

Out in Society

(Continued from page 2.)

ed the play. The public speaking class of the junior high school appeared in an entertaining pantomime under the direction of Miss Bernice Leger.

During the evening Irish games and stunts entertained the groups, a progressive drawing contest being one of the features. The prize for this contest was received by Mrs. S. L. Kidder.

The club has appointed its president, Dr. Lucetta Smith, as a delegate to the national convention of Business and Professional Women's clubs to be held at Oakland, California, the week of July 17.

Mrs. Emma Jost is alternate delegate. The club discussed plans for the new club rooms and appointed the following committee to meet with a committee from the Roseburg Woman's Club for further plans: Mattie Perry, Maude Kidder, Ethel Webb and Dr. Smith. The organization of a dramatic club in the Business and Professional Women's Club will be effected soon.

Miss Margaret Page has been appointed to arrange the details. The club has been very active this winter and has had some splendid meetings. Their members are gaining recognition both as a club and individually. A recent announcement of interest is the appointment of Mrs. Edith Falbe as state chairman of educational and personal research.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served at small tables. In charge were Blanche Schlenker, Margaret Hohl and Maye Pyron. The committee directing the entertainment was composed of Effie Stanford, Verna Carothers and Emma Jost.

Mrs. L. A. Wells Invites Squaws for Evening

Mrs. Lee A. Wells invited the Umpqua Squaws to her home on Monday evening for their meeting. Business matters were discussed and plans for placing Camp Fire Girls who wish to earn money for expenses for the summer camp this year were formed. The Umpqua Squaws have secured a list of the members of the organization wishing to earn this summer camp fee and anyone wishing to employ the girls may call Mrs. L. L. Spencer.

At the close of the evening Mrs. Wells served the 20 ladies.

New York Matron Is Guest of Mrs. J. F. Barker

Mrs. A. Ditchburn of New York City is an interesting visitor in the city as the guest of Mrs. J. F. Barker at her home on East Lane street. Mrs. Ditchburn has been spending several weeks visiting on the Pacific coast, particularly in California, and is returning home next week. En route she will spend a few days in Portland with her sister, Mrs. Ida Dunley.

Miss Abraham Entertains Young Maids Saturday

Several of the younger set were delightfully entertained by Miss Elizabeth Abraham at the Albert Abraham home at 100 Spruce street last Saturday. Members of the D. O. C. club and added guests being asked for the afternoon.

Cards and music were the diversions arranged followed by a luncheon. Bidden were Miss Margaret Baum, Miss Elizabeth Renner, Miss Dorothy Marsters and club members.

DURING CRISES

Parents Should Share Moral Burdens.

By Olive Roberts Barton
Is it fair for one parent to take all the moral responsibility in regard to the physical and mental welfare of the children?

Sometimes, in a crisis, a decision has to be made. It may be a matter of an operation. It may be a matter of calling upon the child to make a sacrifice. It may be a matter of reward or punishment that comes up in his training.

When I say moral responsibility, I mean just that. Moral responsibility is the responsibility that takes courage to back it.

Often one parent is apt to dodge the issue. He or she slips out from under and allows the other one to handle the situation alone.

I have in mind the case of a child who was ailing and whose parents had been told by specialists that an operation was necessary.

The father refused to give his consent. The mother also refused. Time went on. The child got worse—still a refusal.

In time it became a matter of the child's very life—the focus of infection would have to be found and removed.

The father still refused because he knew in his heart that the mother would give her consent in the face of his opposition. Hers would be the responsibility if things went wrong. He was too cowardly to back her up.

The child did have the operation—and died. And the mother is held up to this day, by the father, as a murderess. Where he should have shared the responsibility, he refused and now he is being beastly cruel about the consequences.

It is of course not always so drastic. It is not always a case of life and death. But the principle is there.

Parents should stand shoulder to shoulder in a crisis. They should talk things over and if things do go wrong, there is no one to blame.

members, Miss Pauline Buhar, Miss Frances Butler, Miss Vera McClintock, Miss Dorothy Geddes and Miss Daphne Hughes.

Club Matrons Bidden for Five Hundred

Mrs. Earl Rhoades provided a pleasant afternoon for the members of the Woodcraft Thimble Club on Friday, arranging five hundred for their diversion. At the end of the game luncheon was served at the attractive tables.

Bidden were the Mesdames Geo. Reynolds, H. S. Snyder, C. E. Stephenson, E. Rhoades, I. T. Whitney, Harry Wheeler, J. B. Piliand, Geo. Crenshaw and J. W. Dowell.

Group Meet to Sew on Thursday

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. C. R. Cavender was hostess to the members of the Northside Sunshine Club and additional guests. The group chatted and sewed and at the tea hour the hostess served luncheon.

Enjoying the afternoon were the Mesdames Fred Bowen, E. Marsters, M. Colby, B. F. Chilson, Geo. Marsters, Virgil Bush, James Bartley, Wm. Fisher, Lee Goodman, E. P. Ballou, J. W. Ingles, Miss Ida Laubach and Mrs. L. Woodruff. Mrs. N. R. Fisher and Mrs. Tom Wilson of Canyonville, added guests.

Ladies Aid Has Pleasant Meeting

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid met on Thursday afternoon at the church parlors with 45 members and several guests present for the program. The business session was devoted to the election of officers who are Miss Frances Howell, president; Mrs. E. R. Metzger, first vice-president; Mrs. John Throne, second vice-president; Mrs. E. Z. Malden, treasurer; Mrs. B. C. Ziegler, secretary.

The St. Patrick motif was carried out in the rooms and music and games were enjoyed. At the close refreshments were served.

Mrs. G. Hendrickson Entertains Circle

Mrs. Gene Hendrickson invited the members of the Northside Prayer Circle to her home for their meeting on Wednesday afternoon, and after a very interesting lesson led by Mrs. E. Crawford, the remainder of the time was spent informally.

An attractive St. Patrick's motif prevailed at the tables where luncheon was served the Mesdames Fred Knight, J. H. Duff, E. Ware, H. Hagan, Wm. Fisher, E. Crawford, B. Laird, F. Akley, and W. Ford, R. W. Achor, S. D. Owen, E. Blosser, F. Fisher, Tom Wilson of Canyonville, additional guests.

Elks St. Patrick's Dancing Party Delightful

Dancing has been much in vogue this season as entertainment and none of the week's social affairs were more pleasant than the delightful St. Patrick's dancing party sponsored by the Elks for members and a number of additional guests on Thursday evening.

The hall was transformed with green decorations and the Oriental Gardens Ballroom orchestra played for the dancers during the evening. A supper was served. The St. Patrick's color motif being carried out in detail in the refreshments.

Two Classes Join in Pleasant Evening Party

One of the interesting social affairs centering about St. Patrick's day was the joint meeting of the C. O. M. E. and Kunoju classes of the Christian church at the church parlors on Friday evening.

Following brief business sessions the evening was devoted to games and at the close refreshments were served. The St. Patrick's motif was carried out in detail to observe the occasion. About twenty participated in the evening's pleasure.

DISILLUSIONED GOLD SEEKERS THROG WEEP

(Continued from page 1.)

with the idea that they can gather all the gold they need to make them comfortable by walking around the hills.

Destitute Without Aid
Some are destitute and trebly burdened by the hardships of the rough-and-ready mining camp.

There are no accommodations for visitors who commute back and forth from Tonopah or are compelled through adversity to stay in the center of the wilderness.

There is nothing in the way of charity to take care of those innocent of the art of prospecting. Ground has been located for six miles in every direction, and the wide-open spaces of the rugged mining country holds terrors for the uninitiated.

Men, and even women, who never in their lives before heard of veins, crosscuts, ladders and stopes, hydraulic gold-washing and placer mining, are rushing frantically to the scene of bitter disappointments, disillusioned.

Big Operations Planned
But amid the gloom and dejection of the tenderfoot, a fierce spirit of intense competition and development sweeps through the camp.

A series of claims transfers is being negotiated involving many thousands of dollars and it is expected that next week four properties will have crews hitting the steel in competitive effort to prove the extension of the rich strike that made the camp famous.

CANTON FORCES CLOSING IN ON SHANGHAI AREA

(Continued from page 1.)

wing of the Shantungese army defending Shanghai on the Sunkiang front, to the southwest, has crumpled and the northern troops are hurriedly retreating toward this city. The way is apparently open for the Cantonese to gain Shanghai.

Competent observers believe the Nationalists will occupy Shanghai within 48 hours, as the northerners, they say, are unable longer to offer effective resistance.

The Associated Press correspondent, visiting the Shanghai defenses tonight, found the British troops on the alert and ready to repel any incursions into the international settlement, whether by northern or southern troops.

City Cut Off Inland
Railway men said it was impossible to guarantee passage from Shanghai in any direction, meaning that the city is cut off on all sides except for water navigation.

The correspondent, in a journey through the Chinese controlled parts of the city, found all houses closed and streets deserted, except for police and soldiers. These pickets stopped his automobile seven times within the distance of one mile.

The Chinese inhabitants are apparently in hiding until the trouble is over and the Shantungese troops have departed, which they are expected to do hurriedly.

General Sun Flee
It is generally reported that General Sun Chuan-fang, who has been held a virtual prisoner at Nanking, has fled with his retinue to Yangchow, north of the Yangtze.

Sun was once overlord of five provinces in central China, but his army collapsed in February before the determined advance of the nationalists, and the defense of Shanghai was taken over by the Shantungese commander, General Chang Tsung-chang.

Hordes of panic-stricken Chinese continued to day to pour into Shanghai from Nanking. The Nationalists were very close to Soochow, but this afternoon the Nanking-Shanghai railway remained intact.

Labor unrest here continued but there has been no general response to the call for a strike in all the trades.

Nanking's Fall Near

PEKING, March 19.—Nationalist forces were less than ten miles from Nanking today, the Chinese press was informed. Kuomintang, or Nationalists, authorities, claimed that the drive of their forces toward Shanghai from Sunkiang had begun. Foreign sources, however, did not confirm either report.

COURT FIGHT IS BETWEEN DR. COOK AND HIS LIBERTY

(Associated Press Local Wire.)

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook will be kept in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth until a test has been made of the right of a federal judge to release a prisoner on probation after a sentence has begun, the department of justice said today.

The former explorer and oil prospector, sentenced to fourteen years for using the mails to defraud, had been ordered released, but the department announced today that it had received assurance from Federal Judge Wilson, at Fort Worth, who issued the order for Cook's release, that he would cooperate to test his interpretation of probation law through an appeal to the circuit court of appeals.

PRESBYTERIANS CONSIDER LAYMAN FOR MODERATOR

(Associated Press Local Wire.)

NEWARK, N. J., March 19.—The Newark Evening News says today it has learned that the name of J. Williston Smith, of Philadelphia, a layman, will be placed in nomination for moderator of the Presbyterian church in the United States when the commissioners meet in San Francisco May 26.

Mr. Smith is a ruling elder in St. Paul Presbyterian church and for six years has been a member of the general council of the denomination.

The News says that Mr. Smith's friends desire him as the financial genius who was responsible for the reorganization of the board of foreign missions, the board of national missions and the board of Christian education.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS' HEAD DUE IN PORTLAND

(Continued from page 1.)

PORTLAND, Ore., March 19.—United States war veterans of Oregon are making plans for entertainment of their commander in chief, former United States Senator Rice.

William Means, of Denver, who will visit Portland April 12 and 13. This will be his only stop in Oregon and all the camps of the state are being invited to Portland by Department Commander Robert A. Sawyer to meet the chief.

NOTICE

Members of Woodcraft Thimble Club of importance to be voted on at our regular meeting.

March 21st. This concerns each member of the order. Please be present. Program and refreshments.

IVA TAYLOR, G. N.

MORE SINGERS ARE WANTED BY CHORAL SOCIETY

Rehearsals on "The Great Light," the Easter cantata being prepared by the Roseburg Choral Society, are progressing nicely. Because of the great amount of sickness the attendance was not good for several weeks, but now the members are turning out regularly and the finishing touches are now being given the cantata. Because of the inability of singers to attend the early rehearsals Mrs. Strang, the director, had planned to drop work on "The Crucifixion," which it was also expected to offer during the Easter season, but it is possible that if a sufficient number of singers are able to turn out for the next few rehearsals that "The Crucifixion" may still be presented as there is ample time for its preparation. Because of the large amount of sickness the membership in the society is still being held open and singers may still join the group for the presentation of the Easter music. It is particularly desired that there be a number of men attend the rehearsals as "The Crucifixion" was written chiefly for men's voices.

Home After Visit—
Mrs. Eldred Shrum and daughter, Barbara, and Junior Ellison returned Friday from Glendale where they have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Blakely.

LOCAL NEWS

(Continued from page 1.)

Spends Week Here—
Miss Marie Moom, of Riddle, has been spending the past week in Roseburg visiting with relatives and friends.

Visitors Friday—
Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jacqoy, of Looking Glass, were in this city Friday afternoon visiting with friends and shopping.

In Friday—
Arthur Marsh, Looking Glass resident, was in this city Friday afternoon for a brief time attending to business affairs.

From Hoaglin—
Mrs. Noah Hatfield, of Hoaglin, spent Friday afternoon in this city visiting with relatives and shopping.

From Tennille—
Mrs. F. M. Hannah, of Tennille, was attending to business affairs and visiting friends here yesterday afternoon.

From Sutherlin—
T. H. Coke, Sutherlin resident, was a visitor in this city for a few hours yesterday and was looking after business affairs.

In From Dillard—
Mrs. I. B. Thompson of Dillard spent several hours Friday in Roseburg visiting with friends and shopping.

ROOM 202 FIGURES IN LIQUOR CASE

(Associated Press Local Wire.)

PORTLAND, Ore., March 19.—"Room 202," famous in Oregon, was featured in Judge Bean's court today when Ralph Zeller, alias Ralph Douglas, was arraigned and charged with possession and sale of liquor and with maintaining a nuisance. Zeller was arrested in room 202, Rivoli theatre building, where he has been conducting the "Novelty Advertising company."

Attorney for Zeller, who pleaded guilty, asked leniency because the man had been injured a year ago while working for the highway commission near Pendleton, and claimed that a jail sentence would ruin his health. Sentence will be pronounced next week.

Our stock of garden seeds is fresh as we carried none over from last season, Wharton Bros.

MISSOURI AND ARKANSAS ARE LASHED IN NIGHT

(Continued from page 1.)

Norris, Mrs. Jennie H. Jones, Mrs. Hulsey, Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Moore and Polk Jones.

Several babies and children of grade school ages were thought to have perished as many of the victims were caught in their houses about eight o'clock.

Huge Swath Cut

Tinson Mountain country farmers said the storm broke near Berryville about 7:45 p. m., and swept southeast to Green Forest to level the south end of the city.

The tornado apparently centered in a path three quarters of a mile wide and fifteen miles long. The hail, following in its wake, covered a much larger section.

The Stovall and his wife were injured when their farm home near Marshallfield, Mo., was destroyed. Two other homes in this section were reported demolished, but the

POETS' CORNER

Signed Contributions for This Department May Be Sent to the Society Editor of The News-Review, and Will Be Used as Space Is Available.

LITTLE HUGH

He was so little when he came,
As helpless as a rose-leaf in the wind,
A dainty atom of humanity;
Yet, oh! what love and care he came to find!

He was so little when he went away,
That God's great loving angels must have smiled
On him, and opened swift their sheltering arms
To clasp the tender earth-bud, undefiled.

He was so little, yet, O hearts that ache
With loss and longing since your hopes were riven,
Rejoice to know that those dimpled hands have stretched
A cord unbreakable from earth to heaven.

VICTORY OVER FEAR

By Alden Harness.

(The following poem appeared in the February issue of the Reality Magazine.)
When fear would encompass and mar

Your sense of harmony and light,
And would before you ever bar
Your path through sunlit years
With night,
When fear would blight and disallow
The happiness you entertain;
Just know that God protects you now
And everywhere is His domain.

When fear would close your mind
And heart
To holy truths that you discern,
Till peace and freedom would depart
And nevermore to you return:
When fear would keep you to the cloud
And bid your aspirations wane;
Just know you are the child of God,
Secure and safe, in His domain.

When fear would force you to his shore
In darkest desolation there,
And would enslave you more and more
To grim disaster and despair:
When fear would master you and blind
Your body to disease and pain;
Just know that God is perfect Mind
And is your life in His domain.

the Carroll county chapter, said the extent of the disaster was "much greater than at first appeared." He said nurses were urgently needed at Eureka Springs hospital and at improvised hospitals at Green Forest.

Walter Over, executive secretary of the Red Cross chapter at Joplin, Mo., led by automobile with three nurses.

Tennessee Struck
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Mar. 19.—A rainstorm and tornado unroofed one hundred homes in Hohenwald, Tenn., lightning killed a child in Mt. Pleasant, Tenn., and a heavy hail storm fell in Columbia and Wartrace and swept middle Tennessee yesterday afternoon and last night.

Glady's Thelma Graves, three years old, was instantly killed at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Graves, Mount Pleasant, Tenn., when a lightning bolt flashed across it from a telephone wire burning her hair from her head and causing instant death.

Death Toll Confirmed
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Mar. 19.—A telegram received here today by the American Red Cross from P. T. Sweat, chairman of the Carroll county chapter at Eureka Springs, Arkansas, confirms earlier reports that at least thirty persons were killed and between 50 and 75 injured by the tornado which struck Green Forest last night.

Sweat estimated the property loss at $300,000. He urged financial assistance and asked that the national Red Cross organization take over the disaster relief. A telegram received shortly afterwards from R. J. Rosewater, secretary of

We wish to thank our friends for their loving kindness and beautiful floral offering during the illness and death of our loving husband and brother.

Beattie Russell and family,
Mary Balator and family.

MOVIES

LIBERTY THEATRE

Vivid, intriguing, compelling—a dramatic conflict of man's dual nature in which a young divinity student finally succumbs to an inherited love of the sea and turns pirate, only to meet an element island girl who makes the Conqueror captive—Peter B. Kyne's masterly story, "Breed of the Sea," is a picture for those who dream of escaping from the picaresque and petty worries of daily existence to live the life of glorious adventure. Brilliantly directed by F. B. O. by Ralph Ince, who plays the dual male lead, the production now playing at the Liberty Theatre proves a dramatic epic of the ocean seldom equaled on the screen. The story, adapted by J. G. Hawks and put into screen form by J. Grubb Alexander, is replete with colorful characterizations, and the work of Margaret Livingston as Marietta is phenomenal. Mr. Ince has splendid support throughout the cast, with Dorothy Dunbar registering heavily in her statuesque beauty. Pat Harmon, Shannon Day and Alpha Ether are also worthy of mention.

LIBERTY THEATRE

Redemptive Power of Love in "Faust"

The power of love to redeem the soul of a man is the theme of "Faust," an UFA production, which anted to answer this question and the answers are as numerous as the sands themselves and as varied as their creeds.

In "Faust," an old man, a scholar and an alchemist, is offered opportunity by the devil, to relive his life provided he will agree that the Evil One may have his soul when he is dead. Faust readily agrees. All his life he has been a searcher after knowledge and life has passed him by. At the last knowledge and faith avail him naught and he falls an easy victim to the wiles of Mephisto.

With one wave of his hand Mephisto turns Faust into youth again and they fly on the devil's cloak in search of adventure. Faust finds wealth and women palling after a while and longs again for the scenes of his homeland. His wish is the devil's command, and they are whisked back, in time for the Easter procession, during which Faust first sees Marguerite. He falls in love with her and Mephisto prospers his love, always with an eye, however, to mischief.

Despite the sorrow that follows Faust's ill-fated love for the beautiful Marguerite, and the tragic ending of their affair, Faust's soul is claimed by heaven, against the demand of the devil, because of his redemption by that one all-powerful word, Love.

ANTLERS THEATRE
A gentle satire on the wiles and guiles of Broadway press agents and film vampires is promised in "Bluebird's Seven Wives," a Robert T. Kane First National production, which is at the Antlers Theatre today.

One of the characters is B. C. DuVal, a movie director. Those in the know will recognize who is meant. Nor are fans expected to be much puzzled over the identity of the other characters in the comedy.

Ben Lyon appears as a modern Bluebird in the picture. He is introduced first as plain John Hart, a bank clerk. DuVal discovers him and Glendell, Broadway's smartest press agent, straightway christens him Don Juan Hartz and gives him a past and a future in which seven wives are thrown across his path. The fun starts when Don Juan rebels at all the marital publicity and marries the lady of his heart. Ben is supported by Lois Wilson as his real love and by Blanche Sweet, who appears in the role of a screen Juliet to his Romeo.

That Lenten Urge and— NOVEL EASTER BONNETS

(Photos, Fiske Millinery Co., Chicago.)

That Mephistophelian effect (above, left): a skull model with soft satin brim (above, right): hand manipulated, crocheted straw crown (below, left), and earrings on the brim.

Some Catchy Models to Satisfy That Lenten Longing for Originality And Color in Easter Headgear

CHICAGO, March 19.—While the Lenten season imposes various forms of self-denial and fasting, it always allows for a little self-indulgence in millinery.

Breathes there a woman with vanity so dead who does not feel the urge in these 40 days before Easter to rise up and buy an Easter bonnet?

Assuming the answer to be a unanimous negative, we present an

Lots of Ribbon.
Further dispositions that millinery's new-born bonnets are evidencing is a strong leaning for a profusion of ribbons. Velvet ribbons are in great favor as well as ribbon cocolettes with a rhinestone pin of some odd shape.

Materials are many and have been poured from a lavish hand to suit all tastes and what is more, most pocketbooks. The hand-manipulated crown, folded as are a majority of the models, bids fair to win popularity.

Softness and pliability seem to be the great virtues that call for recognition and the prediction is made that only straw which ripples or droops will receive much favor.

Rampant Color.
Colors run the whole chromatic gamut. There is the Athenian, a lovely rose shade, camel pink, coral and blush and a wide variety of in-between pinks. Tiger-lily and a new maize shade in popcorn hue, monkey skin, hyacinth and gobe-lin are some of the other selections.

And, what is more, you may have all the color you wish with your hat and still have reason and room for black satin and felts. It will be a year of millinery liberality, so the style makers proclaim, with the mode running to sparkle and a riot of detail that should please most everyone.

There will be a special service at the Salvation Army hall tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Treves, who are visiting friends here have kindly consented to be with us. Mrs. Treves lived in this city for some time and her husband is acquainted here. They are both singers and speakers and we are looking forward to a real interesting and inspiring meeting.

You are cordially invited to attend.

Free Methodist Church. Our evangelist Rev. W. T. Call has been a prison chaplain a number of years in California and will speak on that subject Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It is interesting and inspiring to listen to him. Service every evening at 7:30 o'clock. There will be three services on Sunday at 9:45 a. m., 3:00 o'clock p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

advance showing of Chicago's most up-to-the-second offerings.

For example, there is the "Devil Bonnet," a rakish, tight-fitting little affair, of Mephistophelian effect arranged by intriguing points, in the front, back and over the ears, lending the impression of sprouting horns.

Likewise there is the "Black Bottom" model, a chaparral named for the dance vogue, crowned in black satin and stitched in silver thread. The brim is all black with a band of the soft pedaline straw. Truly, one might wear this fetching head piece on any occasion.

R. H. Harvey, head of one of the largest wholesale millinery houses in the country, says that the season's headwear is to take on such striking effects as these represented by the "Black Bottom" and "Devil" models said.

Small Hat Stays.
Harvey believes that the small hat of last year is to stay with us in even more accentuated form and will take on a skull type shrink-are. The earriag hat, a cousin in all that