

ROSEBURG NEWS-REVIEW

Issued Daily Except Sunday by The News-Review Co., Inc.

Member of The Associated Press. The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and to all local news published herein.

B. W. BATES, President and Manager; BERT G. BATES, Secretary-Treasurer. Entered as second class matter May 17, 1920, at the post office at Roseburg, Oregon, under the Act of March 2, 1879.

Subscription Rates table with columns for Daily, per year, by mail; Daily, six months, by mail; Daily, three months, by mail; Daily, single month, by mail; Daily, by carrier, per month.

ROSEBURG, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 27, 1927.

COMMISSION THINKS RATES HIGH ENOUGH.

Yesterday, for the second time, the Interstate Commerce commission decided that the railroads were receiving high enough rates for hauling fruits and vegetables between Pacific coast states. The petition of the railroads for permission to raise the schedules was accordingly denied.

The day's news was of less consolation to the prune grower. The recent organization of prune growers and packers in this state did not involve, it seems, the crop of this year. As a result buyers are making a final gouge into the market, threatening the growers with losses aggregating several hundred thousand dollars.

Announcement that the Umpqua Valley Canning company's plant is soon to resume operations is welcome news to the fruit growers of this district and to the city of Roseburg as well. Equally as welcome is the prospect of centralized management that will come nearer to insuring regular seasonal operations than a system directed by too many minds.

It is certainly mighty gratifying to residents of Douglas county, as well as the seventeen other land grant counties in Oregon, to get a favorable decision in the first round in the suit brought by the state to share in the distribution of the funds of the Oregon and California land grant money.

Speaking about a detour during the period of constructing the new bridge across Deer creek, why not go the way of least resistance? Construct a temporary structure just east of the old bridge. This could be done at a moderate cost with a greater part of the material going into the construction salvaged after the new bridge had been completed.

Every time a tourist gets "dubbed" in a community he is made a traveling knocker. Citizens of any town cannot better utilize their energies than to cater to these "knights of the road." The majority of them do not expect the impossible—only courteous and fair treatment. Let's give it to them in big chunks.

A Texan has managed to keep awake 150 hours by drinking coffee and smoking cigars. Just the man for a job as claquer for a grand opera company.

Russia proclaims a defense week. Has somebody been trying to lend that country some money again?

Maybe the president is trying to worm his way into the heart of the west!

This weather makes a fellow take off his hat to the sun.

PRUNE DICKIN'S

By BERT G. BATES

GOD EVENING FOLK

A feller needs a pair of snowshoes To mush across The opoin' pavement These hot p. m.'s.

While sweeterin' down the main stem this p. m. we noticed the town cop leenin' agin a bldg. in the shade and we bet he's dern glad the crime wave isn't as hot as the heat wave.

Lather Barnes, w. k. tonsorialist, tells us that barber shop conversations since the openin' of the fishin' season make him long for rod and reel rather than razor and hone.

Willyum Bidwy, mashie expert of the country club, is figgerin' on gittin' some of the dub gawifiers to do the plowin' for the new greens.

Now that the flood refugees have gone back home, the country is heaving a sigh of content. One of the reasons why a flood refugee's real troubles begin when he quits being one.

A farmer in New Jersey comes forward with the news that he furnished the hams which Charles Lindbergh ate on his way to Paris. What we're wondering is who furnished the ham for Levine?

Does anybody remember the good old fashioned days when girls made poets out of the men instead of rubbernecks?

Batching is that summer period which a man looks forward to and is darn glad when it's over.

As Joe Denn's wife has gone fer the summer he has now started washin' dishes with the garden hose—this bein' an excellent way to water the lawn and thus kill two birds with one stone.

A feller appeared on the main drag with a Palm Beach suit this afternoon, the seat of the trousers bein' thin enough to assimilate the slight breeze that was whippin' the atmosphere today.

Some of the fellers returnin' from their annual vacations with a hang dog leen, said look bein' caused by the dirty remarks made by local creditors who couldn't afford to git away fer the summer.

Judge McMahon today refused to allow the state employes more'n four bits per meal. Now the three-dollar per day legislators can snicker for awhile.

LAFE PERKINS SEZ—

"The skinny gals are now takin' their swimmin' after dark."

Picnic at Idleay Park.

CRUMPACKER'S JOB WANTED BY TYSON KINSELL

Associated Press Leased Wire.

SALEM, Ore., July 27.—Tyson Kinsell, who has been in Washington, D. C., for 20 years and is now connected with the United States shipping board, yesterday telegraphed Governor Patterson urging that he be appointed congressman to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Representative Crumpacker.

TOT DROWNS IN JAR

EMMETT, Idaho, July 17.—Falling into a ten gallon jar, in which there was about eight inches of water, a Robert Overmyer, year and a half old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Overmyer, was drowned.

DR. NERBAS DENTIST

Painless Extraction Gas When Desired Pyorrhea Treated Phone 488 Masonic Bldg.

DEMPSEY GIVEN GREAT WELCOME IN LOS ANGELES

Acclaim of 50,000 Rings in His Ears—Reiterates Denial of Having Fouled Sharkey.

Associated Press Leased Wire.

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—Jack Dempsey, the man who came back, was home today, and was to the boxing fans of this city a conquering hero. Unlike his return home last summer after he had lost his crown to Gene Tunney was the welcome which was extended the former heavyweight champion yesterday upon his arrival from New York, scene of his knockout triumph over Jack Sharkey. Some fifty thousand admirers turned out. Thousands flanked the streets down which he rode and still other thousands crowded about the downtown hotel in which Dempsey was officially welcomed. Pushing, screaming and cheering, an irresistible wave of humanity bowled over 300 policemen at the railroad station.

Dempsey hurried through the reception and telephoned his wife, Estelle Taylor, who, because of illness, was unable to take part in the welcome.

Those who have known Dempsey through his fighting career say that "physically he may not be the Jack Dempsey of the Toledo days, but mentally he's the Dempsey of old. He's tough and careful and believes in himself."

So much so that he thinks he will triumph when he tackles Tunney next September in an effort to win back the title.

Questioned about his condition and the Sharkey fight Dempsey said:

"My legs bothered me a little at first but as soon as I warmed up they were as good as ever.

"I did not foul Sharkey. My right hand landed squarely in the pit of his stomach in the seventh round. I had been hitting him there and I knew I was hurting him because he kept dropping his collar to protect himself.

"But he protested to the referee and I stepped aside. The shift put me in position for a full wallop to the jaw and when O'Sullivan (the referee) yelled to keep on fighting, I let Sharkey have it."

"Eat barbecue sandwiches and 'ave forever. Brand's Road Stand."

EDITORS MEET IN ROSEBURG AUGUST 5 AND 6

(Continued from page 1.)

This will be followed by a band concert, which will be open to the public, after which there will be dancing, cards and other forms of entertainment for the editors and the members of the country club. Nearly all of the editors will be accompanied by their wives, and it is hoped that local people will make it a point to become acquainted with the visitors.

During Friday afternoon the Umpqua Chiefs and Chamber of Commerce will provide cars to take the wives of the editors on excursions to points of interest about the county. The Roseburg Woman's club will also provide entertainment for the ladies.

Saturday morning there will be a golf tournament, and as a special prize the Chamber of Commerce is offering a silver loving cup, which will go to the outfit tuning in the best score.

At noon Saturday a caravan will leave for Bandon, and the afternoon will be spent at the beach where the entire party will enjoy a picnic on the beach, a seafood banquet at night and then a big dance at the pavilion.

Hal Hoos, private secretary to Governor Patterson and secretary of the state editorial association, arrived in Roseburg today to confer with the local committees regarding the convention details. The program is being outlined today and everything is being put in readiness for the event.

Cottage cheese, Roseburg Dairy, Phone 186.

PRUNE MERGER IN CALIFORNIA NOT YET EFFECTED

Associated Press Leased Wire.

SAN JOSE, Calif., July 27.—Success of the California Cooperative Prune merger, embracing 41 packers, the California Prune and Apple Growers' association and the newly organized Prune Producers' association, joining forces to stabilize the prune industry, looked dubious early today, with thousands of acres yet to be signed into the pool to enable its operation, campaign headquarters here reported.

Efforts were being made today to bring the total acreage signed to 22,000, the minimum required by this date to comply with the packer-grower agreement. A total of 45,000 acres must be signed by August 17 in order to control 90 per cent of the state prune crop.

The Sacramento clearing house association wired approval of the merger to headquarters here and pledged its support to the campaign.

FALL IS FATAL TO 91-YEAR FRIEND OF PROF. J. B. HORNER

Associated Press Leased Wire.

SALEM, Ore., July 27.—Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott, 91, who had lived in Oregon 45 years, died in steady last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hugh Kay, of

COPCO ASKS PERMIT FOR SUTHERLIN BUY

Associated Press Leased Wire.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The California Oregon Power company has applied to the state railroad commission for permission to purchase for $12,000, the Sutherland Light and Power company, operating in Douglas county, Oregon, and to merge the Sutherland system with its own.

Salem, when she tripped over a porch rug and fell headlong to the sidewalk, five feet below the porch. She received a fractured skull and deep lacerations.

Mrs. Elliott was a lifelong friend of Professor J. B. Horner, noted Oregon historian and professor at Oregon Agricultural college. Professor Horner had lived with the Elliotts 50 years ago when he taught his first school term. The aged woman was well known as one of the leaders in the fight for educational progress in the Willamette valley during her residence of 65 years.

Mrs. Elliott will be buried at Mount Zion. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. H. Kay of Salem and Mrs. Edgar Grimm of Nome, Alaska.

PRUNE GROWERS FACING BIG LOSS ON 1927 OUTPUT

Kipp Sends Out Appeal in Effort to Halt Price Cutting Tactics of Packers.

Associated Press Leased Wire.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 27.—In an effort to prevent prune growers of Oregon and Washington from suffering severe losses on the 1927 crop due to disorganization of growers and to price cutting tactics of packers, R. H. Kipp, manager of the marketing department of the Chamber of Commerce has sent out an appeal to the business men of the prune producing districts and to the growers to get together on some marketing plan.

He said today that already prices are being cut below the opening prices announced several days ago, and that by the time the first prunes are ready for market in late September or in October, the drop may be so far that growers will stand to lose hundreds of thousands of dollars. A drop of a single cent a pound would mean a loss of $600,000, he declared.

Growers for the most part have been agreeable to the plan of organization of a committee of nine, of which Kenneth Miller is chairman.

"It was thought that packers were in line to enter the grower packer plan of organization proposed for marketing both the 1927 and 1928 crop, but one of the packers was found to have quoted prices for the 1927 crop in a foreign country contrary to a mutual understanding, with the result that the plan of marketing so far as the 1927 crop is concerned was upset.

Realizing that packers cannot or will not agree among themselves, Kipp suggested that business men and growers should bring pressure to bear upon them in an industrial way.

Kipp has offered the services of the marketing department at any conference which may be arranged in an effort to bring about a solution of the middle and to prevent packers from price cutting and the growers from losing money by being forced to sell prunes below production cost.

CHAMBERLIN WILL NOT JOIN RESERVE TO OBTAIN D. F. C.

Associated Press Leased Wire.

UNION CITY, N. J., July 27.—Clarence Chamberlin said here today when informed by the Associated Press of President Coolidge's desire to award him the distinguished flying cross if it was possible under the law, that he did not care to join any of the nation's armed reserve forces in order to qualify for the cross.

"The distinguished flying cross is purely a military decoration and my flight was solely for commercial and scientific purposes. In order to accept the honor, I would be required to join the reserve air forces and at present I do not see my way clear to do so," said Chamberlin.

NOW YOU ASK ONE

IN THE NEWS

Today's ten questions are based on recent news events. If you keep up on your newspaper reading, you should answer them easily. Correct answers are on the back page.

1—What aviation event was recently won by Eddie Stinson?

2—The Geneva naval parity held "plenary" sessions. What does the word plenary mean?

3—What two members of the Coolidge cabinet have the same family name?

4—What national sporting event will soon be held at Forest Hills, N. Y.?

5—What statesman is known as "The Tiger of France"?

6—What is the horse Peter Managor's new world record for the mile trot?

7—Who is Kelvin Christopher O'Higgins?

8—Who is Joseph Paul Cuko?

9—From what position did Byron Bancroft Johnson recently resign?

10—How did Lena Wilson figure prominently in recent news?

THE TINYMITES STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The gum drop hills were queer indeed, said Scouty. "This is what we need to get a little exercise. We're lazy as can be. Let's climb the hills and look about." And so the whole band, with a shout, began to run straight for the hills, each one chock full of glee.

"They're just like rubber," Clowny said. "Look out. You'll bounce upon your head. Each time I take a step or two, I slip back even more. Let's all grab hold of hands, real tight, and climb and climb with all our might. If we all try to go alone, our muscles will be sore."

Then Carpy said, "What did I hear? There's someone else right close, I fear. It sounded just like voices just across the biggest hill. Let's climb up there so we can see. I'll take the lead. Just follow me. I'll bet before we're through with this, we're going to get a thrill."

And, was he right? You bet he was! A real thrill shortly came because we Copy cried, "Oh, look! I see a funny little face. It's peering round the hillside there. It's all jet black, with fuzzy hair." And, in a moment, Goofy Goos were all around the place.

The funny little men cried loud and charged upon the Tinies' crowd. Before the Tinies knew it, all the air was filled with white, Marshmallows flew both low and high and one hit Clowny in the eye. Of course it didn't hurt him, but he yelled, "We've got to fight."

With not a moment's time to lose, the Tinies fought the Goofy Goos by picking up Marshmallows that the Goofy Goos had thrown. To waste them seemed an awful shame, but back they went, with

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE (King Lollypop stops the fight in the next story.) Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.

BAND WILL GIVE GOOD PROGRAM THURSDAY NIGHT

The regular weekly band concert will be held Thursday night at the bandstand at the court house yard. The band has arranged a good program for tomorrow night and will play the following selections: March, "Sprinter's Parade," De Luca. Gavotte, "Intermezzo," De Luca. Characteristic, "Dawn of Love," Bendix. March, "The Spirit of Youth," Goldman. Medley, "Memories of Stephen Foster," arranged by G. E. Holmes. March, "Castle Hall," McNichols. "Star Banged Banner."

WEDDING SCENE ENLIVENED BY ANGRY MOTHER

(Continued from page 1.)

proved effective warning for the photographers who beat a hasty retreat.

The attack was viewed by the assembled guests as part of the merriment that followed the marriage ceremony and was greeted with cheers and applause.

Ceremony Beautiful. The ceremony itself was one of great beauty and solemnity. An altar had been erected on the wide lawn fronting the Stillman home and about it assembled several hundred guests, including the country people for miles around.

First in the wedding procession came Father Ephraim Lamy, who had known both bride and groom since childhood. He was accompanied by Fathers Normand and Deslites, all attired in their church robes.

The fifth regiment Royal Highlanders band of 30 pieces from Montreal broke into the strains of "Lohengrin" as Mrs. Stillman and Mrs. John Wilson, mother of the bride, walked down a lane of ribbons. Both girls wore Fifth Avenue creations.

The bride appeared sweetly charming in a gown of white chiffon. She wore a pearl and crystal ornament in her hair, and, as her only jewelry, wore a platinum chain, the gift of the bridegroom.

The wedding ceremony was that of the Roman Catholic church. Prayers in English were intoned by Father Normand.

OUT OUR WAY

WHEN GREEK MEETS GREEK

Hot Weather and Health

Choosing a Vacation to Do You Most Good—Get As Much Variety Into It As You Can.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN Editor-in-Chief of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

When men work too hard in heavy clothing in conditions where the temperature is high and the humidity also, they are likely to suffer unduly with the heat.

Since the external temperature is high, the loss of heat from the body by means of conduction and radiation stops; since the air is moist, evaporation from the surface of the body is hindered.

When the heat regulating mechanism breaks down, the temperature of the body rises. This stimulates the chemical changes going on in the body and still further increases the production of heat. Thus, the temperature continues to rise and the chemical changes continue to be hastened.

Some men do not perspire as easily as others so that their skin is hot and burning, and the failure of fluid to evaporate from the surface tends to stimulate still further their body chemistry.

If the blood vessels on the surface of the body are dilated the blood pressure is lowered and there is some interference with the circulation of the blood in the brain. All of these things produce a combination of factors known as heat-stroke.

When heat-stroke occurs, it is necessary to get the person into the shade as quickly as possible. When there the body may be cooled by rubbing it with ice or by exposing it to the movement of an electric fan. At the same time, it is necessary to see that the temperature of the body does not fall too rapidly. If it seems low, hot applications should be placed around the arms and feet to restore the circulation and to keep the patient warm.

The temperature usually remains more or less stationary and then falls rapidly. Competent medical advice should be secured and immediately, as it may be necessary to give drugs in order to stimulate the heart and the falling circulation.

In view of the fact that there is usually an accumulation of acid in the system in connection with heat-stroke, many physicians prescribe alkaline fluids and remedies to the victim of heat-stroke in order to counteract the effect of the acids.

Persons who have once suffered with heat-stroke seem to be unusually susceptible to attacks later in life. Such people should avoid over-heated rooms and exposure to the direct rays of the sun. They should take cool baths frequently, dress lightly and drink water freely. They should also avoid indulgence in alcoholic drinks and keep their heads as cool as possible. Clothing should be selected according to the occupation, and light enough to aid the radiation of the heat from the body.

When there the body may be then came "Bud" with his best man, Fowler McCormick of Chicago.

Then came Miss Belle Wilson, sister of the bride, followed by the bride on the arm of her brother, James Wilson, who gave her in marriage. Both girls wore Fifth Avenue creations.

The bride appeared sweetly charming in a gown of white chiffon. She wore a pearl and crystal ornament in her hair, and, as her only jewelry, wore a platinum chain, the gift of the bridegroom.

The wedding ceremony was that of the Roman Catholic church. Prayers in English were intoned by Father Normand.

The bride appeared sweetly charming in a gown of white chiffon. She wore a pearl and crystal ornament in her hair, and, as her only jewelry, wore a platinum chain, the gift of the bridegroom.

The wedding ceremony was that of the Roman Catholic church. Prayers in English were intoned by Father Normand.

The bride appeared sweetly charming in a gown of white chiffon. She wore a pearl and crystal ornament in her hair, and, as her only jewelry, wore a platinum chain, the gift of the bridegroom.

The wedding ceremony was that of the Roman Catholic church. Prayers in English were intoned by Father Normand.