MOTHER!

Read This If Your Child Is Thin and Physically Below Par

The School Age is the period when mothers must watch their children. The nerve strain of study, the physical strain of play slowly but surely saps their reserve vitality. Colds and contagious find them easy prey.

A growing school child needs Cod Liver Oil to build and keep up strength, healthy flesh, weight and bodily resistance. And now, instead of the old-fashioned, nasty oil that children hate, you can get all its benefits in McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—as easy to take as candy. Ask W. F. Chapman or any druggist. Demand McCoy's and if your child hasn't gained in 30 days, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

MAIL CARRYING LINES GET RAISE

(Associated Press Local Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Ten small railroads operating in Rocky mountain and Pacific coast territory were given permission by the Interstate Commerce Commission today to increase rates for hauling the mail by amounts ranging upwards of 50 per cent.

The difficulties of operation on short lines, the commission held, entitles the roads to larger earnings from the mails.

The award is retroactive, effective from the different dates of 1925 when the railroads filed their complaints.

Roads which will receive the increase include the Great Western railway and the Nevada-California-Oregon.

WETS ENVISION

1928 BATTLE ON LIQUOR QUESTION

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—Next year's elections will result in the return of the prohibition question to the states for solution in the opinion of Representative John Philip Hill of Maryland.

Speaking at the "anti-prohibition enlightenment dinner," sponsored by the Philadelphia Boosters association, he said that the war wave of governmental centralization was "receding with geometrically increasing volume," and added that he based his belief of return of the question to the states on the opinion of "three quarters of the members of the house of representatives."

Opening a campaign against prohibition, the dinner was attended by one thousand prominent anti-prohibitionists of this and other cities of the east. Senator Ellet William S. Ware, in Washington, telegraphed wishes of success to the gathering and the democratic organization of New York promised support to the wet cause in Pennsylvania in a message signed by John J. Casey.

The assertion that the Volstead act never had been enforced and belief that it never could be enforced was voiced by Congressman John J. Douglas of Massachusetts, who added that "so long as it does not represent the will of the people it is folly to attempt to enforce it."

Resolutions adopted by the dinner called upon congress to repeal the Volstead act and urged the Pennsylvania legislature to authorize a referendum to determine whether the citizens of the state desire the repeal of the 18th amendment and the repeal or modification of the enforcement act.

Searches and seizures under the act were unreasonable, it was charged.

AUTO WRECK LEADS TO SUIT IN JUSTICE COURT

A jury trial in the circuit court was started this afternoon to settle a dispute between W. Hoelt and M. V. Spague. The case grows an appeal from the receivership. New York offices of the Chaplin interests will decide whether the bond will be forthcoming.

In the meantime the studio remains under the control of the receivership.

On the heels of yesterday's court developments came the announcement by federal authorities they would require Chaplin to file a bond of approximately $1,000,000 within ten days as the result of the government's income tax liens which total $1,073,721.

OREGON STATE MOTOR ASSN. NAMES OFFICERS

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 20.—The Oregon State Motor association last night re-elected its officers and directors at its fourth annual meeting here. The officers are: Joseph E. Dagne, president; W. R. McDonald, vice-president; F. C. Stettler, treasurer, and George O. Brandenburg, secretary, all of Portland.

Directors who were nominated by their home districts and whose nominations were confirmed last night were: R. G. Moss, Seaside, district No. 1; Joseph E. Shelton, Eugene, district No. 2; Senator Edward Miller, Grants Pass, district No. 3; and A. B. Robertson, Condon, district No. 4.

On the basis of the receivers' report, Superior Judge Walter F. Guerin yesterday ordered the Chaplin studios, Inc., to post surety bond of $1,000,000 to protect Mrs. Chaplin's interests pending $17,000 of which is in California banks and in the jurisdiction of the courts. This is sufficient to cover the present sums due Mrs. Chaplin. Her attorneys, however, desire that payment of future all-money installments be assured, and it is upon this issue that corporation funds may be attacked.

In addition to $933,772 in bank deposits of Chaplin and his corporation, the receivers reported assets of $537,065, all readily convertible and exclusive of real estate.
