FLOGGED WOMAN TELLS STORY IN GEORGIA COURT

leave town. Then they looked at my wounds and said it wasn't enough, that they wouldn't show after three days.

"Then one of the men told me if we have to do this again we're going to burn a K in your back. One man said, 'Let's do it right now, she don't talk like we want her to, and I got the iron right here.' They told me I had to make my boy go to work. He had been out of school only a couple of weeks.

"They wanted to know why I didn't go to church."

"Who said that?" Solicitor General Robert McMillan, heading the prosecution, asked.

"Mr. Acree," the witness replied.

Boy Also Thashed

Mrs. Bowers said that after she had fallen exhausted on the step of one of the automobiles, her fifteen-year-old son, Lloyd, who fought to save his mother from the attack, was seized and whipped with the same strap with which she had been beaten. The two were then left to make their way home.

Testimony of physicians and nurses preceded that of Mrs. Bowers. They asserted she was terribly bruised from the "waist line to back of the knee, and there were blood clots under the skin." She was in the hospital twelve days.

WOOD WANTS WAR DEPT. TO RETAIN INSULAR REINS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Governor Wood of the Philippines, after conference with Secretary Davis today, declared that he hoped the islands would remain under the jurisdiction of the War Department.

His view was in direct conflict to the recent suggestion of President Coolidge for the transfer of the insular government to the Department of the Interior.

The objection to transfer raised by General Wood was that the Philippine government "needs a department with necessary strength to back it up."
