INSURANCE FOR PROTECTION OF PUBLIC LIKELY

Writer Finds Sentiment to Force Autoist Policies Growing in State.

LARGE LOSSES CITED

Oregon May Adopt Law Patterned Along Lines of One on Trial in Massachusetts.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, June 1.—Widespread sentiment in favor of a bill to compel motorists to provide insurance for the protection of persons physically injured in automobile accidents is growing up in Oregon and California, according to MacDonagh Show, member of the Multnomah county bar, in an article appearing in the April issue of the Oregon Law Review, published by the University of Oregon.

In 1926 the automobile accident bill in the United States was in the neighborhood of 435 million dollars, he says, of which about 215 million related to personal injuries and deaths. New uninsured automobile owners were financially responsible and bore part of the loss. Last year's insurance premiums, he points out, were distributed among injured persons and their families, investigators, expert witnesses, lawyers, court costs, miscellaneous expenses of litigation, overhead, commissions, reserves, and profits.

The public in 1926 bore a large slice of the total bill in the form of taxation, free wards, clinics, medicine, medical attention, nursing and direct charity. Mr. Show continues: A large part of the direct bill and practically all of the more remote damages from accidents fell upon the injured persons and their families.

"Men are coming to the belief that this distribution is unjust for three broad reasons," says Mr. Show. "First, the public at large should not be penalized; secondly, the share falling on the victim and his family appears unjustly high; and thirdly, that falling upon the motorist appears unjustly low, Massachusetts Giving Test.

No state has yet attempted the solution of the problem, through compulsory compensation insurance, he says. But the state of Massachusetts has dedicated itself as an experimental laboratory for compulsory insurance of the liability type.

The Massachusetts law, he explains, requires the registrant of a motor vehicle, as a prerequisite to registration of the same to file with the registrar a certificate showing a deposit with a state officer of cash or securities of a value of not less than $5000; issuance of a liability policy covering the vehicle to the extent of $5000 on account of death or injury to one person and $1000 on account of any one accident resulting in death or injury to more than one person; or a surety bond to satisfy all judgments for death or personal injuries up to the amounts specified in respect to the policy.

This problem, in its most important aspect is sociological he says, and he asks if the good to be gained to the public by putting the victim and his family on a more self-sustaining basis is outweighed by the harm involved in encouraging the individual to look to others for his protection.

Good Health Requires Good Elimination.

To be well, you must keep the blood stream free from impurities. If the kidneys lag, allowing body poisons to accumulate, a toxic condition is created. One is apt to feel dull, languid, tired and achy. A nagging headache is sometimes a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passages of secretions. If you have reason to suspect improper kidney functioning, try Doan's Pills—a tested stimulant diuretic. Users praise them throughout the United States. Ask your neighbor!

BRIAND WILLING TO MEET AMERICA FOR PEACE PACT

(Associated Press Special Wire.)

PARIS, June 1.—Foreign Minister Briand and his colleagues in the French cabinet are understood to be willing to go just as far as the Washington government in an agreement absolutely to exclude war in the event of controversies arising between the two countries.

The favorable reception by American public opinion of M. Briand's suggestion set forth in his message through the Associated Press on April 6, appears to have prepared the way for a more definite step and it is likely that the French government at an early date will inquire if the American government desires to consider such a treaty.

THEATRES

ANTLERS THEATRE

"McFadden's Flats," which opens as the feature attraction at the Antlers theatre today, is one long, hilarious laugh. The famous old stage comedy has been given a brand new dress, new laughs and a new lease on life that should give screen audiences a new conception of what can be done in the way of film fun.

Edward Small, of the producing firm of Asher, Small & Rogers, who made this latest First National hit, has turned out something unique in the form of a feature comedy. If his desire was to keep audiences roaring from the opening scene to the final fadeout he has succeeded.

Charlie Murray, as the hodgepodge Irishman, is irresistible, and teamed up with Chester Conklin as a Scotch barber, Charlie proves one of the greatest comics of the screen.

Of course, pretty faces—and figures as well—have not been overlooked in the making of this picture. Edna Murphy, in the leading feminine role, is one of the most convincing reasons why gentlemen prefer blondes. Then, when Dorothy Dwan comes along—photographing as a decided brunette—one becomes convinced that he might prefer her without losing the slightest evidence of his gentility.

LIBERTY THEATRE

Once in an age there comes to the screen a picture that can be truly classed as epochal. Such a production is "The Yankee Clipper," which opens for a four-day run at the Liberty theatre today, and scored an emphatic hit.

"The Yankee Clipper" is epochal in that it bridges to the motion picture public something new, refreshing and exhilarating in the way of entertainment. For which this reviewer is duly grateful.

The something new offered by "The Yankee Clipper" is the revelation of a chapter in American history hitherto untouched by writers for and producers of the silent drama. It is that period of a quarter of a century just prior to and during the Civil war, the era of the famous clipper ship which brought glory to the American shipbuilding industry and won for this country the commercial supremacy of the sea.

The refreshing element in the fine picture is the unhackneyed plot of a drama that grips you at attention in the first reel and hold it through a well-developed continuity to the final smashing climax. The exhilaration is supplied by the genuinely thrilling realism of a storm at sea, with the "Clipper" battling her way through a terrific typhoon around Cape Horn and the lusty, red-blooded battle in which handsome and rugged Bill Boyd quells a gang of villainous mutineers after a great fight in which no holds are barred.
