FLASHES OF LIFE

(Associated Press—Local Wire)

BALMORAL, Scotland—George Windsor probably could get a job as a salesman if he needed one. At a charity fete there was a rush for three hours on his booth. He was quite adept at getting customers to take something else if he was out of what they asked for. But he seemed to need experience in making change. Mr. Windsor is better known as King George.

YORK, England—Lord Lonsdale, arctic explorer, is now wearing to the races a yellow tie, bordered with red, a white vest, a black tail coat—and a brown derby.

CALCUTTA—Sir Victor Sassoon has won a bet by wearing his hat to a meeting of the Indian parliament in violation of all traditions. His tall grey Ascot was set at a rakish angle. He took it off when a Moslem deputy protested. But he won a bet.

ATLANTIC CITY—Because she must "fulfill her duty to the country" as her mother expresses it, Miss Lois Delander—Miss America—has consented to make some sort of an appearance on the stage and in the movies. But it will be only during her reign as queen of beauty. She is intent upon a career as an illustrator.

NEW YORK—The Rev. Dr. Cortland Myers of Los Angeles has vigorous opinions about the modes of the day. Speaking at the First Baptist church he said: "Women of this age have something to answer for at the altar of God for the suggestivity of their scant clothing, which tends to damn the best in man."

JERSEY CITY—A beauty some times can have something quite different from a path of roses. Miss Bunice Geiser was "Miss Rockaway" last year for the Atlantic City pageant. She didn't have money enough for clothes so she went home. She was Miss Jersey City this year and stayed at home for the same reason. And in addition, so many fellows called her, she says, that she lost her job as a telephone operator.

PHILADELPHIA—Apparently the big fight in Chicago will not be so hot as some folks expected. Customs officials say that much of the $2,000,000 cargo seized here on the steamship Bulko was destined for consumption when Tunney and Dempsey mix.

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK—Painted on Reno Ponce's biplane, which he hopes to fly to Paris is the Latin equivalent of "It floats, but does not sink."

BUENOS AIRES—Chess players may have the pleasure of sitting at home, of knowing at once what two grand masters are doing and of figuring out their next

FEDERAL SEED CERTIFICATION TO BE STARTED SOON

BURLINGTON, N. J.—The Rev. William P. Young, blacksmith on week days and preaching on Sundays, has evidence that there's a gold mine in Elkton, Md., a Greensboro, N. C. young couple, he was approached by an elderly gentleman who was smoking a cigar and chewing tobacco at the same time. As Mr. Young explains it: "He displayed a handful of marriage license stubs—there must have been a hundred of them—and said with a braggadocio air, 'why, what do you think of that for a week's work?' He said he got an average of $10 a marriage."

NEW YORK—Poetry has been found in this country by Maurice Bokanowski, French minister of commerce. "In its magnificent architecture and its triumphs of engineering the poetry of America is being expressed," he says.

ATHOL, Mass.—Thanks to George W. Rickey, 93, the old town clock on the steeple is functioning with precision as of yore. He was away visiting and it went out of order. No expert in town could fix it. Right after arrival home he doffed his hat and coat and climbed the rickety belfry. Soon silvery notes were resumed.

ROME.—No presidential bee buzzes around Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York. "Your future home," remarked Ambassador Fletcher in pointing out a picture of the White House. "Oh, replied the mayor, "I'm doing very well where I am, thank, and I am smart enough to know it."

NEW YORK—The most efficient of four forms of sport for a golf course will be settled tomorrow at the Queens Valley club in the satisfaction of everybody except followers of the four sports. Lou Gehrig, pretender to the throne of baseball; Eddie Driggs, golfer; Paul W. Crouch, archer, and Fred C. Berger and Jack Schwinn, surf and fly casters, using their favorite implements will show which can go from first tie to 18th hole in the least number of strokes, shot, hits, or whatever you call them.

YONKERS, N. Y.—Not to be outdone by Chauncey M. Depew, who found recently that $100 he put in a savings bank had become $1,100 in 66 years, John E. Andrus, millionaire strap hanger, who rides to business in the subway, gives another illustration of thrift. He bought a share of sewing machine stock in 1861 and just "let it stay put." It has brought him $94,000 in dividends.

NEW YORK—Joseph Minkel probably will concede that it was worth it. In court for parking his auto in forbidden territory he explained that he saw another motorist who owed him $150, left his car, ran after the debtor and got the money. "Then you won't miss

FEDERAL SEED CERTIFICATION TO BE STARTED SOON

WASHINGTON—Federal seed certification, authenticating the origin and identity of field seeds in commerce, will be put into full operation within the next few months by the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

W. A. Wheeler, chief marketing specialist of the hay, food and seed division, and U. C. Elder, assistant chief, believe that from ten to fifteen million dollars' worth of farm seed, principally alfalfa and red clover, will be handled under government supervision during the first year of federal inspection. Nearly fifty independent dealers and farm cooperatives have applied for the service. Many are delaying their new advertising matter until their applications are passed upon, an action expected to be taken very shortly. "Seed inspection," Wheeler says, "will cost the dealer but a nominal sum, just sufficient to cover government expense in performing the service. As a result, verified seed probably will be advanced a few cents on the market, but we are assured the farmer will be glad to pay the small increase for the protection he will get in return. The seed business will be placed on a higher plane, farmers can buy with increased security, and crop losses from unsuitable seed will be reduced materially." Wheeler and Elder, leaders of ROCKVILLE, Conn.—A farmer taleman in the Ohio murder trial said he would not convict on circumstantial evidence. Defense counsel asked whether the farmer could be sure that a cow had made a cow's track in the mud even if he had not seen it made. "I wouldn't know which cow made it," answered the farmer.

NAIROBI, East Africa—Maunting hippopotamuses have become so obstreperous that the game department of Uganda has decided to exterminate them if possible. Several deaths have been caused by the overturning of canoes by the beasts. In one case a canoe bearing Melland Maruse, a game warden, and four natives, was overturned by a rising hippo, which then crushed the craft in its jaws. Three of the natives were drowned.

MURCIA, Spain—Anselmo Lorenzo, owner of a bull ring, made a dying request that his funeral be held in the ring. And so 21,000 bull fight fans stood while the body was borne twice around the ring. Then the regular fights were staged.

WASHINGTON—The homegrow in the capital of this prohibition country has been quite busy with drunkards. Official statistics are that 5,874 persons or 49.2 per cent of those in the district last year were convicted of intoxication.

the new project, were experienced seedmen before they entered government employ. Wheeler was an official of a South Dakota seed company. Elder was connected with a large seed house in Minneapolis. They evolved the "verified-origin" plan eleven years ago, and in the last two years have been instrumental in obtaining its official adoption, recommendation of which was made at seed-marketing conferences at Chicago in June and November of last year.

"It is of paramount importance," Elder says, "that the farmer be protected against misrepresentation of domestic seed, such as the substitution of Arizona alfalfa for Montana alfalfa and Texas alfalfa for Idaho alfalfa." Frequently financial losses have resulted from attempts, unknowingly, to grow alfalfa and red clover from seed produced in another section, where conditions are opposite. Heretofore there have been no practicable means to ascertain identity of seed, except from private records of the dealer. Under the "verified-origin" service, the identity of a given lot of seed sold by an authorized vendor of inspected seed may be traced back to the place where the seed was produced. Authorized seedmen will use "U. S. Verified-Origin" seed certificates on tags or labels, and the farmer, thus reliably informed, may purchase the seed he knows to be suited to his particular location.

Grain drills at Wharton Bros. HOUR SET FOR FIGHT

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney will start swapping punches at each other between 9:45 and 10 p. m. Chicago daylight savings time. Promoter Tex Rickard made this announcement today in response to a flood of inquiries as to the starting time of the world's heavyweight championship fight in Soldier's Field September 22.

RIKARD, however, reserved the fight to start the battle as early as 9 o'clock, if threatening weather is in prospect.
