AMERICAN WOMEN
LOSE 3,500 TONS
OF HAIR VIA BOB

(Associated Press Licensed Wire.)
CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—More than 3,500 tons of hair have been sheared or shingled from the heads of American women during the bob era. It is estimated by M. Eugene Suter, permanent wave specialist of London and Paris. There are 14,000,000 bobbed heads in the United States today, he said, in a trade address, and about half that number spend $15,000,000 a year for having their locks waved.

BIG CROWD SEES
GRIPPING WAR FILM
AT THE LIBERTY

A large and appreciative audience last night witnessed the showing of "The Unknown Soldier," a motion picture show given at the Liberty Theatre as a benefit for Umpqua Post of the American Legion. The show was proclaimed by all who saw it to be one of the best of the war pictures recently released, carrying a gripping plot, while the action and war portrayal are particularly realistic. Manager Grass is giving practically all of the profits of this show to Umpqua Post for American Legion activities. The film is to be shown tonight for the last time.
