

TENNIS QUEENS' OWN BEAUTY RACKET

Conspicuous for both beauty and ability among the invading women tennis players who will attempt to wrest Helen Wills' title from her at Forest Hills, Long Island, is Kea Bouman, the Netherlands champion. Just how pleasing to the eye is Kea's beaming countenance and how expert her form are evident in these pictures, taken just after her arrival in America. Then there's—

WARNING AGAINST DEVICE TO DODGE INHERITANCE TAX

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 13.—Word of caution against some devices to escape inheritance taxes and cost of probating estates was voiced by Harold E. Fraser, vice-president and trust officer of the Old National Bank and Union Trust company of Spokane, at the closing sessions of the Pacific coast regional conference of trust officials here today. Fraser said many persons had adopted the plan of transferring to a corporation all their assets, holding the capital stock themselves. This practice, he said, was likely to defeat its own ends.

"It is dangerous, in that in most cases probate is not avoided, and furthermore the rights of creditors may intervene, thus upsetting the management of the very corporation that is designed to carry on after the death of the creator of the idea."

"As against this plan, a trust created either by way of a living trust to operate during the life time of the person and to continue after his death, or by means of a testamentary trust set up in the will designed to operate only after death, would seem to be much more flexible and permit of more simple handling and management."

San Francisco was selected as next year's meeting place of the trust officials of the 11 western states included in the conference.

FILLING STATION BANDIT DRAWS 20 YEARS' TERM

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 13.—Declaring that he regarded an armed man who holds up another person to rob him "a wild animal that should be cared," Acting Presiding Judge Elwell late yesterday sentenced Steve Ragan to 20 years in the penitentiary. Ragan was accused of having held up a dozen filling stations in different parts of the city several weeks ago.

Arthur Rogers, wounded Sunday night by a pistol shot fired by a filling station attendant whom he was alleged to have attempted to hold up, died last night of his wounds.

EXPENSE BILL OF AMERICA EXCEEDS COOLIDGE LIMIT

RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 13.—An increase in government expenditures this year above first estimates was put up to President Coolidge today by Director Lord of the budget who came into the Black Hills last night with the tentative budget.

Various special items have contributed to swell the tentative estimate $125,000,000 above the limit set by the president last June for government expenditures in the coming year.

Whatever comes of these special appropriations which are before the president, Lord gave assurance that next year's budget would carry funds for the first year's work on the additional cruisers authorized by congress. A year ago the budget director and the president proposed to withhold money for starting work on three of the eight cruisers which had been authorized by congress, but congress overruled the administration. It is not considered likely that even if the president does approve the $125,000,000 in extra appropriations for next year that it will have a material effect on the prospective tax reduction. The treasury closed its book last fiscal year with a surplus of about $600,000,000 which, in the opinion of the president, leaves an ample margin for a tax slash.

CAPTURED RUM BOATS IN NEW YORK HARBOR YIELD RICH CARGOES

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The freighter Ansonia, formerly a Great Lakes steamer, escaped from two score of Staten Island police today only to run on a sand bar in the harbor and be captured with her cargo of 7,000 cases of liquor by a lone coast guardman.

After a wild dash from a deserted wharf, where the police captured 31 men with seven trucks and three automobiles, apparently about to unload the cargo, the steamer sliced in halves a barge and was about to make good her escape when she came to rest on the bar where she was captured.

Her capture brought the total of liquor seized in the harbor in 24 hours up to nearly a million dollars worth. The British trawler Sebastopol was seized yesterday with a cargo value at $300,000 and 17 men. Arrests on the Ansonia numbered 23, bringing the total for 24 hours up to 74.

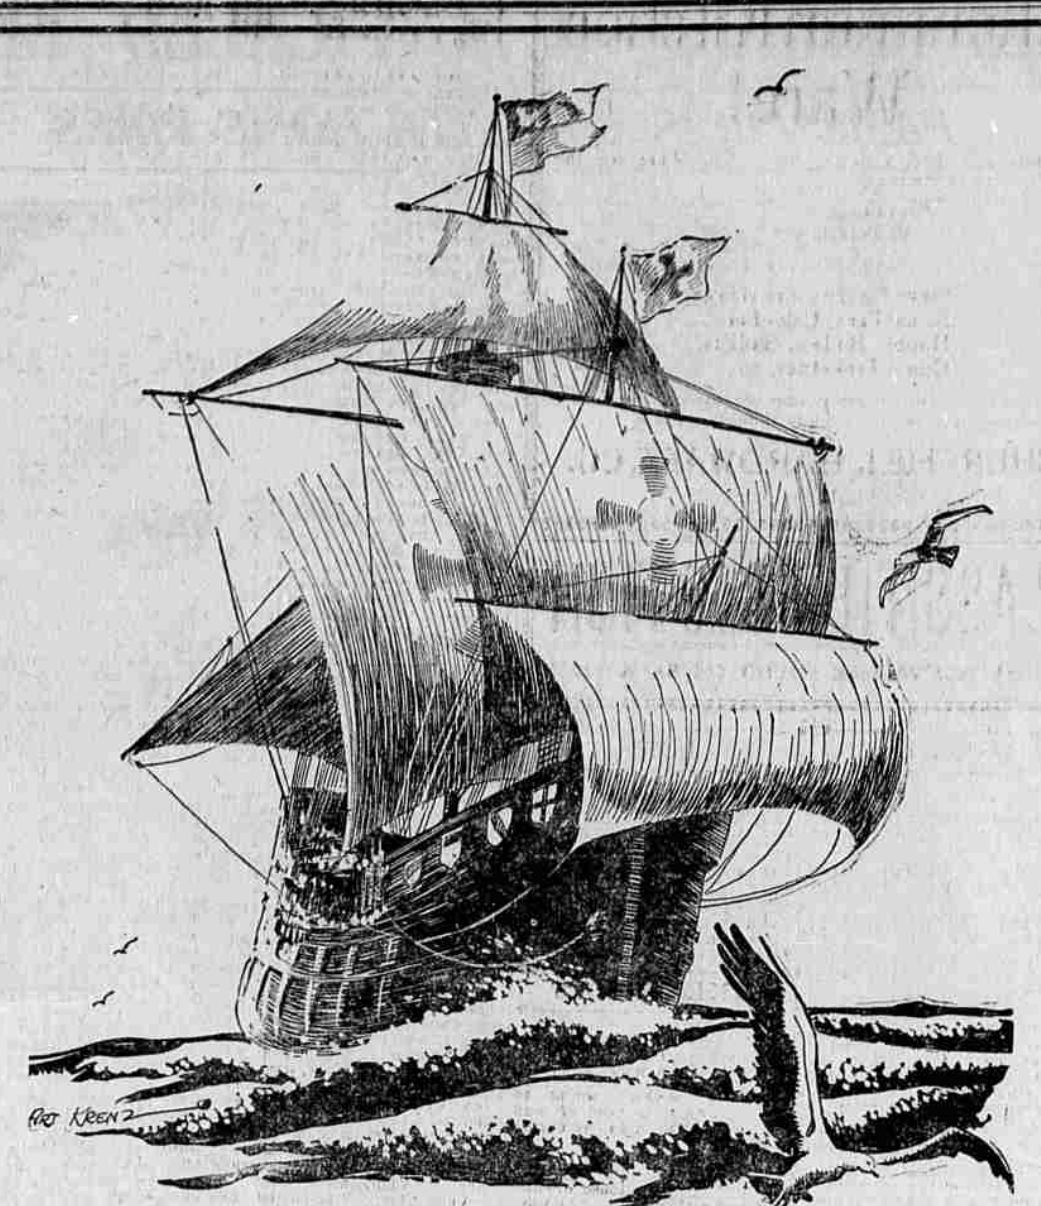

The 24 men arrested at the wharf were arraigned in magistrate's court on charges of trespassing, pleaded not guilty and were released on $100 bail each for examination Monday. The complaint was made by the owners of the wharf.

Counsel for the men said they had gone there with the understanding that the property had been leased for the landing of some machinery. He pointed out that no liquor was landed.

PLUMBERS' STRIKE IN EUGENE NOT BROKEN

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 12.—There is still no change in the strike of union plumbers here asking an increase from $8 to $9 a day. William Cooper, president of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, will meet with the Central Labor council here in the near future. It is reported today. The General Contractors' association of Eugene is opposed to any increase in wages for the building trades. This report follows a reported agreement whereby carpenters were to be increased to $8 a day. It is said a few contractors entered into this agreement but that it is not an official act of the association.

Around the World---to You

WHEN Ferdinand Magellan sailed from Seville four centuries ago, civilization had no word from him, no hint of his success or failure, until the few surviving members of his crew staggered into the court of Charles V of Spain three years later with the announcement that their mission had been accomplished.

They had crossed the Atlantic, coasted down along the shores of South America, fought their way through the tortuous southern straits and made their way to the Orient after 81 days on the Pacific. The dauntless leader and nearly all of his men met death, but the few who pushed on around Africa finally succeeded in adding an important chapter to the history of progress.

If Magellan sailed today you could follow his journey, step by step, through the great newspaper organizations that exist solely for the purpose of serving the news readers of the world. The telegraph encircles the world with a speed undreamed of by those adventurers who blazed the first ocean trails and now the fastest means of transportation are used to flash news and pictures from all parts of the world to the readers of the Roseburg News-Review.

The Associated Press is a news gathering agency represented in every part of the world by men and women in whom the greatest trust may be imposed. The Associated Press has proven time and again its reliability in the news field, and the leased wire maintained by the News-Review affords instant communication with all inhabited sections of the globe. No matter where news may break there is always an Associated Press representative ready to furnish a graphic account of that particular happening in an unbiased, uncolored form, giving readers of Associated Press papers the first news.

Complementing the Associated Press leased wire the News-Review provides for its readers the products of the world's largest and fastest news picture agency, the NEA Service. This organization has attained almost the ultimate in speed of sending pictures. The oceans have been spanned by radio and the continent by telegraph. The Telephoto system of electric transmission sends photographs with the speed of light. The radio-photo spans the two oceans with the same celerity. Only a few hours after the arrival of Lindbergh in Paris recently the pictures of his reception were published in the newspapers of the Pacific Coast.

Magellan's expedition took three years to go around the world, but nothing can dim the glory of that accomplishment—because he was FIRST.

NEA Service was first to blaze the trails of round-the-world picture gathering and for 34 years has spared no effort, no expense to maintain that record in every instance of big news events. These two great organizations, the Associated Press and NEA Service, are working to give you today's news today. No matter whether it is a hurricane in Cape Town or a revolution in Siberia, you may count on getting the news and seeing the pictures first in the
