In the northern part of the state society is finding pleasures innumerable in the recent snows which offer much in the way of winter sports found at the resorts. Music concerts, too, have held sway in the north during the past two weeks. Perhaps one of the most interesting events in musical circles of mid-week occurred in Eugene when Elly Ney, world renowned pianist, appeared in special concert at the McArthur court, the new basketball pavilion. She is the wife of Wilhelm von Hoegstraten, who is familiar to Oregon music lovers as well as musicians. Mme. Ney has been touring the world for the past ten months, making appearances in many famous cities where her ovation has been wonderful. In sponsoring her concert, the associated students of the University of Oregon offered many southern Oregonians an opportunity to hear one of those noted for her devotion to Beethoven. Mme. Ney does not confine herself to this one artist, however, but has a wide repertoire. Mme. Ney last week, as guest pianist, appeared on the Portland Symphony orchestra program Monday evening at the Auditorium.

Roseburg is being offered an outstanding artists' recital next week when Ruth Bradley Keiser will present a concert under the auspices of the Douglas County Music Teachers' Association and the Heintline Conservatory of Music. Mrs. Keiser, who is a pianist of note, is well known to Oregon music lovers.

The social calendar of the past week has been noticeably lacking in large affairs, however, there are always numerous social clubs meeting and bridge for diversion. The informal evening and bridge parties are gaining in popularity. February, with several outstanding dates, promises much in the way of entertainment.

Mrs. Nichols Hostess at Second of Series Attractive Affairs

Mrs. J. Harold Nichols planned an attractive 6:30 o'clock bridge supper for the second of a series of social events at which bridge is the feature. Her friends, inviting a group to her Brookway home on Saturday evening.

Bowls of lovely snapdragons enhanced the rooms where the guests were seated at the elegantly appointed tables. Mrs. E. Victor Nichols, Mrs. Cyril Nichols and Mrs. I. B. Nichols were assisting in the rooms.

The tables were cleared for bridge during the evening and at the end of the game high score was held by Mrs. Joseph A. Denn. Second prize went to Mrs. R. L. Whipple.

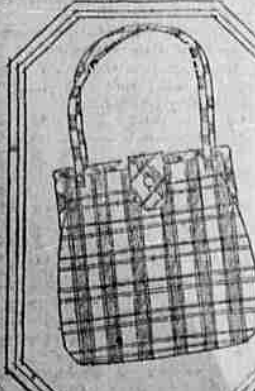

At play were the Mesdames R. Williams, R. L. Whipple, Jack Wharton, Kenneth Quine, Horace Berg, H. C. Channing, Norris Fairbanks (Claire Taylor), Hugh Ritchie, Jr., W. T. Craven, Walter Shecker, Joseph A. Denn, S. J. Shoemaker, Roy Catching, Ned Dixon, Cyril Nichols, E. Victor Nichols and the Misses Helen Casey and Bess Wharton.

W. B. A. Installs Officers Thursday

On Thursday evening the officers of the W. B. A. were installed at ceremonies at the Macabee hall, a social hour and serving of refreshments following the installation.

The officers who will serve this year are: Mrs. Helen Huffman, commander; Mrs. Grant Wilcox, lieutenant commander; Mrs. Ura Rapp, past commander; Mrs. Jessie Rapp, collector; Mrs. Edna Rausch, finance keeper; Mrs. Lillian Wheeler, record keeper; Miss Dora Gammon, chaplain; Mrs. Belle Stephenson, lady-at-arms; Mrs. Clara Bonebrake, captain; Mrs. Grace Pappal, musician; Mrs. Bonebrake acted as installing officer. Mrs. Ura Rapp, the retiring commander was presented with a hand painted tea set by the members of the organization.

Roseburg Maid to Have One of Main Roles in "The Mikado"

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Jan. 29.—Evelyn Quine of Roseburg, sophomore in music has been chosen for the part of Yum-Yum in the operetta "The Mikado," that is to be presented by the college Glee club in Corvallis at the Majestic theatre March 11 and 12. It will also be given at Roseburg, Klamath Falls, Prineville and other towns when the glee club takes its annual tour in March.

"The Mikado" was composed by W. S. Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan.

Miss Quine is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. George K. Quine of Roseburg. She received high commendation on her interpretation of the principal role in the operetta presented by the college glee club last year, and her ability as a singer is well known in musical circles. Those who are acquainted with Miss Quine as well as music patrons in the city will welcome the opportunity to hear the operetta.

Umpqua Camp Fire Girls Meet

A meeting of the Umpqua Camp-fire girls was held Saturday, January 22, at the home of the Guardian, Mrs. C. E. Huffman. Officers for the year were elected. Those who will hold office are: president, Marjorie Cochran; vice-president, Dorothy Arundel; secretary, Bernice Wainwright; treasurer, Margaret Page; scribe, Dorothy Staley. Plans were made for an outing at Canyonville Camp for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, which have been abandoned on account of inclement weather.

Queen Esther Club Has Anniversary Supper

The Queen Esther Missionary Club members celebrated the first anniversary of the organization on Monday evening when they gathered for a supper at the Methodist Episcopal church. The club colors prevailed at the table and were guests for the occasion were Mrs. F. H. Churchill and Mrs. Joseph Knotts. The club yell and toasts to the organization's work were given during the hour. A great deal of good work is being accomplished through this missionary channel.

L. F. T. Dance Is Delightful Event Tuesday

The L. F. T. Club held another of the pleasurable dances which each month is delightful to the members, when on Tuesday evening at the Knights of Pythias hall there was assembled an almost full membership. The affair was perhaps the most enjoyable of the club's more formal social events this season and a good orchestra provided the music for the dancers.

A. B. Abbott was in charge of the feature dances and tag numbers, the Paul Jones and other novel manners of securing partners occupied and amused the group until the supper hour.

Supper was served at 11 o'clock in the dining hall.

Owing to counter attractions the dance for February is being postponed until March 1. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Quise are joint chairmen for the affair. At the dance Tuesday evening several new members were added to the organization.

Hosts for the affair Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Story Hess, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lockwood, Dr. and Mrs. Lee A. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Bradburn, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McElhinny, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ott and Geo. Culver.

Vivian Orcutt in "The Mikado"

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Jan. 29.—Vivian Orcutt of Roseburg, sophomore in vocational education, has been chosen as a member of the chorus which will take part in the presentation of "The Mikado," an operetta to be given here by the Madrigal and Glee clubs of the college. The operetta is one of the most popular of the late productions.

Miss Orcutt is well known in musical circles in the city and last year was a member of the cast of the operetta presented by the Glee clubs at the college. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Orcutt.

Pleasant Affair Thursday Eve at Singleton Home

Walter Singleton was honored by a group of his friends on Thursday evening when they called at his home, the occasion being his birthday anniversary. Cards proved diverting during the evening and afterward luncheon was served at the tables.

Included in the group spending the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Singleton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Healy, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Britton, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Arthur, Lucia Britton, Athalie Taylor and Ford Singleton.

Ships Growing Popular as Home Decoration

"Into every artistic home comes the graceful ship—in pictures, in models—and now as a stunning art color medallion," says May Blondel, who discusses the proper artistic note for the modern home, in the February McCall's.

Says Miss Blondel: "Red sails with white insignia against a dark blue sky—this stately galleon makes a beautiful decoration for boxes, bookcovers, waste baskets, etc. On lampshades with the light shining through its red sails, it is particularly lovely.

"Delicate colors must be chosen for the nursery which makes a background for the dainty tyrant who reigns there. Painted furniture of ivory or soft green, blues or rose may be selected and a touch of individuality is a Kate Greenaway motif. This quaint design is a rose tree, bluebird, a little girl in peach and a boy in lavender against a background of delicate green, while the whole medallion is bounded by a blue-green ribbon. Paste in place, varnish and they look handpainted on furniture. On lampshades and candle shields, boxes, trays, etc., they are equally charming."

Woman's Club Social Day Is Tuesday

For social day members of the Roseburg Woman's Club are inviting guests, their meeting taking place Tuesday afternoon, February 1, at the I. O. O. F. hall. Mrs. W. S. Jost, the president, will preside at the affair.

Music for the afternoon will be in charge of Mrs. Birney West and several numbers of interest are on the program. The program topic is of interest and will concern community service. The Camp Fire groups and the Boy Scouts of the city have been invited to take part in the program, of which Mrs. John Runyan is chairman. Assisting her are Mrs. H. D. Harris and Mrs. B. W. Maddux.

Valentine's Day will be the inspiration for the color motif in the hall and at the table where refreshments will be served at the end of the afternoon. Hostesses are Mrs. J. G. Ponsler, Mrs. H. D. Harris, Mrs. W. S. Jost and Mrs. A. H. Perrin.

Interesting Affair Honors Matron

An interesting affair on Tuesday evening occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Russell, where a group gathered following the Rebekah lodge session to surprise Mrs. V. T. Jackson, whose birthday anniversary occurred on that date.

Tables of five hundred were in play and at the end of the game refreshments were served. Mrs. Jackson was presented with several pieces of silver by her friends.

Included in the group enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pickens, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Pickens, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Busenbark, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Goff, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Roadman, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Russell, Mrs. Emma Lenox, Miss Lu Laubauch and C. E. Mansfield.

Ruth Bradley Keiser, Oregon Artist, to Appear Here

It has been said of Ruth Bradley Keiser, concert pianist, who will present a concert in Roseburg on Friday evening, February 4, at the First Methodist Episcopal church, that she is one of those earnest young artists of unusual talent, a woman alive and alert with the intelligence and soul of a woman and the power and firmness usually ascribed especially to the man in playing. Music lovers of Roseburg are being offered an unusually fine program by a woman who has received wide recognition in music circles. The concert, the second of a series of artists' recitals, is being sponsored by the Douglas County Music Teachers' Association and the Heintline Conservatory of Music, which together are bringing some worthwhile music and musicians to the city during the season.

Bridge Diversion for Affair Tuesday Eve

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Denn were hosts for an informal evening of bridge at their home in Laurelwood on Tuesday, inviting a few friends.

When scores were totaled Mrs. J. E. Dillard held high honors. Luncheon covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Archie Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Dillard and the hosts.

Number Attend Union All Day Prayer Meeting

On Tuesday the Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church sponsored a union prayer-meeting in the church parlors. The morning session was presided over by Mrs. J. O. Arthur. The scripture was from the 23rd Psalm, John 15 and the 19th Psalm. Mrs. C. H. Arundel was accompanist.

The second session was in charge of the Baptist ladies. Mrs. C. H. Wickham read the 17th chapter of John and Mrs. Crawford gave a short talk on the needs of the Moslem world. Mrs. Achor gave a talk on "Requests for Prayer." Mrs. O. H. Pickens, Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. A. C. Masters led in prayer. Several hymns were sung and Mrs. Chas. Brand favored the ladies with a beautiful vocal solo. Mrs. Chloie Osborn was accompanist for the hour.

The third session was in charge of the ladies of the Methodist church north, and following an opening prayer, and reading of scripture, several short articles were read, requesting prayer for various mission fields. Mrs. A. N. Orcutt sang, accompanied by Mrs. Chas. Heintline. "Blessed Assurance" was sung by all.

Mrs. Trueblood had charge of the fourth session and chose as her scripture Act 12:1-17. She urged the reading of "Christ of the In-

SHORT JACKET VOGUE HITS SPORTS

Early Spring and Winter Resort Styles in Outdoor Frocks Offer Opportunity For Artistic Contrast

Sport Wear Still Casual But Is Neatly Cut

BY HENRI BENDEL
For NEA Service
NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The sport costume has definitely settled itself in the mode and is now just as much of a fixture as is the evening or dinner gown.

Sport attire is still casual in appearance, but it is no longer casually treated by designers and costumers. Now that French couturiers have definitely accepted it, the sweater, jumper and one piece sport dress is receiving the care in detail, the refinement of line and fabric that any elaborate frock receives.

Stress the Color

For winter resort wear and for early spring, particular art has been lavished on color and material. Wool has exceeded everyone's fondest expectations. It is indeed a far cry from the unwelldly chevrons and tweeds of our youth to the cobwebby, velvety wool textures of today.

Wide Color Range

In color compass, it is difficult to be specific, because the range is so wide. Naturally much is said about blue because it is being revived, but in spite of its popularity blue has no monopoly. The rose shades as well as the deeper reds and pal-or pinks are very much in evidence at Palm Beach, and so is the violet mauve tone that is so marvelously soft and appealing in wool. Yellow is extremely smart.

Short Jacket Vogue

The vogue for the short, unlined jacket plays right into the hand of the sport frock, and often offers an interesting opportunity for contrast—for instance, a navy blue jacket with a bold de rose frock, or a silk frock with a short jersey jacket of a darker tone.

The tweed or flannel coat, lightly collared in fur or quite self-trimmed is a swank, narrow line affair this season that makes the harmonious wrap.

My own taste inclines toward pastel colors in sport attire. Because of the boyishness of line and cut, I like this gesture of femininity in color. Also I like some slight coyness about the hat that is worn with the sport outfit—dent in the brim or some sanctity in a bow that rebukes the seriousness.

Smart Silhouettes

Photographed today are three typical spring sport frocks that show the smart silhouette for rolling, tramping, and all out of door sports and reveal a hint of smartness and a sophistication that every modern costume demands.

Tweed or Flannel Coat Is Held Very Swank

How you can be rough and ready and smart withal is exemplified by the turtle-neck sweater of angora wool in green and tan, combined with a skirt of pleated brown satin. Horizontal stripes are featured extensively this spring, but naturally belong only on the slender model. This type of sweater is also worn effectively under the tweed or jersey jacket suit.

Angora is Popular

Angora also in apple green as soft as down makes the other sweater that is combined with the finely pleated poplin skirt with a border of green and brown stripes. This combination of green and tan seems the logical one for country wear since it is so harmonious with the background. For this I selected a hat of green Italian straw tucked at the right side and trimmed with green grosgrain ribbon. Very simple, but very chic.

Monograms Popular

Singularly effective and lovely is the monogrammed sweater in salmon pink basket cloth trimmed with pink grosgrain. The fine of a lighter hue which also makes the pleated skirt. The angular neckline enclosing the monogram and the triangular pockets are appropriate little touches that are amiss on an outfit of this tender color. Adding a further touch of smartness to the costume is the close fitting pink felt hat with the brim of black felt that is trimmed with black velvet ribbon.

Millinery for the Millinery Jibes

The sport costume must be in keeping with the general idea. My preference is for the small untrimmed felt or straw hat that matches the frock.

The only jewelry that is really appropriate is possibly one of the colorful slave bracelets, or a ring with some large semi-precious stone that matches or complements the color of the frock. Most women will not relinquish their pearls even for sport clothes, but only a small shaker or inconspicuous short necklace has any excuse for being worn with the regulation sport frock.

Careful Grooming

With the modified sport dress that is good for town as well as for country, I grant more latitude.

The modern sport frock calls for careful grooming, for sleeky brushed hair, for perfectly manicured fingernails and evident daintiness, but there is no place, any more, for careless attire and unlovely effects.
