FURTHER TAX CUT DEMANDS ECONOMY, COOLIDGE STATES

Bureau Heads Told to Keep Down Expenses; Control of Mississippi Now Big Problem.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, June 13.—While declaring the administration is striving always to pave the way for further lowering of the public debt and of taxes, President Coolidge warned tonight that hope of further tax reduction was futile unless federal expenditures were held approximately to their present level.

Speaking before the semi-annual budget meeting of heads of government departments, the President said that a surplus of $599,000,000 was certain for the present fiscal year ending June 30, and estimated that the surplus for next year would reach $735,000,000.

Referring to the Mississippi valley flood, Mr. Coolidge said that "all that possibly can be done to alleviate distress and suffering is being done."

"As it develops that additional funds are required for this purpose I am confident they will be provided," he declared. "Certain measures that were considered by us as a means to full protection have proven inadequate. Such a disaster must never happen again. A survey is now being made to determine what is needed. That survey will be laid before the Congress."

"From a business standpoint we must anticipate from this disaster a reduction in our prospective revenues and an increase in our prospective expenditures. I am confident this will be an added incentive to effect savings elsewhere."

CZECHO-SLOVAK SWIMMER BREAKS CHANNEL RECORD

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) PARIS, June 13.—A new record for a swim across the English channel is claimed for the Czecho-Slovak swimmer, Venceslav Spasek, by the Czecho-Slovak legation here, which announces that he swam from Wissant, between Calais and Cape Gris Nez, to Dover Thursday in ten hours, 45 minutes.

It is stated that he swam for part of the way with his countryman Dvorack, who abandoned the water after six hours. The legation says Spasek was conveyed by a tug and the swim was supervised by Czecho-Slovak diplomatic officials.

Spasek is credited with having beaten Rademacher, the German champion, in a swim at Hannover two years ago.

Six persons swam the English channel during the season of 1926. The Frenchman, George Michel, made it in the fastest time—11 hours, 5 minutes—on September 10.

TOO MUCH STATIC IN POLITICS, SAYS GOV. AL RITCHIE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 13.—Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, told delegates to the annual convention of the National Electric Light Association today that politics "suffers from an excess of static."

He urged that the industry join with other branches of business in visualizing the problems of government as essentially its own, so that the country "may hope for the dawn of a political era in which business will write for itself and share in writing for mankind a new charter of safety and sanity and of liberty and human rights."

"How to transform heat into light is more difficult in politics than it is in electricity," he said, "but light rather than heat is what is needed."

"Business deludes itself if it thinks it has to do only with economic laws and principles, and that politics is governed by some mysterious laws or principles that are different than its own."

"There is nothing mysterious in politics except sometimes the flub-dubbery of politicians."

WIFE SWIMS 3 MILES TO BRING AID TO HUSBAND

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) GEORGETOWN, S. C., June 13.—Batling waves and undertow for hours and leaving the danger of sharks, Mrs. A. W. Foster of New York, swam eight miles to the North Jetty of the harbor here to bring aid to her husband, who was drifting out to sea on his yacht, the Sea Hawk.

The Fosters were sailing for Florida from here Tuesday, when the yacht's engine suddenly ceased while the tide was carrying the vessel out to sea. It was revealed today, Mr. Foster, who had just recovered from an operation, was unable to accompany his wife in a rowboat to get help from shore.

Her boat, again capsized in the heavy waves and she had to swim eight miles to the breaker water. When she finally reached the jetty, she collapsed in a dead faint and after regaining consciousness, walked two miles in bare feet over sharp rocks to the light house where her cries for help attracted attention. Fishermen then brought back the drifting yacht to the harbor.

20 EXECUTIONS SOVIET'S REPLY TO TERRORISTS

British Mission, Back in London, Denies Having Inspired Deeds of Malcontents.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) MOSCOW, June 13.—Execution of twenty persons as a reply to the "open transition to terrorism" by opponents of the Soviet regime is announced in an official communique published today.

"In view of the open transition to terrorism and destructive struggle by monarchist and white guardist elements, acting from abroad, on instructions and with funds from foreign intelligence services," the communique says, "the collegium of the state political department passed death sentences at its session of June 9 on twenty persons, and the sentences have been carried out."

Great Britain Shocked LONDON, June 10.—British officials were shocked today by the announcement in Moscow of the execution of 20 persons charged with anti-Soviet activities, including the furnishing of information to the British diplomatic mission in Moscow. The mission returned to London last night, following the recent rupture of Anglo-Soviet relations.

It was emphatically denied at Downing street that the British mission in Moscow had had any relations of this nature with Russia. Foreign office officials reiterated that in breaking off relations with Soviets, the British government was actuated by no hidden or ulterior motives and had no intention of creating a state of war, but had hoped that, notwithstanding the severance of diplomatic relations, Anglo-Soviet trade would continue.

As an instance of the difficulties under which British mission in Moscow labored, it was pointed out that the members of the mission had no relations with Russians outside of the sphere of their official duties because the Soviet authorities were suspicious of all the activities of the mission. British representatives, it was stated, even were afraid to be seen in company with Russians for fear that such associations might be misconstrued.

It is understood here that one of the charges of espionage relates to a letter from the British consul at Leningrad to a member of the British diplomatic mission at Moscow. The letter was a reply to inquiries from the British mission as to whether the consul could obtain the names of any Russian firms willing to buy chemicals from British firms. The letter stated that the writer would endeavor to obtain the information asked.

The letter was intercepted by Soviet authorities, it is stated, and declared it to be connected with an attempt to obtain illicit information.

A facsimile of the of the letter together with a charge of espionage, appeared later on the front page of Pravda.

MISSIONERS' 28 DAY FLIGHT ENDS; LEADER DROWNED

PEKING, June 10.—Fifty American, British and Scandinavian missionaries arrived in Peking today after a difficult and tragic 28-day flight from distant Kansas province, where they report anti-Christian and anti-foreign feeling is rife. They were ordered from Kansas by the consuls.

The greater part of the journey, on the Yellow river, from Lanchow, capital at Kansu, to Paochow, northern Shensi, was made on goatskin rafts. From Paochow they traveled by railroad to Peking.

Dr. George E. King, a British leader of the party, was drowned in the rapids of the Yellow river 200 miles west of Paochow, when he attempted to refloat a grounded raft. His wife and two children saw him carried away by the current. The body was not recovered.

Almost all of the travelling was done at night to avoid bandits, the party was frequently held up and robbed.

WHAT IS IT? (A poem for the children by Florence Aiken Banks)

As I stand in my window and look up and down,
The most beautiful thing to be seen in a town
I can see in my own—it is seen in yours, too;
I can claim it as mine; it belongs, too, to you.

And of all pretty things ever made by man's hand,
It's the prettiest thing on the sea or the land,
It is lovelier far than is any sweet flower,
And we're proud, oh, so proud of it every hour!

Men have died for it; books often tell us its story;
Can you guess what it is? Why, of course it's O-G-I!

The following poem was composed by Miss Kathryn Strong, 13-year-old Bothan, Oregon, girl, in honor of Colonel Charles Lindbergh.

A BRAVE LEAP

A brave leap we all must say,
For Lindbergh who flew away,
Far over that dreadful open sea,
Which roared and dashed with lots of glee.

For it thought of what a fine victim he'd be.
But Lindbergh, he sped swiftly on,
And though there were dangers he thought of none;

For his thoughts were on that certain aim,
Which brought to him a world of fame.

He reached the goal he journeyed for,
After thirty-three-and-a-half hours
of dangers he bore;
For he had courage and plenty of skill,
And he didn't lack the power of will.

He was honored by many far and wide,
When he had finished his treacherous ride;
He was welcomed in Europe as well as here,
For he had defeated the foe of mankind without fear.

His mother was proud of her famous son,
To think what an honorable victory he'd won;
To her he brought a world of joy,
And the nation thanked her for such a boy.
