DISTRICT KIWANIS CONFERENCE WAS WELL ATTENDED (Continued from page 1)

duced George French, a representative of Kiwanis International, Mr. French made an inspiring address, tracing the history of Kiwanis, showing how it originated and then explained the purposes and aims of the organization. Kiwanis, the speaker stated, is the community benefit Kiwanis, therefore, becomes a unifying adjunct to all organizations fostering civic welfare. He outlined the duties of Kiwanis clubs and Kiwanians and told in a very interesting manner the objectives for which the clubs are striving. His talk was very interesting and gave his hearers a keener insight into the ideals of the service organization.

Following his talk there was a short recess and a group photograph was made by C. W. Clark. Then those interested in the business conference reassembled and a round table discussion was held. This proved of great interest and it was necessary to call the discussion to an end because of the lateness of the hour after Mr. French had for several hours answered questions and discussed with representatives of the various clubs their mutual and individual problems helping to advise them concerning matters in which the clubs plan participation. The conference was of great benefit to all those who attended.

Those who did not desire to stay for the conference were entertained at golf, horseshoes, baseball and other sports.

A committee composed of Mrs. B. R. Shoemaker, Mrs. Jack Wharton, Mrs. Clair K. Allen and Mrs. H. C. Church assisted the local club in preparing the entertainment for the visiting and local ladies. The program consisted of a group of vocal solos by Mattie Lee Taylor, a piano solo by Frances Lintott, dance by Norma Winston, reading by Olive Lawrence, vocal solo by Elsie Carleton Strang, dance by Maxine Stearns and harmonica solos by R. L. Whipple. Mrs. Lintott was accompanist for each of the numbers. There were several other happy punch and water were served during the afternoon.

The pleasure of the day was greatly enhanced by the fine luncheon which was served to the large group of Kiwanians and ladies at noon, under the direction of Mrs. J. G. Broadway, who was ably assisted in the preparation and serving of the delicious meal by a number of local ladies.
