

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

SOCIETY

BY GRACE CARROLL

All Contributions to this Page—Society, Women's Clubs, and Personals—Should Be Telephoned to the Society Editor by Friday of Each Week.

Sewing and bridge parties were chock among social diversions of the week, among the hostesses entertaining at some of the larger events being Mrs. T. H. Ness, Mrs. Howard Johnson and Mrs. H. M. Moreland who gave two parties, one on Wednesday and another today, and the two of a series on Tuesday and Friday at which Mrs. Ralph Quine, Mrs. Roy Catching and Mrs. Kenneth Quine joined in entertaining their friends.

May Day coming the first of the week gave inspirations for a diversity of lovely informal parties among social club groups. Music also shared a part in the week's social affairs, several interesting programs being arranged for different events to observe National Music Week.

Matrons Plan Two Charming Affairs for the Week

Mrs. T. H. Ness, Mrs. Willard Johnson and Mrs. H. M. Moreland planned two delightful events for the week, entertaining groups of their friends at the home of Mrs. Ness in Laurelwood Wednesday and today. Luncheon, followed by sewing and bridge were diversions arranged mid-week.

A sprightly setting of fragrant blooms in pastel shades transformed the rooms, the same tints being used at the luncheon tables. Assisting in the rooms were Mrs. Joseph A. Denn, Mrs. R. L. Whipple, Miss Kathleen Ness, Miss Marion Ness.

Five tables of bridge were in play Wednesday and there were ten at the sewing tables, which were decorated in yellow tones.

Bridge honors went to Mrs. G. V. Wimberly and second prize was received by Mrs. Wm. Bell. The sewing prize was received by Mrs. Dexter Rice.

Bridge and sewing are to be the diversions again this afternoon.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Endicott are regretting their departure soon for Salem, where Mr. Endicott has been promoted to manager of the Associated Oil plant.

Group Spends Delightful Evening at Umpqua Park Club

Members of the east of the Senior east class play and additional guests enjoyed a delightful party on the evening of May 2, a 6 o'clock picnic luncheon being arranged, followed by dancing during the evening at the Umpqua Park club house.

As a feature of the evening's entertainment the one-act play, "Trifles," was given by the cast, members of the Nebo Forensic club.

Enjoying the evening were the Misses Pauline Huber, Elizabeth Abraham, Helen Bergh, Dorothy Marsters, Gladys Finley, Frances Butner, Phyllis Shields, Daphne Hughes, Jean Whitney, Rachel Hartley, Margaret Hewitt, Hilda Hughes, Mona Porter, Vera McClintock, Alice Oeland, Naomi Scott, Florence Fuller, Helen Casey, Mrs. Hlatt, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. B. Casey, and Wm. Kuleth, Raymond Bell, Clifford Howard, Alan Moore, Harold Thomas, Allan Burkhardt, Frank Lonn, Harold Ingram, Grant Endicott, Elton Jackson, Glenn Duceen, Alfred Ellison, Rowland Hagar, Samuel McConnell, Roy Houser, Truman Ranyan, Max Carmon, Thomas Hartfield, Leroy Hlatt, Lloyd Reynolds and Von Casey.

Miss Butner Bids Group for Evening

Miss Frances Butner asked the D. O. D.'s to her home Saturday for an informal evening of music, at the close serving refreshments. The guests were the Misses Shirley Knight, Dorothy Geddes, Pauline Butcher, Elizabeth Abraham, Mildred Shriver, Pauline Huber, Dorothy Marsters.

Affair Honors Couple Saturday Evening

To bid adieu to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sinsinger who are to make Newberg their future home, a group of their intimate friends called at their home in West Roseburg last Saturday evening. Cards and dancing were arranged as diversions and at the close supper was served.

Bridge-Tea at Country Club to Be Delightful Event

As a complement to May Day social affairs comes the bridge-tea at the Roseburg Country Club on Tuesday afternoon, of the coming week, which will interest a contingent of society women, each member of the club inviting a guest. The hours are to be from 2 to 5 o'clock and several tables will be arranged for play. A small charge is being made for each attending, the money derived to be used for the club house fund.

Mrs. G. F. Jones Hostess at Luncheon

Mrs. G. F. Jones was a luncheon hostess on Wednesday, asking members of the New Idea Club of Kelenhower to the home of her mother, Mrs. Elnora Smith.

A lovely centerpiece of large tulips in shades of pink combined with white lilies was used at the table. Covers were laid for Mrs. A. D. Hawn, Mrs. E. C. Wober, Mrs. E. Hendrickson, Mrs. E. A. Stewart, Mrs. P. M. Curtis, Mrs. R. H. Williams, Mrs. T. P. Byram, Mrs. J. B. Bailey, Mrs. F. D. Owen, Mrs. C. E. Marks, Mrs. J. Blosser, Mrs. D. E. Hendrickson, Mrs. Elnora Smith and the hostess.

A brief business meeting followed and the afternoon was pleasantly spent chatting.

Mrs. George H. Houck Returning From East

Friends of Mrs. George H. Houck (Flora Campbell) in Eugene and Roseburg are interested to know that she is planning to return from Boston, her present home, for a few weeks' visit, arriving from the east the latter part of May.

Mrs. Houck will be remembered by a number in this city, having visited preceding her marriage to Dr. George H. Houck as the guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. George E. Houck. Their wedding was an event in Eugene in late summer last year.

Mrs. Houck will visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dugald Campbell in Eugene on her arrival; later coming to Roseburg to be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Houck. Dr. George H. Houck is remaining in the east to complete his medical course and will arrive in Roseburg about June 15, stopping en route at St. Paul to attend the wedding of a fraternity brother.

Club Meets Thursday Afternoon

The ladies of the Home Economics club of the South Deer Creek grange met at the home of Mrs. Lucius Patterson on Thursday. After a business meeting the ladies finished piecing a woolen quilt.

Later dainty refreshments were served. The tables were centered with purple lilacs and purple pansies.

Mrs. Ray Hanning was a guest of the afternoon.

Mrs. G. Barker Asks Matrons for Sewing

Mrs. Gene Baker entertained the members of the Roseburg Art and Embroidery club at the home of Mrs. Homer Palm on Wednesday, the group chatting and sewing during the afternoon. At the close a dainty luncheon was served.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. H. Palm and Mrs. E. Decker, Decker.

Enjoying the afternoon were Mrs. Henry Snyder, Mrs. A. Neal, Mrs. H. Palm, Mrs. Bertina Palm, Mrs. E. E. Morgan, Mrs. R. Bloom, Mrs. Dorothy Rhoades, Mrs. J. Hicks, Mrs. L. M. Ingles, Mrs. E. Decker, Mrs. J. F. Byrd, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Barker, Miss Susie Lewis and the hostess Mrs. Gene Barker.

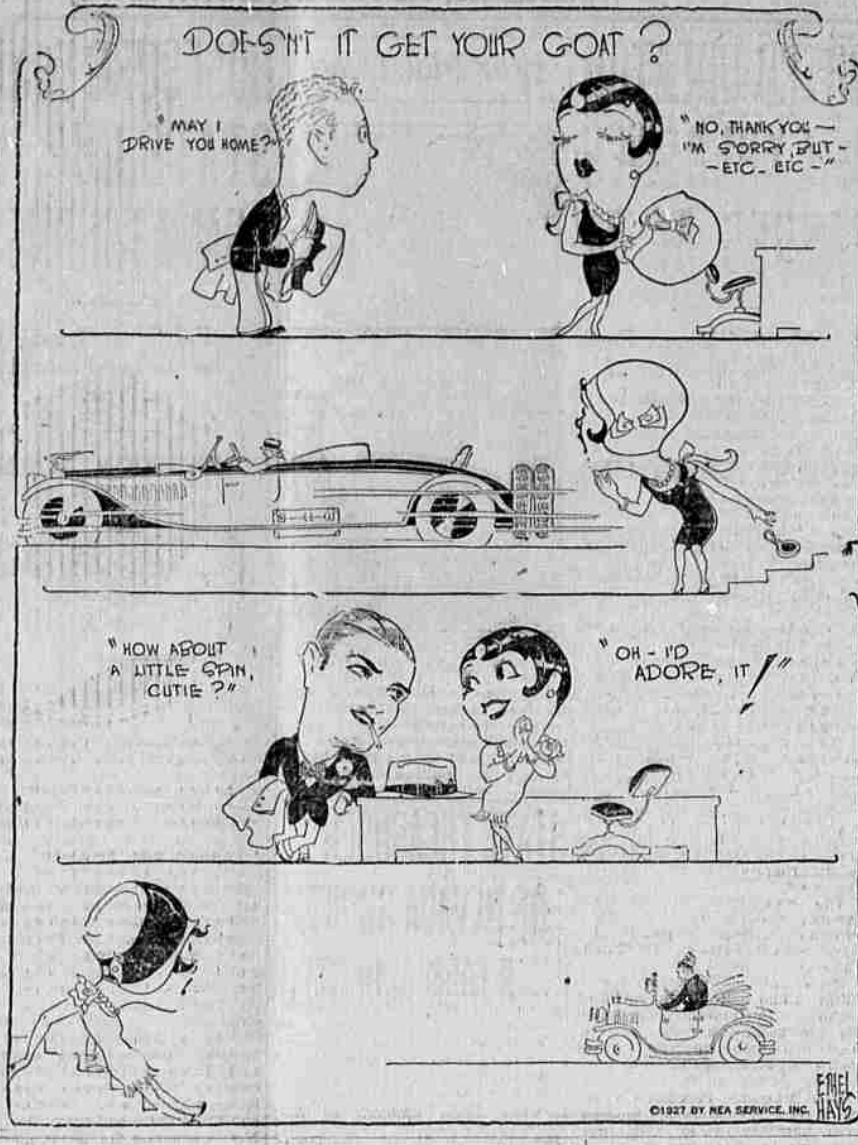

Miss Susie Lewis has invited the club to her home for the meeting on May 15.

Mrs. L. M. Metzger entertained the matrons of her bridge club on Monday, arranging two tables for the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ponsler are entertaining the members of the Wednesday evening bridge club this evening at their home at 515 West Oak street.

Mrs. H. H. Stapleton has as her guest at her home on Chadwick street, her cousin, Mrs. Wayne Alvord, of Klamath Falls, who is remaining over the weekend.

ETHEL

Badona Club, Daughters of the Nile, will be entertained by Mrs. Wm. Bell and Mrs. Hates of Myrtle Creek at the apartments of the former on Jackson street Tuesday evening of next week. A business meeting will take up a part of the evening and will be followed by a social hour.

Goat Getters

Matrons Continue Series Attractive

Continuing the series of charming parties they have planned for the first part of May for the entertainment of groups of their friends, Mrs. Ralph Quine, Mrs. Roy Catching and Mrs. Kenneth Quine arranged two notable afternoon affairs this week, bidding a number to the Ralph Quine home on the corner of Clair and Douglas streets for bridge and sewing followed by luncheon on Tuesday and Friday. Five tables of bridge were in play on both days and there were five at the sewing tables.

Profusions of lovely spring flowers were used in the rooms, carrying out the yellow and lavender color motif, assisting in the rooms on Tuesday were Mrs. G. V. Wimberly, Mrs. J. R. Wharton and Miss Evelyn Quine and on Friday Mrs. C. S. McElhinny, Mrs. H. O. Pargate and Miss Quine.

Tuesday the bridge honors went to Mrs. Horace Berg and second prize was received by Mrs. G. V. Wimberly. Mrs. I. B. Riddle received the sewing prize. At the tables on Friday bridge honors were held by Mrs. H. Waddell. Second prize was won by Mrs. C. S. McElhinny and Mrs. W. C. Winston received the sewing prize.

Matrons Attend Affair at Eugene

A group of Roseburg matrons motored to Eugene Thursday for the attractive bridge party at which Mrs. J. I. Love, formerly of this city, entertained a group of friends. Among those from Roseburg attending were Mrs. H. C. Waddell, Mrs. Geo. Bradburn, Mrs. Ben C. Zigler, Mrs. H. D. Harris and Mrs. J. C. Ponsler.

Roseburg Matrons Attend Forum

Several of the members of the Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Roseburg went to Eugene Wednesday to attend the district forum of the society, an all day session being held in the rooms of the First Methodist Episcopal church. A luncheon at noon was given for the visitors. Several prominent people from Portland and Salem were speakers on the program. Mrs. A. J. Geddes of Roseburg, district president, presided at the forum.

Among those from this city motoring to Eugene were Mrs. Foster McMillan, Mrs. A. J. Geddes, Mrs. J. B. Bailey, Mrs. A. C. Marsters, and Mrs. Lyle E. Marsters.

Mothers Day Observed at Circle Meeting

The Teanille Community Circle met at the home of Mrs. Lena Howell on Wednesday afternoon, opening with the singing of the hymn, "Mother's Bible," by the members and followed by readings from Bible verses. Mother's Day was observed by a short program in which the members took part.

At the close of the program an informal hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served. Guests in addition to the club members were Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Eva Simpson of California, and Mrs. Wagner of Montana.

The club matrons have been asked to the home of Mrs. Victoria McDonald for the next meeting in two weeks.

Matron Honored at Afternoon Affair

Mrs. J. F. Byrd and Mrs. Earl Decker joined in entertaining at the home of the former at an attractive afternoon affair honoring Mrs. Dennis Matthews.

Tulips and lilies in bright tones were used in the rooms as decorations. The afternoon was spent informally and at the close luncheon was served. Mrs. Gene Barker assisting at the tables.

The invitational list included Mrs. Dennis Matthews, Mrs. E. E. Morgan, Mrs. Alfred Neal, Mrs. G. M. Myers, Mrs. A. M. Wallace, Mrs. Gene Barker, Mrs. Emma Thomason, Mrs. Ida Branch, Mrs. V. T. Jackson, Mrs. Carl Palm, Mrs. Guy Wall, Mrs. Ella Palm, Mrs. James Miller, Mrs. Will Dearthoff.

Dinner Party Event Wednesday Evening

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Bill were informal dinner hosts on Wednesday evening, the affair commencing both Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hartley, who left Friday to make their home in Tacoma, and George M. Krell, who recently arrived from Seattle. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hartley, Miss Myra Hartley, Miss Rachel Hartley, George M. Krell and the hosts.

Matron Bids Club for Play

For the meeting of the Entro Nous club on Wednesday Mrs. H. D. Harris invited the members and additional guests to her home for bridge.

At the close of the afternoon Mrs. E. R. Stewart held high honors. Club guests were Mrs. G. V. Wimberly, Mrs. Leon McClintock, Mrs. A. M. Thorne and members, spending the afternoon with Mrs. A. D. Abbott, Mrs. Joseph A. Denn, Mrs. J. C. Ponsler, Mrs. E. B. Stewart and the hostess.

Rebekahs Sponsor Interesting Program

A most interesting musical program sponsored by the Rebekah Lodge on Tuesday evening observed National Music Week and was attended by a large number of Roseburg folk, the program being open to the public.

The lodge rooms were brightened with profusions of spring flowers in May baskets, completing a charming color motif.

In charge of the program were Josephine McElhinny, Vera LaKoblen and In Laubach. The numbers included an orchestral selection by Mrs. Joseph Shockley's Orchestra, composed of H. A. Canaday, cello; Herbert Williams, violin; Myrtle Hercher, piano; and Mrs. Shockley, cornet.

Reading—Mrs. Bertha Hodges.

Flute solo—Maxine Moore, accompanied by Mrs. Moore.

Instrumental duet—Lois Ann Whipple and Lotta Hatfield.

Cornet solo—Mrs. Joseph Shockley.

A pantomime—given by three of the girls from the public speaking class of the Junior High School—Barbra Clark, Vivian Williams and Lila Haah.

At the close refreshments were served in the banquet room, which was beautiful in spring flowers, the tables being arranged with May baskets filled with blossoms, attached to which were pastel colored streamers extending to each corner.

Miss Adele Bumis left the first of the week for Oakland and San Francisco to spend a few weeks, being the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. J. George, while at the bay cities.

Mrs. Dean Bubur Luncheon Hostess

Mrs. Dean Bubur planned a charming luncheon on Thursday for members of the Book Club who were her guests for the afternoon. An orange and yellow color scheme was used at the prettily appointed table, a centerpiece of California poppies completing the motif. Flowers were placed for the Mesdames Washington Hughes, Paul Bubur, Wm. Bell, C. S. Heitline, W. H. Fisher, Chas. W. Wharton, W. F. Rice and the hostess.

The afternoon was informally spent with needlework.

The regular meeting of the local chapter Daughters of the Loyal Order of the Moose will be held on Monday afternoon, May 9, at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. H. Churchill on East Cass street.

May Day Luncheon Charming Affair on Thursday

The May Day luncheon, an affair greatly anticipated each year by members of the Garden Valley Woman's Club and for which extensive plans are always made, was an event on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Peter Sinclair.

Profusions of lovely spring flowers, carrying out a motif of purple and gold, brightened the rooms and were artistically combined in decorations at the table. An amusing program, including toasts and anecdotes, was interspersed through the luncheon hour.

The business session followed with various matters of importance transacted. The club women voted to donate a generous sum to the Red Cross chapter for the flood relief and also a gift of $12 was voted to the Garden Valley school piano fund.

Roll call was responded to by each member with short selections in observance of Mother's Day.

Spending the afternoon were the Mesdames Geo. T. Bailey, Ed Brown, R. A. Calhoun, R. Evans, Donna Ferguson, R. S. Hutton, W. L. Krantz, E. E. LaBrie, W. D. Love, E. McCoy, G. McDaniel, C. McKay, A. Niday, J. Erwin Pace, Fred Terrell, Hugh Ritchie, J. Hugh Ritchie, Sr., A. N. Schneider, John Sinclair, R. H. C. Wood, Jack Boyd, Hugh Ritter, Peter Sinclair and Miss Edna Niday.

Mrs. J. B. Piland Arranges Sewing

Mrs. J. B. Piland invited the members of Woodcraft Thinkable club and five additional guests to her home on Friday for sewing. Spring blossoms formed the decorations in the rooms.

At the tea hour luncheon was served.

Mothers Honored at Tea Friday

One of the pleasant social events of the season was a tea given by the Girls' League of the Canyonville high school in honor of the mothers of the girls. The event was held in the school auditorium which was fittingly decorated with small fir trees and dogwood blossoms.

The following program was given: "Mighty Lak a Rose," Girl's chorus.

"Aims and Ideals of Our Girls' League," Leveretta Newton.

"The Ideal Daughter," Audrey Buroker.

Instrumental, Naomi Winn.

"The Ideal Mother," Mrs. Hodwin Wallace.

Reading, "Trau's Song," Callista Buroker.

"Springtime in the May," Girl's Chorus.

"Quotations," Bernice Carden.

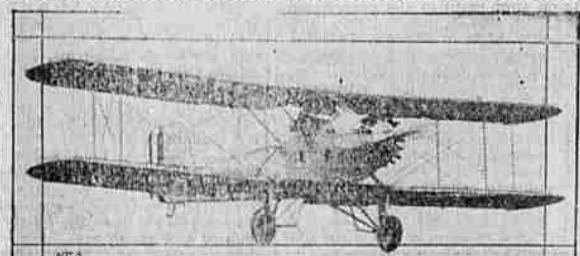

"Mother Love," Mrs. E. S. Ackert.

Following the program, tea was served at small tables. A color scheme of blue and yellow was used.

(Continued on page 3)

SHE BUILT SUCCESS FOR HER SON

Glenn Martin's Mother Helped Make His Dream of Airplanes a Reality

Glenn Martin's new navy "three-purpose" plane on its test flight—(By NEA Service)

CLEVELAND, O., May 7.—Glenn L. Martin, pioneer aviation expert and maker of airplanes for the U. S. navy, stood in the airport today when his revolutionary naval airplane, designed by his mother, was tested for the first time.

Despite him stood a white-haired woman. Her hand rested on his wrist and her eyes followed the graceful silver plane as it circled and twisted back and forth high overhead. In her face shone the same light of triumph and joy that appeared on the face of the man beside her.

Her Victory, Too.

For she was Mrs. Minta Martin, Glenn Martin's mother, who has stood behind him ever since the days when his unceasing efforts to make a "flying machine" made him the butt of the neighbors' jokes. The new plane was a victory for her no less than for her son.

It was 15 years ago this spring that Martin built his first airplane. The airplane was a rather less than a toy in those days. The Wright brothers had made a few—very few—flights; but Martin had never seen a plane fly. He was building largely on faith.

The family was living near Los Angeles at that time. Martin's father was opposed to his airplane-building hobby; only Mrs. Martin stood by him and encouraged him.

"He had been interested in flying ever since he was a little boy," Mrs. Martin remarked, as her famous son walked over to talk to the pilot, who had landed.

Studying the birds.

"He used to hunt birds a lot, and he'd spend hours lying in the the nurse said to me, 'Well, I suppose he'll never fly again.' I told her, 'He'll be flying just as soon as he gets out of this hospital.' And he did.

"Worried?" To be sure, I used to worry about him. But I had confidence in him. He always put such pains into his work. Do you know, never yet has a Martin airplane crashed because of any structural defect in the wings? Glenn has always built well.

Mrs. Martin knows airplanes. She is a frequent visitor at her son's factory, and she can describe this newest model to you as well as anyone in the place. She still takes an occasional flight, too, despite her white hair; she has, as she puts it, grown up with airplanes.

"It was when he heard of the Wright brothers' flight that he really became enthusiastic. He spent many an hour in his workshop putting his airplane together. Folks used to laugh at him and tell him about Daning Green and his flying machine; but Glenn just kept at it.

"I'll never forget that first flight. Airplanes didn't have closed bodies then, you know; the pilot sat out in front, with only a couple of sticks under him. I remember I was a passenger on that flight, and I sat on the wing.

"You did?" asked her interviewer in astonishment.

Her eyes twinkled.

The Ocean Underneath.

"Oh yes, I sat on the wing, and my feet hung over the edge. When we got up in the air there was nothing much under me but the Pacific ocean."

Mrs. Martin looked over at the efficient-looking airplane that had just landed. Compared with the contraption of bamboo and varnished silk in which she made her first flight, this one must have looked as safe as a tin can—which, in fact, is pretty nearly the case.

"Yes, there's a big difference," she said in reply to an unspoken question. "It's a wonderful satisfaction, too. It shows what it means to have faith and perseverance."

"I remember some years ago Glenn had his only really bad accident. He was in a hospital out west. For a while they didn't know whether he was going to live or die. One day I visited him, and —He eagerly watched by Martin and his mother, Mrs. Minta Martin. The inset shows a "close-up" of Mrs. Martin. (Copyright 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)