CANYONVILLE CHURCH RIOT CASE HEARD

had gone outside and had joined the other young men, who were standing there. Shortly after the tarry meeting started they returned to the tent and started down front in order to obtain seats where they could see well.

As they got near the front, Mr. Boyle said, the preacher stopped them and ordered them to clear the aisles. Boyle said he stopped and leaned against the bench, and that the others took seats pointed out to them by the preacher. Boyle said Rev. Shaffer stood across the aisle about a foot in front of him, and with his arms akimbo. Boyle started forward, according to his testimony, to take a front seat, and the preacher jabbed him in the short ribs with his elbow. Boyle said that he then stopped and said that he was not causing trouble, but that he was ordered to "get out." The preacher tried to shove him, Boyle said, and he then knocked the preacher's hands away, and finally struck him. The preacher-mayor, Boyle said, recovered his balance and then swung a blackjack, and the rest of the fight was lost to the witness.

He admitted that he had a strong feeling against the preacher. The court ruled that testimony regarding the fact that Boyle is now under bonds to keep the peace and that he was convicted of assault and battery on Rev. Shaffer was not admissible.

Black Jack Used

Robley Hopkins testified that he saw members of the congregation armed with pick and axe handles engaging in the fight, and that he saw Bartley hit Dubell with a black jack. He described Dubell's condition following the fight.

"Why did you go to the revival meeting?" Luke Beals was asked.

"I went to see the show," was his answer.

He testified that he saw the preacher strike Boyle in the ribs and that he (Beals) later took a blackjack away from the preacher. The weapon was identified by him and introduced as evidence.

Carl Beals also described the fight and testified regarding Dubell's condition. Beals and Dubell were handcuffed together on the trip to Roseburg. Beals said that they were brought to the sheriff's office and it was not until their arrival there that they were given medical attention. Dr. Hoover was called, he said, and immediately ordered Dubell removed to the hospital. Beals was thrown in jail.

Opal McClane said that she saw Charles Bartley and another man put out the lights and that she saw some of the church force swinging axe handles. She also said that she heard people offer to give first aid to Dubell, but that the preacher refused to allow them to approach and said that it was good enough for him.

Edward Shirtcliff also described the fight, giving the same testimony as preceding witnesses. He said that his wife had insisted upon going to the meetings previously, but that he had put off going, but that she had persuaded him to go to the "big show" the last night.

Mrs. Shirtcliff, who followed her husband on the stand described the tarry meeting as a "circus."

Noble Wilder testified that he went to "watch them roll."

This afternoon the plaintiff's witnesses were Nellis Hopkins, Sherman Chapin Gerald Pickett and Josie Pickett. As there were still a number of witnesses to be called it was evident that the plaintiff's side of the case would not be finished today. The trial will probably continue all day Monday and probably well into Tuesday.

OREGON-AGGIE BATTLE STAGED IN SEA OF MUD

bution voiced by Congressman John J. Gorman of Chicago.

Gorman claimed that he had received only 100 tickets to divide among 5,000 friends who had applied to him.

"We are obligated to the extent of $630,000 made necessary by the transportation of the students together with their maintenance and entertainment and extra work required at the stadium," said President Kelly. "It appears at this time that we will not get much out of the game."

Mr. Kelly said that 12,000 of the board's 40,000 tickets had been distributed to congressmen throughout the United States and he maintained that Gorman's claims were preposterous.

Detailing how the game had been brought to Chicago, he continued: "It was thought at that time that public spirited citizens might finance the game. On looking into the matter the South Park board found it would be impossible to handle it that way and that they would be obligated in every way to take care of the finances in order to close the matter with the two schools.

"But most congressmen and senators have been fair in their demands. We have distributed but 12,000 tickets to congressmen over the United States. They come from our 40,000 seats. This insures that the tickets are scattered throughout the country. I trust that we shall not be considered egotistical when we say that we have done well in the distribution. We have the name and address of every one receiving tickets through us and we have been careful not to sell large blocks of tickets."

STATE WILL NOT MEDDLE IN ROSS ISLAND DISPUTE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 20.—The attorney general's office does not contemplate legal action to test the title to the Ross Island group, Attorney General Van Winkle declared today.

"In view of the fact that there has appeared in the press articles conveying the impression that the attorney general's office contemplates legal action to test the title of the Ross Island Sand and Gravel company to properties acquired from John Kiernan, comprising the Ross Island group of islands in the Willamette river, I want to state that this office has never and does not now question the title of the company to these islands," said Van Winkle.

"The question has arisen as to the exact location of the low water line of these islands and the state engineer's office is making a survey to determine this line. This does not involve any controversy with the Ross Island Sand and Gravel company, but on the contrary we have had its cooperation in the matter.

"In conclusion I wish to add that this office does not wish to be involved in any way in any sand and gravel controversy, fancied or real, between the opposing sand and gravel interests."

RELEASED LUNATIC USES MOTHER AS BULLET SHIELD

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

FLORENCE, S. C., Nov. 20.—In a little house at Kingstree, 25 miles from here, Harold Wheeler, 30, was barricaded today, using his mother as a shield against police who seek him for shooting Sheriff Henry G. Gamble of Williamsburg county.

The sheriff was severely wounded when he sought to arrest Wheeler on a charge of attempting to wreck four passenger trains of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad. Wheeler was released from the state insane asylum six months ago.

UNION PACIFIC SHOPMEN RECEIVE SALARY RAISE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 20. — Increase of pay for 14,000 Union Pacific employes was announced here today.

Twelve thousand shop employes and two thousand miscellaneous workers, including mostly maintenance workers, linemen, mechanics, and helpers will share in the raise which wil not exceed the rate of two cents an hour. The shop men will get their increase effective December 1. Other employes' raises will start January 1.

The increase is the result of increased output of the employes.

TURKEYS BRINGING $70,000 INTO COUNTY AT THIS SEASON

Seven carloads of turkeys for the Thanksgiving market have been shipped out of Douglas County, during the week. Two of these have been from Roseburg, three from Oakland, one from Drain and one from Yoncalla. In addition a few crates have been shipped out in express cars, so that the total will run over seven full carloads. Roughly estimated the Thanksgiving turkey market has released $70,000 in Douglas County, for at 42 cents a pound, that is the amount which would be paid growers, while payment for labor in crating and hauling is in addition. It is estimated that less than one-half of the county's turkey crop has been sold, so that, at equal prices, there will be still more money coming in from turkeys at Christmas time.

BURROUGHS INDICTED

NEW FRUIT AND BROCCOLI UNION HOLDS MEETING

At a meeting held in the old Oregon Growers Building this morning a preliminary organization was completed by the Roseburg Fruit and Broccoli Union. Hugh Ritchie was elected president, L. L. Bodle, vice-president, Fred Curtis, Joe Harvey and Ben Jones, directors. R. H. C. Wood was elected secretary-manager.

It was decided that the concern should not incorporate at present. It will handle broccoli, apples, pears, cherries and other fruit and vegetable products of the county.

Rules and regulations for conducting the business affairs of the company were adopted. It was decided to hold the next meeting in January.

KRUGER WINS SUIT.

The jury in the case of the Douglas Creditors Association against H. E. Kruger returned a verdict today in favor of the defendant, Mr. Kruger. The case was one in which the company was endeavoring to collect on an assigned claim.

Smash!! Crash!! Rip!! Bang!! That's Auto Polo—

HAVE YOU SEEN the game, auto polo? No other automobile in the world would stand this tremendous abuse and use—and what is true in polo is true in the every day use of the Ford car.

CHEERING THOUSANDS acclaim the merit and superiority of the FORD PLANETARY TRANSMISSION in polo—and other COUNTLESS THOUSANDS attest its superiority over all other light weight cars in every day driving.

No Gears to Strip or Break A Transmission Supreme

In the automobile world for 25 years—ONE operation to get in and out of traffic and away from danger instead of 9 GEAR SHIFT operations (if everything goes O. K. and the gears mesh properly, which they don't always) causing accidents and loss of life.

POLO proves conclusively that the FORD CAR has the best wearing material and is positively the most economical automobile in the world.
