would bring to every man a pile. But who'll invest in home concerns when there are fakes to buy, when every looted voter yearns to purchase azure sky? The people here have seen us grow like Jonah's well known gourd; the shop, a few years ago, would scarcely pay our board. And now a busy scene you see, in this our posthole mill, and but one order out of three is all that we can fill. But I can't get our local lads to buy a single share; they all are busy sending seeds to fakers everywhere. They're buying silver foxes now, somewhere in arctic lands, which is a scheme, you must allow, that with the pipe dreams stands. Long since to purchase Belgian hares they send their plunks aboard, and found the beasts were Belgian snares that cinched them for their wad. They're buying stock in mines and wells that bear no gold or oil, and hope they'll soon be wearing bells and cutting out the toil. They'll fall for any dizzy fake that smooth promoters spring; they'll buy an option on the quake that shakes the earth, by jing. But when an honest man they know would sell them gilt-edge stocks in industries ordained to grow, they're frozen to their ricks." "It is too bad," I made reply; "your works, I know, are grand; a hundred shares I'd gladly buy, if I had coin in hand. But I am with the also-rans; I bought a thousand shares in that new company that plans to import polar bears."
