

Gentlemen may prefer blondes— nevertheless both Blondes & Brunettes

When Anita Loos wrote "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," she caused a hurricane of laughter to sweep o'er the nation... popularity came where it was deserved. It's always the same, whether it's in books, motion pictures, automobiles, food stores or what not. Take PIGGLY WIGGLY, for instance. Thousands upon thousands of folks travel the turnstile route every day... picking what they want... and praising the system that makes this possible. PIGGLY WIGGLY is popular... extremely popular... because they are recognized as the most practical and economical food stores in all the world.

Did You Ever Stop to Think

By Edson R. Waite, Secretary of the Shawnee, Oklahoma, Board of Commerce.

THAT a whole lot of people get the habit of spending money too free, without thought for TOMORROW!

THAT they indulge in too many luxuries which their incomes will not stand; they seem to have no thought for the future. Of course, it is their money and they have a right to spend it, but they have no right to forget TOMORROW! THAT most of them are gaining much experience and what they call joy, but how about TOMORROW?

THAT if they would slow down, live within their incomes and save, they would be happier TOMORROW!

THAT the people cannot live beyond their means and put up a "holer" because they can't live that way TOMORROW!

THAT now is the time for these people to re-adjust their way of living and start in and spend their money judiciously. It may be too late TOMORROW!

THAT money made honestly should be spent honestly. Throwing it away to gratify every wish and to indulge in things that they cannot afford only brings trouble TOMORROW!

People, like cities, should build for TOMORROW!

Aid For Fool-Killer.

Statistics compiled by the Southern Pacific company show that 390 of its crossing gates were crashed by automobiles during the year 1925. Six of its flagmen were run down while trying to prevent motorists from driving on the tracks when trains were coming. A few cases were recorded where in the automobile drivers dashed head-on into the middle of long trains that were passing over the crossing. The fool-killer may be lax in his duties these days, but these figures make it apparent that there is not the need for his activities that there used to be, since so many are attending to their own taking off. — Eugene Guard.

Diamonds and Famine.

A $24,000 diamond called "Golden Dawn" has been bought by Aga Khan, a prince of India. The Golden Dawn will stay in the East, as usual, and when the next famine comes to India, the golden dollars will come from the West, also as usual. — Portland Telegram.

Another Best Policy

"To buy good flour is the best policy," advises Paul Richards, one of the foremost baking authorities. "Good flour is the foundation of good bread," he says, "and the best flour is none too good for the baker. Such a flour is ordinarily known by its market value."

There is something wonderfully satisfying about Fisher's Blend Brand Flour for home use. It is a good flour. Being milled according to formula, at all times it is uniform in its composition of flour elements and for that reason its action in cooking is always normal.

Many of the baking worries can be laid at the door of variable flour, so the housewife has learned to be particular about the brand name.

Fisher's Blend Brand Flour is the best policy because it is the best flour—the same today, as last month, as ten years ago.
