ANTI-POLLUTION BILL PLAN SLAIN BY MAYOR BAKER

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 15.—A drastic anti-pollution bill which was to have been presented to the legislature by the Anti-Stream Pollution league, was shelved by the executive committee of the league at a conference late yesterday after it was pointed out by Mayor George L. Baker that it would cost Portland alone at least $35,000,000 to comply with the terms of the bill.

The bill provided that all cities, persons, firms or corporations now dumping sewage into the streams of the state must install adequate sewage disposal plants by 1929.

Instead of the bill, a substitute for funds for a study of the pollution question by a committee appointed by the governor.

FEDERAL LIQUOR TRAP ASSAILED BY LAGUARDIA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Demand for grand jury action against operators of the New York bridge whist club was made today by Representative Laguardia, republican, New York, who said he was prompted by recent admissions by Secretary Mellon that the club was conducted as a blind to snare liquor law violators.

In a letter to District Attorney Buckner, the New York representative asked for indictments against Chester P. Mills, prohibition administrator for New York city, and A. Bruce Bielaski and Ralph W. Bickle, "under cover men for the prohibition unit, on the grounds that Bickle had admitted selling liquor in the club and therefore had violated the law.

"You will, without and difficulty, be able to present facts," Laguardia's letter said, "showing that the said Ralph Bickle sold liquor (at the club) by direction, advice and with the knowledge and consent of the said Chester P. Mills and A. Bruce Bielaski."

Secretary Mellon, in a communication to Chairman Graham of the house judiciary committee, admitted recently that prohibition unit funds were used to conduct the club.

DOCTORS SETHER AND DALE LOSE VALUABLE RADIUM UNIT

EUGENE, Jan. 15—Continued searching for two days failed to reveal the whereabouts of a unit of radium, valued at $3000, lost in the office of Drs. A. F. Sether and W. H. Dale, Wednesday, when it was dropped on the floor while being changed from one container to another. Another small quantity of the valuable mineral was lost in the same office some time ago and has not been recovered.

FIVE SCORE VIE IN CONTEST FOR WRIGLEY PRIZE

the sand ten minutes late with a bathing suit under one arm and a portable radio under the other. The rule demanding an eight o'clock appearance was set aside when Snelling explained that he felt it necessary to obtain a radio set to keep in touch with the race and he hustled into his suit and grease.

Five withdrawals were announced shortly after the first check in. They were: Robert H. Childs, Buffalo, N. Y.; Shier Mendelson, Toronto, Ont.; Isaac Schamus, Los Angeles; Charles W. Kabiscus, Ocean Park, Calif., and Cealo Mohawk, Santa Barbara, Calif.

The breeze brisked a bit after the greasing up process began and the sea grew choppy. Mariners familiar with freakish wind and wave conditions which prevail in the channel during the winter months, however, said indications were for "good weather."

Wrigley Is Spectator.

Wrigley, sponsor of the sea derby, is watching the contest from the official tug, Milton S. Patrick, commanded by J. H. Patrick, manager of the chicle manufacturer's interests in southern California. Several other craft are trailing the swimmers, among them the Associated Press tug, equipped with wireless masts, and the steamer Avalon, crowded with newspaper men and photographers.

Odds On Two Women.

Despite a leg injury which she received in training, Mrs. Charlotte Schoemmel of Howard Beach, Long Island, was determined to make the start. Mrs. Schoemmel, who started a controversy over the use of axle grease bathing suits, has been a favorite by reason of numerous notable long distance accomplishments.

Betting odds on the feminine candidates also featured Miss Clarabelle Barrett, the school teacher entrant from Rochelle, N. Y., who last year pluckily fought for more than 24 hours to swim the English channel.

For the most part the entries ran to youth, but among those who awaited the starting gun were several gray thatched veterans of the swimming game, among them Henry F. Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., and Charles Troth of Boston who successfully crossed the English passage in 1923. Against these plodding but persevering paddlers were pitted the speed of youth. Norman Ross and Leo Purcell of San Francisco and George Young, Canadian long distance champion, have all shown fleetness in the water.

Varieties of Grease.

As varied as the currents in the channel were the kinds of grease prepared by the swimmers as a protection against the chilly waters of the channel, and in many cases in lieu of bathing suits. Plain axle grease appeared the most popular. Mrs. Schoemmel brought her own from the east, a special greyish mixture.

A composition grease which is declared to produce an artificial heat when it comes into contact with water was adopted by Charles Rose and H. Caldwell of Long Beach, who last year attempted to swim the San Pedro channel. Norman Ross, however, discarded the use of grease in the belief that it increases the chilling effect of the water.

Ross Regarded Winner.

Despite Ross' decision to swim without a grease covering the giant athlete continued to rule a favorite in the fields of starters. His announcement, however, caused a slight falling off in the odds, for although he perhaps is the fastest and most powerful swimmer among the masculine entrants, it was felt his failure to take any protective measure against the numbing cold of the channel waters would handicap him some.

Backers of Sullivan and Troth are numerous. They believe that such fast swimmers as Ross, Purcell and Young, swimming at a speedy pace, will tire themselves out before they have gone far, whereas, the men they support can swim indefinitely at the slow consistent pace they use.

52 Fail to Start.

Forty-three men and nine women of the official entry list of 154, which was increased from 153 at the eleventh hour by the arrival of Ruth Rhodes of Seattle, failed to make the start.

The women who turned down the long paddle attempt were: Pauline Jackson, New York; Lottie Mayer, Chicago, rated a "dare devil" swimmer; Mrs. Alma Moore, Los Angeles; Miss Ellen Ray, New York; Pearl Purdy Ireland, Balboa, Calif.; Marjorie Williamson, Los Angeles; Loretta Rush, Los Angeles; Mary Mabery, Los Angeles, and Thelma Parr, Los Angeles.

BITTER DEBATE IN CONGRESS ON INTERVENTION

dealing with the Nicaraguan-Mexican situation, cable advices presenting a kaleidoscopic picture of reactions to this country's attitude are being received from many points.

Foremost in importance perhaps is a cablegram sent to The Associated Press at New York by Juan B. Sacasa, Liberal, engaged in civil war with Adolfo Diaz, conservative president of Nicaragua, denying reports that he contemplated giving up his fight and leaving the country, and declaring he would remain at his post "to the last extreme."

"Despite the effective blockade which is being made more and more pressing each day against my government and army by the American naval forces throughout the so-called neutral zones," Sacasa said, "I maintain my determination to remain at my post to the last extreme."

A message indicating "the disposition of my government to accept American supervision of elections in 1928," also was sent The Associated Press by President Diaz. No information has been received as to what progress is being made in the attempted mediation of the dispute by Costa Rica.

U. S. Action Decried.

Meanwhile, San Salvador dispatches say that more than 4,000 persons, chiefly students and laborers, marched through the streets of that city in protest against the policy of the United States and listened to addresses endorsing the attitude of President Calles of Mexico and denouncing "American imperialism."

There was no disorder.

Cuban dispatches report the arrest of Clodoardo Alvarez, a student, and Manuel Suri, a printer of Mexican nationality, on charges of distributing a pamphlet, signed by 32 students, attacking the American stand in Nicaragua.

The pamphlet, suppressed by Cuban authorities, declared "once more the boots of the capitalists of Wall Street, in connivance with the White House, have violated the integrity of a sister nation," and added:

"This new attempt against the liberty of Latin-America makes patent the political perfidy of the White House and constitutes a dark presage for the future of the continent."

Sacasa Tries Bluff.

Sacasa, who has been recognized as president of Nicaragua by Mexico, is reported in Guatemala City dispatches to Mexico City as having sent a note to Secretary Kellogg protesting against "North American intervention in Nicaragua," and demanding withdrawal of American marines with a threat that unless this was done he would ask all Spanish-American countries to give armed aid in combating the "Yankee invasion."

REORGANIZATION OF RECLAMATION REGIONS ADVISED

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 15.—Recommendation for the reorganization of the "sick" irrigation districts, and for changes that would empower the state engineer and the securities commission to exercise a more effective suprvision over reclamation projects are contained in a report to the legislature made by Rhea Luper, state engineer. Any plan of reorganization, he says, must be acceptable to both bondholders and settlers, but the state must not be called upon to assume the liabilities of irrigation districts. Like the Oregon irrigation congress, Luper recommends creation of an irrigation department to assist in the colonization of all projects.

"There are 44 active districts in the state," says Luper, "of which 29 have issued bonds which have been certified by the secretary of state. Of these probably 13 are in a sound condition and able to work out their own problems. Nine with bond issues totalling $1,711,000 could be worked out without loss to the creditors if taken over by some strong financial agency with a guarantee to the settlers that they would be protected against the payment of more than their proportionate share of the cost of indebtedness. Of these districts eight are probably insolvent, and will require financial reorganization involving loss to creditors."

The Open Door to Business

The business man is now accessible by another route than through the doorway of his private office. A business call by Long Distance Telephone merits a prompt answer and gains immediate interest and attention.

Increasingly, business houses are augmenting regular salesmen's visits by "in-between" Long Distance calls. Results: Larger volume of business and quicker turnover at a reduced selling cost. ¶ Many new and practical uses of Long Distance are no doubt applicable to your business. These will be cheerfully discussed with you upon request to the Business Office of the Telephone Company.
