CANTONESE LOSE BATTLE FOR THE CITY OF SHANGHAI

Northern Victors Fighting Only Bolshevism, Says Leader; People Are Being Deceived.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 8.—The shadow of the war had receded somewhat from Shanghai today as the city received reports that the Cantonese army had been turned back by defending forces under the northern general, Pai Pao-Shan, and was left in retreat some 200 miles away. The result has been that the proposals for neutralization of the international settlement here and foreign plans for defense of the city in case of emergency became less pressing questions.

Despite the indication that the Cantonese forces were being driven back to a point where they cannot for the time being, at least, get within gun range of Shanghai, word came from official of the nationalist government at Hankow that they were opposed to the proposal of American Secretary of State Kellogg that the international settlement here be exempted from the zone of conflict.

Sun Fo, Cantonese leader, was quoted as saying: "We see no necessity of having our own territory protected by foreigners."

King Desires Peace

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The third session of the present parliament, elected in 1924, was opened in state by King George, with time honored ceremony today.

The king's speech opening the session—actually a ministerial statement—was unusually brief and was mainly devoted to the Chinese problem.

He explained that it has been deemed necessary to send to China an adequate force to protect British subjects, because of the happenings at Hankow and other places, but emphasized that it was the desire of the British people to remove all grievances, to renew on an equitable basis and to place our future relations with the Chinese people on a footing of friendship and good will.

Northern Leader Speaks

PEKING, Feb. 8.—Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian dictator and generalissimo of the armies which are fighting the Cantonese, made a bid for the favor of foreign powers today when on behalf of the northern military forces he laid out a statement pledging protection of all foreign lives and property in the realm of the Peking government.

Marshal Chang promised that the Peking government would maintain its credit obligations but warned that "we expect the powers to respect our public opinion and sovereign rights so that the Chinese may be freed of fear of possible invasion from the outside while the powers may be freed of apprehension over anti-foreign movements."

The northern generalissimo declared his military forces were operating only against Bolshevism and that "there is room for negotiations for all other except Bolshevists."

He outlined an extensive idealistic program of national reforms, preservation of national sovereignty, restoration of order, extension of education facilities and plans for the cooperation of capital and labor. Extension of communication facilities and plans for judicial reform also were included. Referring to the civil war which now besets China he said:

"The sponsors of extreme radicalism in China are making puppets in the hands of certain foreign agents have not failed to seize the present opportunity of misleading a distressed people by erroneous theories which are working havoc. They are bound to fail, but it is intolerable to see the people suffer."

Chang declared economic rehabilitation must be accomplished by augmenting national production power, cutting out unnecessary expenses including limitation of the size of the army.

"The present juncture marks the turning point in the history of China," he said. "For the good of the people and the continuance of friendly relations with the powers it is time to ponder carefully what responsibilities and attitude we face with the powers, should be. Equality in international treatment is the only safeguard to world peace."

MacDonald Warns Britain.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The British government is "playing with fire," in sending troops to China, the House of Commons was told today by Ramsay MacDonald, former labor premier, during a debate on the king's speech from the throne.

Mr. MacDonald appealed for reopening of the negotiations with the Chinese, after which, he said, the troops now on the way to the far east could be diverted and not landed anywhere in China.

May Divert Troops.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—On the basis of information forwarded from the British minister at Peking, Miles W. Lamson, and Owen O'Malley, British representative at Hankow, the cabinet is understood to be leaning toward the proposal to divert to Hongkong the British defense troops now on the way to Shanghai.

It is felt here that a solution of the difficulty might be brought about by the foreign colonies in Shanghai declaring they would derive as much comfort from the fact that the troops were held in readiness nearby as if they were in Shanghai.

At any rate no definite decision is expected until it is seen what is the Chinese reaction to the American suggestion that the warring factions in China give an undertaking to keep the Shanghai area free from fighting. This proposal by Secretary of State Kellogg is responsible in large measure for the feeling of optimism over the Chinese situation, which prevails among government officials.

Hope is seen in the report reaching London that Chuehchou, advanced base of the Cantonese armies in Chekiang, has been captured by the forces of Marshal Sun Chuan-fang, the Cantonese being in retreat toward the southwest. If this proves to be correct, it will serve to allay the fears for the safety of Shanghai.

ANNIVERSARY OF SCOUTING MARKED BY LIVELY RALLY

With fifty-seven Campfire girls and eighty-six Scouts on the floor the Scouts' Seventeenth Anniversary party was a lively one. There were six groups of Campfire girls, led by Mrs. Runyan, Mrs. Cully, Mrs. Church, Mrs. Huffman, Mrs. Pajo and Miss Carr. The Scout troops were as follows: Troop One, led by H. E. Wells; troop 2, R. E. Crawford; troop 3, Mr. Church; troop 4, John J. Thennis; troop 5, C. S. Jones; Melrose troop, Wm. Sandstrom and John Busenbark; also Wilbur and Sutherland had troops on hand as visitors in the bleachers.

The Junior High school orchestra furnished music from 7:30 to 8 o'clock. A number of people present expressed themselves as greatly surprised to find that a group of students could produce such fine music. Certainly the instructor, Mr. Gormann, deserves much credit.

A game of "biff ball" was played boys vs. girls and resulted in a tie. Following that came the 100 yard dash (1 yard of string to chew) which was won by Jack Chapman of Troop 1. The "rescue relay" was won by troop 2. This relay demonstrated three different methods of carrying persons.

The next event was dedicated to Bart Bates, editor of "Peanut Pickin'" and was therefore called "prune pickin'." Six teams of girls, eight to a team, were lined up to start a starting line. The first girl of each team was required to run to a basket ten yards away, bring back one prune at a time until all eight prunes were returned. Then the next girl in line returned the prunes one at a time. This was continued until all eight girls had picked the prunes. Won by the Truchelo girls. J. B. McClain and Robert Byrd won the "horse and rider" contest for troop 2. This "Rattlesnake tug-of-war" was won by the Truchelo girls. The sled race, a very exciting one was won by troop 3. The "little contest" that of two scouts making a litter from two coats and two poles and transporting another scout upon it for 50 yards was won by troop 1. Melrose did the stunt by winning the snow-shoe race. Troop 2 again won by taking the tent-pitching event. The relay race, for both boys and girls, eight boys to a team and seven girls to their team was won by troop 2. Following that the scout executive gave a demonstration of a "one-blanket" bed. It was clearly shown that one can sleep comfortably and warm in a single blanket. Though he demonstrated this bed on a smooth floor, it required a good heavy pull on the part of a husky scout to pull the blanket off.

Troop 1 won the bicycle relay for the boys and the Truchelo won for the girls. The last event, jumping the stick relay, was won by so many teams that it was called a "no-contest."

The crowd was not as large as expected. Those present expressed themselves as well pleased with the "mixer" party.

The scouts are planning to give an outdoor demonstration of campcraft and camp cookery some time in the spring.

HASTE WITH GUN COSTS FARMER 7 YEARS' LIBERTY

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 8.—James S. Trent, a well known farmer of Yamhill county, must serve a sentence of seven years in the penitentiary and pay a fine of $500 for conviction of manslaughter, in the decision of the supreme court handed down today. Appeal was from Yamhill county. Judge W. N. Ramsell was affirmed.

Trent was indicted and tried for manslaughter in 1925 for the killing of George Oscar Hamer, of Portland, in September, 1925, the four Hamiltons, George, Earl and William, left Portland for Tillamook county on a deer hunting trip, and stopped in the evening by the roadside in front of the farm of Trent to repair the headlights on their automobile. It happened that their car was stopped close by a melon patch and Trent, believing some one was stealing his melons, took a shot in the dark with the driver, George Hamilton, the result was that George Hamilton, the father was fatally injured.

AS BUSINESS DIRECTORS

Women have made such inroads into British commerce that there now are 101 women directors of important London firms earning salaries, ranging from $3,000 to $100,000 a year. One year ago there were only 55 women directors listed and two years ago only five. Lady Rhonda, whose caustic attacks on the "idle women of the leisure class" have been widely quoted, is a director in 30 companies. Lady Honeywood controls nine hotels.

Women directors can now be found in the iron and steel, trade mining, and the other great industries. In finance concerns, and in fact in all walks of British industry and commerce.

COMMANDMENTS REWRANKED

Girls of Simmons College, a secular school in Boston, apparently have few qualms as to Sunday sports or enjoying the Parisian girls of their classmates, for they have placed "Remember the Sabbath day" last and "Thou shalt not covet" next, in answering a questionnaire on the relative importance of the ten commandments. The 835 students rated "Honor thy father and mother" the most important commandment.

FIRST IN LEGISLATURE

Mrs. Hannah J. Kemper of Otter Tail county, Minnesota, is the first and only woman elected to the legislature and suits her constituents so well she is now in her third term. Born on the North sea, under the British flag, she has taught school, been a postmaster and run a general store, since she was adopted from a foundling's home and taken to Minnesota in 1905.

BOOSTING COTTON

In an effort to reduce the cotton surplus by creating a demand for cotton products, federated club women of Alabama have inaugurated a "Use more cotton" campaign and now plan a "cotton costume contest" for the first week in April. All-cotton costumes will be entered in the competition, the rules requiring that even shoes and hats be made of the fleecy staple.

TOPEKA, Kansas.—It's lucky for Washburn college that its President, P. P. Womer, lost his way in a snowstorm in Worcester, Mass. He asked directions at the nearest home. It happened to be the residence of George I. Alden, mechanical engineer, educator, wealthy manufacturer and descendant of John and Priscilla Alden. Now it is revealed that prior to his death last year Mr. Alden gave the college $100,000 to found a department of citizenship.

FRENCH BARRIER LEVELLED

Woman has broken down the barrier that kept her out of certain seats in the principal theatres of France, the government subsidizing Comedie-Francaise. Edouard Herriot, minister of public instruction in France, has given her a seat in the "parterre" or back row of the orchestra floor, the seats where the French theatre goes to see the most for his money.

Tradition, dating from the days when the parterre was considered the roughest part of the theatre, barred women from seats there. Formerly spectators brought their

JUDGE KENDALL TO HEAR DOUGLAS COUNTY TAX CASE

The suit brought by William Vinson against Douglas county to prevent the collection of delinquent taxes by R. L. Whipple, professional collector, on a commission basis, will probably be heard by Judge Kendall, of Marshfield, today. Judge J. W. Hamilton, being a taxpayer in Douglas county, desired to be relieved from trying the case and an effort will be made to secure Judge Kendall as trial judge. The bond to accompany the petition for a restraining order was signed today with Dr. E. V. Hoover and Dr. George E. Houck as sureties.

The action is one in which the taxpayers of the county will be greatly interested.

"Any candidate of the Anti-Slavery league or of the Ku Klux Klan or any one who tries to dodge the prohibition issue," Dr. Butler said, "would find arrayed against him New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Montana, Nevada and Wyoming, with 212 electoral votes and not improbably also California and Minnesota with 25 electoral votes."

GEORGE YOUNG, CHANNEL SWIMMER, IS BOY SCOUT AND ENJOYS ACTIVITIES

Linked with the wonderful swimming feat of George Young is another "keep going" boy, Scout Frank Kingard, of Los Angeles. This scout had instructions to interview Young and get his story for the Boys' Life magazine. He tried all tactics known to full fledged reporters and got nearer Young several times than older reporters (Scout Kingard is sixteen) but not near enough for an interview. After being chased out several times by policemen he enlisted the aid of the wife of Young's manager. While police were keeping back reporters and while a committee of over a hundred prominent men were waiting in the lobby to greet the channel swimmer, Scout Kingard and Young were chatting freely under a stallway while the police were puzzling themselves and wondering where their precious charge had vanished.

Scout Kingard says "of Young: He is a regular boy, five feet nine inches tall of marvelously broad shoulders. His strong jaw is noteworthy evidence that he naturally would keep going. He is unaffected by his fame.

"I wish," he told me, "they'd leave me alone. There's never a minute of rest. I'd like to be quiet and get away from this fuss. I was a Scout in Toronto and once a scout, always a scout. I keep in touch with scout activities and when I can settle down in a new home, with Mother, I want to get in scout leadership work."

"This is his own statement to scouts: 'Keep going, always. Reverse your mother, she is a saint
