BUILDING BRIDGES.

Recognition of the imperative need of a new bridge over Deer creek, at North Jackson street, is so general as to admit of no doubt concerning the outcome of the special election on the proposed bond issue with which to finance it.

A committee from the American Bankers' association, examining the competition between railroads and motor trucks and busses, has discovered that motors have made but small inroad into the railroads' business, and that the traffic lost to the railroads was of the kind found least remunerative to the roads.

One of the best pieces of legislation ever put on the statutes by that much-maligned institution known as congress was the pure food and drugs act. It has saved countless lives and prevented the wrecking of many digestive apparatuses.

Though social welfare workers still persist in criticizing the present day flapper for some of her alleged excesses, health experts are now almost unanimous in giving the much maligned little lady a rather generous O. K.

In enforcing the thirty-minute parking law on the business streets of Roseburg it is hoped that the officials will use some good old-fashioned "horse sense."

The Roseburg News-Review proudly boasts of publishing one of the finest auto sections to be found in any newspaper of the state.

The Sutherlin Chamber of Commerce has invited the Roseburg citizens to attend a meeting there tonight. That is one way to stimulate a greater friendship between two of Douglas county's growing cities.

We can stand for almost anything from the headline writers, but think that "Crack China Troops" is a little too much.

There may be a shortage of strawberries over the nation but it certainly isn't noticed locally.

In sunshine of Champs-Elysees Walk lovers hand in hand, But out past Lucy-Lecocage The little crocuses stand.

In gardens of the Tuleries Bloom roses white and red, But through the Arc de Triomphe march The legions of the dead.

This colium would appreciate some kind soul bringin' in a crate of strawberries as to date the contributions have been confined solely to posies.

OMIGOSH!

I've kept my schoolgirl complexion, I've walked a mile for a smoke, I've asked the man who owns one Who tells me it keeps him broke.

Once again the morons (rather, we should say, the moroffs) are pestering their acquaintances with that silly chain letter, with the fake title, it seems that if the recipient copies it and sends it on to four persons within twenty-four hours, that he can make any number of passes at crap, his tires will never puncture, women will never scorn his advances, his boss will double his wages and his mother-in-law will never darken his door.

Though social welfare workers still persist in criticizing the present day flapper for some of her alleged excesses, health experts are now almost unanimous in giving the much maligned little lady a rather generous O. K.

OREGON FARMER HAD HARD FIGHT TO SELL PRUNES

PORTLAND, Ore., June 8.—W. L. Palmer has returned from a four months trip through Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa, where he sold 2000 boxes of Oregon prunes in spite of the fact that he was attacked on every hand and vilified by jobbers and agents of the California prune industry.

"I didn't have any luck at all," declared Palmer, "although I offered Oregon Italian prunes for 10 cents a pound as against 25 cents a pound for which California prunes were selling."

"I could not sell them to jobbers"

ELKS, ATTENTION!

Meeting next Thursday night. Initiation and lunch. DOUGLAS WAITE, Sec. D. P. O. E.

I opened an office, advertised in the papers and used the radio. In this manner I was able to inform consumers of the real superiority of the Oregon prune over any other.

The jobbers and others fighting the introduction of Oregon prunes into the market did everything to prevent the sale of my prunes. They replied to my talk over the radio by broadcasting the claim that the Oregon prune was sour and not fit to eat, but I had the jump on them and won out.

Palmer declared that Oregon products are little known in the Middle West but that California fruits are found everywhere and are well advertised.

What we need to sell our Oregon products is proper advertising," he said.

TED JEWETT WEDS IN SAN FRANCISCO

Interesting news received here by friends in the marriage of Ted Jewett, a former Roseburg boy, and Miss Marie Augusta Young of San Francisco, the wedding being an event of Saturday, May 28 in San Francisco.

Mrs. Jewett is the daughter of Mrs. O. E. Peppard of the bay city. Mr. Jewett is a member of a family well known in Roseburg and has many friends here.

SEA GULL GRABS DRIVEN GOLF BALL

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 8.—H. L. Selley, Salt Lake banker, scored a birdie on the fourteenth hole of the country club golf course yesterday that is "one for the book."

Sea gulls are numerous on the course, coming inland from Great Salt Lake, a distance of nearly 20 miles. Mr. Selley hit a long spoon shot on the 14th green which is within about ten yards of the out-of-bounds fence.

THE ANYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The old King said, "Well, Scouty, lad, this deep sea floor is not so bad. I think you'll have a lot of fun. At least, I hope you do."

The kind picked up a shining shell and Scouty shouted, "Gee, that's swell. I'd like to have a lot of those to carry back to shore."

Then Scouty turned around to see just where the funny thing could be. He watched it wiggle round a bit, then swim with all its might. And, in the meantime, old King Roar decided he would leave once more.

Along the bottom Scouty went. A lot of thrilling time was spent in looking over the queer shaped shells, and very pretty stones. He saw some white stuff just ahead.

When for an hour he'd looked about, he suddenly felt tired out. "I must sit down," said he. "I wish that I was back on deck!" His legs grew tired. He couldn't stand, but didn't dare sit in the sand, so he was very tickled when he found a mossy rock.

He hadn't been there very long, when something near at hand went wrong. He saw a sudden swirl or two, then quickly seemed to

FLASHES OF LIFE

NEW YORK—In 1886 Dr. Emil F. Hartung and Miss Ida Alken, 17, eloped. In 1905 their daughter, Muriel, 18, eloped with Andrew Gerards. And now Muriel Gerards, 48, has eloped with John Grodler. The bride told grandpa her secret. "Don't cry," he said. Then after revealing some family history he wrote a handsome check.

NEW YORK—William Hurd Lawrence, was one of the best known illustrators for magazines 20 years ago and also had a reputation for water colors. His right hand became paralyzed. After years of effort he trained his left. Now his work is regarded as much better than it was before he was afflicted.

World Census of Agriculture Will Be Taken at Rome in 1930; America and 40 Other Nations to Cooperate

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Forty countries of Europe, Asia and Africa are ready to cooperate with the United States in the colossal world census of agriculture, to be taken in Rome in 1930.

As director of the world census, Estabrook has found that of 200 countries only 60 ever have taken an inventory of agriculture. Fewer than 40 of these have taken a census since 1900. In the last six years only four of five countries have taken censuses in the same way.

As a consequence no satisfactory comparable figures on international agricultural conditions are available. It is the object of the world census to make such figures available and to obtain statistics which will have a common meaning in all countries.

The census will take account of size of farms, kinds of farms according to well-recognized categories, area of arable or cultivated land, area allotted to each crop, and the production of each crop for the period covered by the census; also the number of livestock of each kind on each farm by age and sex.

The work of the census will be done in the assembly room of the International Institute, a palatial structure erected by King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, from his private funds, and presented to agricultural interests of the world.
