ROSEBURG, OREGON, MONDAY, AUGUST 15, 1927.

APOLOGIZING FOR ENGLAND.

Without trying to belittle the abilities of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin of Great Britain, and with no intention on desire to throw cold water on his visit to Canada "to sell the Empire to the Dominion," it must be admitted that one reason Mr. Baldwin gives for Britain's desire to delay disarmament is somewhat thin and shoddy.

Speaking before 1000 members of the Canadian Club of Ottawa, the prime minister explained that "England is trying step by step to encourage disarmament, but insofar as we are successful in our efforts towards disarmament, we will for the time bring increased suffering to the business districts of England, Sheffield, the Tyne, and the Clyde."

He then went on to show that in Sheffield, the iron and steel industry has vast armor plate factories, that these mills have suffered heavily since the war, and that disarmament would now make these mills idle, throwing many people out of work, aggravating unemployment and industrial distress.

In justice to the British, it is of course admitted that unemployment in England is critical, and that any effort to bolster up industry is praiseworthy. What will strike American economists as queer is the theory that building battle-ships will relieve industrial depression.

Battleships are paid for by taxes. The people pay the taxes. The more battleships built, the higher the tax rate, and the higher the tax rate the greater the industrial depression. The thing is a vicious circle which gets nowhere. It is the old "make-work" fallacy which was born in the French revolution to provide labor for the poor, who were hired by the government to dig holes and then fill them up again. The profitlessness of this procedure was soon realized, and the "make-work" practice was soon given up. Mr. Baldwin now, apparently, wants to revive it.

And can Sheffield armor plate mills be put to no other use than making armor plate? The parable of turning swords into plowshares, it seems, would here apply, but in Sheffield rolling mills can do nothing but manufacture battleship armor plate, and if these shipyards of the Tyne and the Clyde can do nothing but build battleships, we despair of British industrial health.

A. T. LAWRENCE TO LEAVE SATURDAY FOR PASADENA

Loyalty unceasingly. His services were given in such that measure for any community enterprise and in his departure the city loses one of its most valuable citizens.

"There is no spot on earth I love so well as Roseburg, Douglas county, Oregon," Mr. Lawrence says, and it is with heavy heart that I bid her a fond farewell. It is a pretty hard thing to say good bye to the best bunch of fellows in the world. There is no spot on earth that I would rather live in than right here and I sincerely hope that I may lay aside enough to come back to Roseburg and retire to spend my remaining days in this city."

ASTORIA MAN TO BE CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESSMAN

Attorney James W. Mott, of Astoria, Oregon, representative to the state legislature from Clatsop county, was in Roseburg today where he visited with friends, leaving in the afternoon for Salem. Mr. Mott is a recognized candidate for congressman at the next primary election, opposing Congressman W. C. Hawley, both being republicans. He has been a member of the Oregon legislature since 1923 during which period he has been the author of a number of important measures, among them the repeal of the anti-trust bill, the Astoria fire relief bill carrying an appropriation of a half million dollars and the anti-trust wheel bill which was his latest accomplishment. Attorney Mott is well known throughout the district, his aspirer to represent in congress and has many friends who are giving him their support. He will make an active campaign for the nomination between now and the May primaries.
